Kelley: tighten loopholes allowing criminals freedom

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley today asked trial lawyers and judges for help in tightening loopholes that enable "career criminals" to get off with little or no punishment.

"Some form of reform or updating across the board, very soon, seems essential," he said. "The welfare of our society demands that there be prompt, impartial and resolute handling of career criminals by prosecutors and the courts."

Kelley said there is need for speedier trials, higher standards for plea bargaining, less influencing of jurors by lawyers while jurors are being selected and less disparity in sentences imposed in different jurisdictions.

In a speech prepared for the Dade County Bar Association, Kelley said he was "confident that any fair-minded lawyer will be willing to balance his client's interest...against interests of his community, his country."

Police are working to make communities safer but the criminal justice system, jammed as a result of rising crime rates, is like a boat "taking on more water than law enforcement can bail out," Kelley said.

In describing how plea bargaining sometimes works, Kelley said a career burglar's lawyer might confer with the prosecutor before the man is arraigned in a jurisdiction where both the prosecutor and the court are overburdened with cases. Kelley said the following could result:

"The prosecutor says he will dismiss 14 of the 15 counts against the burglar and tell the judge how gentlemanly the defendant has been, in return for a guilty plea to avoid trial.

"A bargain is struck. The burglar pleads guilty. The judge deals with him gently. Soon the burglar is free to ply his trade again."

Kelley said he also is concerned about misuse of the jury selection process by defense lawyers, who are supposed to question prospective jurors only about their qualifications to serve.

Kelley said some defense lawyers have even had social scientists and volunteers use scientific interviewing techniques to assemble a "sociolologic-al profile" of a community to help the lawyers in selecting jurors most likely to favor acquittals.

Quick, inexpensive

New cancer detection test is 87% effective

RICHMOND (UPI) — A breath test taken after digestion of a radioactive capsule has proved 87 per cent effective in determining various stages of cancer, according to researchers at the Medical College of Virginia.

The test, conducted with a capsule made of butter fat and the radioactive carbon-14, was developed by Dr. Giovanna Costa of the Health Sciences Division at MCV, and was scheduled for discussion today at the 11th International Cancer Congress in Florence, Italy.

While still in the experimental stage, the quick, inexpensive breath test has been performed on about 160 persons separated into four groups: those with cancer; those with diseases other than cancer; healthy individuals, and those with nondiagnosed disorders.

The patients were given the capsules, and 24 hours later a sample of their exhaled breath was analyzed for content of radioactive carbon dioxide.

Amounts of radioactive carbon above a certain threshhold seemed to indicate the presence of tumors in the body, according to test results.

Costa said he is somewhat uncertain why the test works. He said it has been observed that cancer reduces a tumor patient's stores of fat.

"But we don't know at the moment" whether tumors speed up the breakdown of fats, or whether they somehow short circuit the normal metabolic processes, Costa said.

The test on humans indicated that the amount of carbon-14 in the exhaled breath from cancer patients was greater several hours after the fat was ingested than in normal persons.

In patients known to have cancer, the tests registered a near 90 per cent accuracy, Costa said. He said positive test results occurred with patients afflicted by diseases other than cancer, including one case of high fever and another with an overactive thyroid.

Over-all, "87 per cent who had positive tests had tumors," Costa said, adding that the only other general test administered for cancer-detection has a 60 per cent accuracy level.

Future refinements of the breath test will be made to improve specificity and accuracy, Costa said.

7 children die, 30 hurt as train backs into bus

WHERE 7 YOUNGSTERS LOST THEIR LIVES

Police and rescue workers converge on a scene of a school bus-train wreck that killed seven children and injured another 30 this morning near Aragon, Ga. The train backed into the bus.

Engineer fails to hear shouts from workers

ARAGON, Ga. (UPI) — A train backed into a loaded school bus at a crossing in this small West Georgia town today, killing seven children and injuring at least 30.

The bus was taking students to Aragon Elementary School when the accident occurred about 8 a.m. The crossing was marked with a sign, but had no flashing lights.

Several of the children were reported trapped in the overturned bus for 30 to 45 minutes before they could be freed.

Don Tate, administrator of Rockmart-Aragon Hospital, said the seven dead included two girls and five boys between the ages of 6 and 12. They were not identified, pending notification of next of kin.

Bus driver Bill Kellett was also injured in the accident and reported in fair condition.

The train, a work train called in to clean up after a derailment, was backing up when it struck the bus broadside, turning it over several times before it came to a stop about 100 to 150 yards down the track.

"There were all these little kids lying around," said Joan Miller of Aragon who reached the scene a few minutes afterwards. "Some looked dead and they were covering them up. The bus looked like an accordian and some kids were lying under the bus. Others were crying and carrying on. One boy was crying and looking for two of his brothers."

She said some of the children were picked up by passing motorists.

Darrell Smith, who worked at a grocery store next to the tracks, said the bus had stopped before starting across the crossing. He said it started up again while the work train was moving toward it. He said train workers were screaming to the engineer "go back, go back" just before the bus was hit.

Almost three hours after the accident, a large crowd of parents had gathered at the Rockmart-Aragon Hospital here, trying to determine the fate of their children.

Special board election likely with 3rd filing

Any chance that the Mt. San Antonio College district might avert a special election in January by winding up with just one candidate for an existing vacancy on the board of trustees was all but killed today with the entry of a third aspirant.

The latest candidate is Lynn C. Storing, 19, a political science student at the college, who lives in La Puente.

He joins Charles Hall of Diamond Bar and Ron Boran of West Covina, who filed for the position earlier.

The post became vacated last August with the death of trustee Lance D. Smith. It runs through March, when the terms of three board members including Smith's expire.

The district had hoped to save the cost of the election, estimated at $55,000, by having just one candidate stay in the race. Then that one candidate could have been appointed to the post.

In fact, trustee William Temple had suggested at the board's last meeting Thursday that it would be a good idea "If we could get these two ((Hall and Boran) together." The implication was strong that Temple was hopeful one of the candidates would drop out.

Young Storing's entry into the race Tuesday appeared to make that conjecture moot today. Unless two of the three candidate drop, and unless no one else files candidacy papers before the Nov. 8 deadline, the special election will be held.

The MSAC district did get some good financial news today. The Board of Supervisors agreed to a request by Eldon E. Pearce, president of the college, to combine the election precincts three for one, instead of two for one, saving the district an estimated $30,000 in election costs.

The cost of the election had been estimated at $55,000 based on the three for one consolidation. But the supervisors last week had passed a policy decision that would consolidate precincts at two for one at all special elections.

The action was prompted by the forthcoming election in Los Angeles to replace former State Sen. John Harmer, who has been named lieutenant governor, according to Supervisor Peter F. Scharbarum.

The First District supervisor said that when Pearce's request was presented to the rest of the county board Tuesday, showing that the two for one consolidation would cost an additional $30,000 to $35,000, the supervisors made an exception in the case of MSAC and agreed to the three for one proposal.

2 demolition workers die as building falls

DENVER (UPI) — A man trapped for 30 minutes in the rubble of a collapsed building said there wasn't time to think about anything when he and three companions heard the building start to fall down around them.

"Nobody had time to yell," said Jack Brooks, 45, a radio and television repairman who said he was at the building site to talk to one of the workmen. "We heard the crack and there it was."

Brooks and Martin Midgyett, 45, were treated and released at Denver General Hospital.

The body of a third man was found quickly by firemen and the body of the fourth victim wasn't recovered until Tuesday night, five hours after the accident.

Niether victim was identified.

The abandoned two-story building was being demolished by hand as part of an urban renewal project north of downtown Denver. Few other buildings were on the block, which witnesses said shook as the building collapsed.

The structure, built during Denver's boom days at the turn of the century, had housed a neighborhood grocery store before it was condemned by the city.

Brooks said he instinctively moved to the side of the wall for possible protection. He was buried and trapped by beams.

"It was just like being in a vice," he said.

Brooks said all he could think about was "Lord, get me out of here."

He said he was conscious throughout and was "hooting and hollering" for help.

Midgyett said he was near an opening and was able to leap free. He said he was hit on the head by a falling brick and blacked out for a moment but then ran to a nearby office for help.

Firemen arrived and worked with saws and bare hands to get Brooks out. Fireman Richard Roach received a leg injury when a wall toppled while he was looking for victims.

Butz says beef prices will remain same, but pork, poultry may rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz predicted today that supermarket beef prices will remain about the same until at least early 1975, but that pork and poultry prices may increase.

Butz also said that the nation's cattlemen "are in real trouble" because beef prices have declined so sharply sinc the first of the year.

"The price of fed beef has dropped $20 a hundredweight the last 10 months in this country," Butz said. "There's been nothing like that showing up at the retail counters."

He admitted that 'margins are wide, but they're wide partly because of increased cost of transporation, increased labor costs, and other restrictions in the distribution process."

The issue of the widening difference between what farmers get for cattle and what meat costs the public was the subject of a congressional hearing Tuesday.

Spokesman for the packing houses and the meat cutters said they were not to blame for the "spread".

Butz, who was interviewed on the NBC Today Show, said that consumers can look for "fairly level meat prices the rest of year. There may be some decline in meat prices as slaughter picks up."

Kuwait oil blast, blaze fatal to 9

KUWAIT (UPI) — An assembling center at the Kuwait Oil Company exploded into flames during the night and scores of employes were killed or wounded, the Kuwait ministry of finance and oil said today.

Details of the blast were not immediately known, but officials said at least nine persons were killed and a number of others injured.

The explosion rocked an assembling center at the company in the Rawdatein area, 25 miles northwest of Kuwait city.

Japan worried over President's visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American officials said today that if demonstrations against President Ford's planned visit to Japan next month continue and become more bitter, it may be necessary to reconsider making the trip.

They emphasize there are no indications so far that the demonstrations, led by Japanese Communist and Socialist Party organizers, will become so violent as to warrant canceling the scheduled visit.

U.S. civilian payroll slashed in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States, citing congressional cuts in military aid, has fired more than three-quarters of the American technicians helping to keep South Vietnam's warplanes in the air.

A U.S. spokesman said today the Pentagon has dismissed 1,272 of the 1,548 American civilians working with Saigon's air force. He said 879 South Vietnamese technicians were also removed from U.S. payrolls.

The spokesman said the decision, taken "reluctantly" because of a 50 per cent cut in military aid to South Vietnam, is expected to save the United States about $19 million next year.

A homicide case has a happy ending

For a short time Tuesday, police believed they had found the remains of a small child in a drainage pipe along the Pomona Freeway near Vineyard Avenue, Ontario.

They snapped pictures, took measurements and even assigned a case investigation number.

But when one officer climbed inside the drainage pipe for a close view, he discovered the "skeleton" was only a small rubber doll that had apparently been thrown from a passing vehicle.

State highway workers had spotted what they believed to be the skeleton of a small child while working Tuesday morning in the freeway's center divider.

They called the highway patrol, with Officer Tom Fitch responding. He agreed the "find" resembled a human skeleton and in turn notified Ontario police.

Six police cars arrived at the scene. But after the skeleton proved to be only a doll, all left the scene, "pronto," said officers.

May be lifetime sentence

Man gets prison term in slaying of valley farmer

Karate master James Miltose, 57, drew what the sentencing judge speculated is a lifetime prison term Wednesday in the slaying March 19 of wealthy San Dimas strawberry grower Frank Naminatsu, 65.

Mitose appeared before Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Leslie W. Light for sentencing on conviction of murder, conspiracy, attempted murder, solicitation to commit murder and grand theft.

Light sentenced Mitose to life in prison for murder and ordered that the ssntences for the other offenses be served concurrently. Although technically Mitose will be eligible for parole in seven years, the other convictions will add years to the time he must serve, the judge said, and he added, "this undoubtedly means he will spend the remainder of his life in prison."

Last month the same jury which ruled Mitose guilty of murder declined to find the so-called "special circumstances" in the slaying necessary for the death penalty under the new capital punishment law.

The prosecution maintained during the lengthy trial that Mitose and his wife, Dorothy, 62, conspired with Mitose's karate pupil, Terry Lee, 27, to kill Naminatsu and his wife, Toshiko, 61, because they planned to go to police about $100,000 the Mitoses obtained from them for a phony medical cure.

Lee was the one who beat Naminatsu to death, authorities said, and who tried to kill Mrs. Naminatsu, but she survived. Lee pleaded guilty in August to second-degree murder and is scheduled for sentencing Nov. 8. He testified for the prosecution.

Mrs. Mitose was found guilty of extortion and grand theft and Judge Light ordered her to the California Institution for Women at Chino for a 90-day period of psychological testing before sentencing. The Mitoses' 19-year-old son, Alvin, also was convicted of extortion and grand theft and is to be sentenced Nov. 19, after examination by two psychiatrists.

Arraignments postponed as attorney seeks dismissal of case against McVittie, Lara

The arraignments for William McVittie, the Democratic candidate in the 65th Assembly District, and Ruben Lara, coordinator of a McVittie registration drive, have been postponed until a motion for dismissal of the charges alleging election code violations is heard Friday.

The arraignments were set for Tuesday, but Tom Hudson, their attorney, appeared before Judge David Merriam in the West Valley Municipal Court to ask for a dismissal hearing prior to their entry of plea to the charges.

McVittie was arrested last Friday by sheriff's deputies on a complaint filed by the West Valley Deputy District Attorney's Office alleging six counts of misdemeanor violations of the state election code.

These charges center around an alleged $1,000 contribution from a Chino contractor, purportedly used to fund McVittie's registration drive campaign but unreported in the candidate's campaign financial statements.

Lara was also arrested and charged with violating three state election code misdemeanor statutes.

Hudson asked the court to hear a motion for dismissal before the defendants entered their plea to the charges. There was no objection to the hearing by Deputy Dist. Atty. Mary Fuller.

Judge Merriam agreed that a hearing on the motion would be held Friday morning in the West Valley Municipal Court.

The motion for dismissal will be heard just prior to another hearing appealing Judge Merriam's dismissal of earlier charges that McVittie and Lara made unlawful payment to deputy registrars.

Hudson Tuesday said he had yet to complete the information he intended to file with the court that he claims would lead to a dismissal of the new charges against his clients. He told Judge Merriam he would present the information in writing by today.

According to the sheriff's department, $1,000 was paid to the McVittie campaign by Chino contractor Noel J. Toberlin, a Republican and a client of McVittie's, to finance the 35th Congressional voter registration drive.

The sheriff's department said Tomberlin's contribution was verified by a search of the bank records and an interview with the Chino contractor. A transcript of Tomberlin's interview showed that Tomberlin admitted making the $1,000 contribution because of his personal friendship with McVittie.

Human behavior expert to speak to exec group

Dr. Edward Stainbrook, chairman of the Department of Human Behavior at the USC School of Medicine, will be the guest speaker Thursday at the installation meeting of the Pomona Municipal Management Club at the Centro Basco French Restaurant in Chino.

Dr. Stainbrook's topic at the 7:30 p.m. meeting will be "Psychological Competence of the Modern Manager."

New officers to be installed at the meeting will be Joe Cenoz, president, succeeding John Fowlkes; Ray Bragg, first vice president; Jim Maring, second vice president; Jim Schmid, secretary; Roberta Carrington, treasurer; Brad Simons, director at large; and John Fowlkes, past president.

Concrete hurled at school bus; 2 girls injured

Two teen-age girls were injured Tuesday afternoon when they were struck with pieces of concrete thrown through the windows of the school bus they were in in Pomona.

The victims, Debbie Vance, 518 Platina Drive, Diamond Bar, and Cindy Craig, 506 Navajo Springs Rd, Diamond Bar, were taken to their family doctors for treatment. Debbie was cut near one eye and Cindy was hit on one arm.

Bus driver JoAnn Senigal, 33, Pomona, said she was driving a Community Charter Enterprises bus at Ganesha Boulevard and Holt Avenue when the chunks were thrown by four teen-age boys shortly after 3 p.m.

Two hitchhikers robbery victims

Two hitchhikers from Arizona told Ontario police Tuesday they were picked up by two men on the San Bernardino Freeway at Euclid Avenue and driven to the Union 76 Truck Stop at Milliken Avenue where they were robbed of $2.75 at knifepoint.

The hitchhikers, Michael Robinson, 17, and Marc Wessels, 18, both of Phoenix, told officers that the two men in the car pulled off the freeway at Milliken Avenue and at knifepoint told them, "Let's have a couple of bucks for gas, guys."

The hitchhikers told police both men were Caucasians, one about 30, and other about 25. One of the men was wearing a sailor hat.

Brown, Flournoy stay on attack

Brown mutes the issues --Flournoy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican Houston I. Flournoy says Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. has deliberately "muted" issues in their contest for governor.

The result, Flournoy said Tuesday, is that "the overriding emotional issue just isn't there" that would polarize voters in the final 13 days of their gubernatorial campaign.

In the primary, Flournoy said, Brown billed himself as the most liberal of the Democratic candidates, but in the general election Brown "has muted the issues" by taking more conservative stands particularly on taxes.

Asked if he planned any surprise changes in his political strategy, Flournoy replied: "We don't have a great bombshell lurking in the woodwork."

Flournoy strolled through a Watts health care center, shook hands with senior citizens playing canasta in Burbank and spoke to a group at a Jewish synagogue Tuesday.

At the Watts Community Health Foundation, Flournoy discussed community problems with Clyde Oden, the foundation's associate director.

Oden asked the candidate if he would continue what he termed Gov. Ronald Reagan's attempt of being "very hostile to the poor and disadvantaged." Oden complained that Reagan classed "people on welfare as cheats or something less than human."

Flournoy replied, "I certainly don't consider myself hostile to the poor."

He said that the sometimes strong criticism of welfare fraud by Reagan "tended to spill over" and broadly castigate welfare recipients in general.

"I don't have an antagonistic view toward those who need welfare," the 45-year-old state controller said.

At the synagogue, one man questioned whether Brown's bachelorhood made him unqualified to become governor when he asked Flournoy: "If a man hasn't got the courage to run a home which society is based on ... then how can he run a state of any size?"

Flournoy replied a bachelor candidate is no less qualified to be governor than a married candidate.

Flournoy indentured to past--Brown

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Edmund G. Brown Jr., Democratic candidate for governor told a partisan crowd Tuesday night that his Republicen opponent Houston I. Flournoy is "indentured to the past and the mistakes of Reaganism.

Brown, appearing at a $12.50 a plate dinner in his honor, continued his attack on the Republican philosophy, which he said has caused higher taxation and crime.

"When we loo at this election I think it is a clear choice," said Brown. "On one hand you have someone indentured to the past, committed to repeating the mistakes of the present and rationalizing errors of Reaganism."

He said the other choice is to give the people a "Democratic agenda in the Democratic philosophy.

"We can do that with early childhood education, bilingual education and with career education that teaches kids for jobs that exist now and not those which went out about 10 years ago," Brown said.

Speaking to 1,300 persons including entertainers such as Lorne Greene, Wayne Rogers, Kathleen Nolan and Jack Klugman — Brown said speeches given by Gov. Ronald Reagan eight years ago condemning high taxes and crime could be "recycled" again.

"Let's get California going again," said Brown. "It is time to kick those rascals out."

Tuesday, Brown campaigned in San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles, where he continued his attack on President Ford's proposed 5 per cent tax surcharge as another Republican attempt to "victimize" the majority and "favor the few."

Drawing a loud applause from 400 Kaiser Industry employes in Oakland, Brown said, "In a debate in Los Angeles Flournoy accused me and said if your name was Edmund G. Green, Jr., you wouldn't be running for governor.

"When my term turn came, I said, 'Well Flournoy, if Ed Reinecke hadn't been indicted you wouldn't be running for governor either," Brown explained.

Reinecke, who resigned last month as lieutenant governor shortly before he was sentenced on one count of perjury, was at one time the leading Republican contender for governor.

Police and firemen rescue 3 youths from flood channel

Three Montclair youths were plucked out of the San Antonio Flood Control Channel by Montclair police and firemen about 5 p.m. Tuesday, 1½ miles from where they fell into the rushing water at San Jose Street.

The three youths were seen flailing in the water by Montclair police officers at the Kingsley Street bridge. The officers immediately called firemen to the scene.

A few minutes later the youths, identified as Charles Meador, his brother James of 4220 Evart St., and David R. Stevens of 10391 Lehigh Ave., Montclair, were lifted out of the channel at Holt Boulevard.

The youths soaking wet but otherwise uninjured, were transported to the Montclair Police station where they were turned over to their parents.

The fire and police departments in the last year have reported numerous youths and adults either walking or falling into the channel that is carrying water to the Orange County area.

Woman shot in gunplay with deputies said satisfactory

An Ontario woman, wounded by La Verne police early Monday afternoon after reportedly pulling a pistol on officers after her car was stopped, was reported in satisfactory condition today in the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center.

Constance Kaufman, 38, was shot through one shoulder after pointing a .25-caliber automatic at officers Paul Allen and John Ortega after Ortega stopped her, investigators said. They said the automatic misfired when she pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Kaufman was wounded by Allen, who arrived as Ortega's backup after the traffic stop was made.

The case has been turned over to the sheriff's department, La Verne police said, because the incident occurred in San Dimas. Mrs. Kaufman was being held in the jail ward on suspicion of assault on a police officer and drug charges resulting from outstanding warrants. No formal charges had been filed against her today, however.

School program coordinator named

Kenneth A. Noonan was named coordinator of secondary education programs in Pomona schools Tuesday, succeeding Dr. Gene G. Brophy who resigned Sept. 30.

In his new position, Noonan will supervise vocational programs in homemaking, business education, industrial arts and career education, write new programs for submission to the state, manage driver training and physical fitness programs, and supervise secondary summer school and secondary home school students.

Board action naming Noonan to the position was unanimous. He previously had served as project supervisor-counselor of the district's federally funded bilingual-bicultural program through which some 1,500 children receive classroom instruction in Spanish.

Noonan will bepaid $23,045 a year plus a $50 a month mileage allowance in his new position.

He joined the district in 1971 as a teacher at Simons Junior High School. A year later he was selected to head the bilingual-bicultural program. Before coming to Pomona he taught in Covina and Montebello.

Noonan earned an A.A. degree in Shawnee, Okla., a B.A. degree at Cal State Los Angeles and an M.A. degree at Whittier College. He has completed additional graduate work at UCLA and Claremont Graduate School. He holds Standard Secondary Life and Standard Supervision credentials.

Noona, 34, is married and has one child.

Man found dead in his home

A Pomona man was found dead on the floor of his home at 1169 E. Lexington Ave., Wednesday after neighbors told police they hadn't seen him for two days.

Officers found Russell Everett McGuire, 58, lying in a hallway. He had been dead for several hours.

Police reported that McGuire, a heart patient who had undergone open-heart surgery two years ago, was despondent over his health and marital problems. They said they found an empty prescription drug bottle on a table with a note concerning the disposition of McGuire's possessions.

But oil and gas industries in great financial shape

Inflation's bite stings consumer, business

Inflation cut deeply into the pocketbooks of consumers and certain industries last month but the oil and gas industry showed signs of solid financial health, according to separate reports.

There was little to encourage consumers in the most recent government report on prices.

The Labor Department Tuesday said consumers paid record prices for food, clothing and shelter in September, when the Consumer Price Index rose 1.2 per cent, driving prices 12.1 per cent higher than last year —the highest annual gain in 27 years.

In an indication that the auto industry has not snapped out of its year-long sales slump, Chryser Corp. said it lost $8 million during the last quarter due to declining new car sales. The automaker blamed inflation, tight money and customer fears of a recession.

In California, a major automobile market, the state said new car sales have plunged 16.9 per cent.

And cattlemen in Oklahoma City told Ford, during a campaign stop, that ranchers are not making any money off higher supermarket prices for beef.

They said the nation's livestock industry is on the "verge of economic collapse" and consumers will be paying even more for cheaper cuts of Argentina meat unless imports are drastically reduced.

The oil industry, however, showed signs of continued financial well-being, with four major companies reporting record third quarter profits.

Shell Oil said in Houston its profits soared 158 per cent during the period, to $216 million.

Standard of Indiana said profits were up 100 per cent to $296.5 million. Gulf Oil's earnings rose 31 per cent to $275 million and Exxon, the world's largest oil company, gained 25.6 per cent to $800 million.

At the same time, the Labor Department said gasoline prices were one of the few items to fall in price in September —the average price of a gallon of regular dropping .07 per cent to 55 cents.

One of the nation's largest natural gas companies, Northern Natural Gas of Omaha, Neb., said its profits were up 19 per cent fo rthe first nine months of the year.

In other economic developments:

—John C. Sawhill, federal energy administrator, said the Ford administration favors removing federal ceilings on the price of gas at the wellhead. Consumers will have to pay higher prices or face shortages.

—The Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods fell 6.4 per cent in September, the sharpest monthly decline in six years and further indication of a sluggish economy.

—Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., told a Brigham Young University audience in Provo, Utah, the "crunch is on" and Americans will have to "slim down, tighten up, conserve and save."

—Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., the second ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said in Portland, Ore., "the country is in trouble, more trouble than most people are willing to admit." He called for higher taxes on high income individuals and corporations.

Nixon reported 'at point of emotional collapse'

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — A source at former President Nixon's San Clemente home reports that Nixon is "at the point of emotional collapse" and may break down if called upon to testify in the Watergate trial, according to columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson told a news conference Tuesday that Nixon's emotional condition was more of a concern to his friends than his bout with phlebitis.

Anderson said he still has a "reliable source" at San Clemente, Nixon's California home.

"He was an extremely reliable source in the past," Anderson said. "He says Richard Nixon is at the point of emotional collapse. His friends are resisting putting him on the witness stand (at the Watergate coverup trial) not because of his phlebitis but because of his emotional condition."

Anderson said his source told him that Nixon, "if required to face cross examination on the subject of Watergate, a subject which obsesses him, a subject on which he's become irrational, might very well do a Queeg on the witness stand and break down."

The columnist referred to the fictional character Captain Queeg in "The Caine Mutiny," who broke down under crossexamination in the mutiny trial.

Anderson was in Evansville for an Evansville Press Club gridiron dinner.

Ford's advice is 'cruel,' says Muskie speaking for Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The economic solutions proposed by President Ford hurt the average fellow, exempt the rich, invite recession, and weaken the nation —yet do little against inflation, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says.

Muskie responded for Democrats to Ford's televised speech from Kansas City last week. Ford asked Americans to save, sacrifice and economize.

Only NBC carried Muskie's speech. A spokesman said Senate Democrats are irked because CBS and ABC refused to carry the response. The networks contend that Ford's speech was not controversial enough to invoke television's fairness doctrine.

The networks had carried Ford's speech reluctantly, and only after the White House asked them to.

"The President's speech does not reflect the seriousness of our economic situation," Muskie complained.

He added:

"My concern is that it aims entirely at slowing inflation, which is part of the problem, but denies the threat of a deep recession, which is more and more real to millions of American families; that it will put this country through the wringer unnecessarily; and that the final result will be a weaker nation and not much progress on inflation."

"Admonitions to 'balance your family budget' when the family paycheck will not cover bare necessities beg the question of what we must do," he said. "And to families which are really squeezed, it is cruel advice."

Muskie proposed heavier taxes on large inheritances and a bigger minimum tax on the wealthy instead of the 5 per cent income tax surcharge Ford proposed.

He said Ford ought to engage in "hard bargaining" to convince corporations and unions to limit their appetites. He proposed a temporary cut in payroll taxes and tax reform.

And, as last resorts, he said the country should ration gasoline and return to wageprice controls.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, in a similar television address last week, replying to Ford's appearance before a joint session of Congress, advocated rationing and controls at once. Muskie disagreed.

"The depressing realities about the President's economic message," Muskie said, are that "it strikes hardest against the average American family. It exempts those who already have most. It does little for those who have least."

He said it was apparent "that President Nixon's men of narrow vision are still in the White House."

When Republicans took over the White House in 1969, Muskie said, inflation was 4 per cent, today it is 12 per cent; unemployment was 3.5 per cent, today is 5.8 per cent; the prime interest rate was 7 per cent, and today is 11 ½ per cent.

"We've had two freezes and four phases, two recessions and two devaluations," said Muskie. "We've had tight money and runaway prices and unemployment."

Dean: took $15,000, helped hush up Ellsberg break-in WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Dean III testified today that he took more than $15,000 in left-over campaign funds from the White House just before he was fired 18 months ago and the money is still in a suburban bank, untouched and drawing no interest.

Weathering a second day of cross-examination at the Watergate cover-up trial, Dean said he took the funds from the office safe in April, 1973, and handed them to his lawyers during his final days as White House counsel.

Dean, who also told about the money in testimony before the Senate Watergate committee, admitted publicly for the first time Tuesday that he helped to hush up the Ellsberg break-in by withholding and destroying potential evidence.

The money —including his personal check for $4,850 to cover cash he borrowed to finace his honeymoon —was deposited in an escrow account in a Rockville, Md., bank jointly held by Dean and his attorney.

"What happened to it?" asked John J. Wilson, the chief lawyer for cover-up defendant H.R. Haldeman.

"It's still in escrow as far as I know," Dean replied.

He said the account collected no interest and that no payments had been made from it.

Questioned by Wilson, Dean described how in late June, 1972, White House aide Gordon Strachan came to him and asked him to hold $15,200 in cash left over from a political advertising account. Strachan is also under indictment for the Watergate cover-up but will be tried separately from the current five defendants.

The money, Dean said, was part of a $350,000 special fund drawn from then President Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign kept in the White House under the auspices of Haldeman.

Dean said he put the money in his safe and in October, the day before his wedding, he took out $4,850. He said he put in his personal check to cover the withdrawal, but admitted he did not have enough money in his checking account to cover it at that time.

The following April, he said, he took out the remaining $10,350 in cash and wrote a substitute personal check for $4,850 and gave the money to his lawyers to set up the escrow account.

"Didn't it weigh on your conscience at all that you had money that didn't belong to you?" Wilson asked.

"I was prepared to account for it any time I was asked to account for it," Dean said.

Denver fireman Richard Roach, left, is covered in rubble up to his waist after a wall of an old building collapsed while firemen were searching for victims after the ceiling of the building fell in on a demolition crew. Roach received leg injuries. Two died in the collapse.

Greek dictator exiled

ATHENS (UPI) — Former dictator George Papadopoulos and four of his closest associates in the ousted military junta were arrested and exiled to a tiny island in the Aegean Sea today for conspiring against Greece's three-month-old civilian regime.

Former military police chief Brig. Dimitrios Ioannides, included among those to be deported, escaped arrest and was being sought by police.

A government announcement said Papadopoulos, former deputy Premier Stylianos Pattakos, Nickolaos Makarezos, Ioannis Ladas, and Michael Roufogalis, former commander of the State Intelligence Service (KYP), were rounded up by police this morning and deported.

Police sources said the five men were brought to the port of Piraeus naval command, where they were transferred to the Greek navy missile boat Nausithoi which sailed for the island of Kea, 40 miles to the south of Pireau.

The government made no mention of Mrs. Despina Papadopoulos, second wife of the former dictator, who until now was confined with him in their seaside villa. Mrs. Papadopoulos was accused of defrauding the state by drawing pay from the State Intelligence Service, where she used to work, long after she had retired to become Greece's first lady.

Last month she paid back $24,650 salary she had received unlawfully.

According to Greek tradition, deportees are allowed to live with their families at their place of deportation, provided they find proper housing.

The deportation came after the one-time military strongman and scores of his supporters were charged with mass murder in crushing a student rebellion last year.

Government sources said the five men who led the 1967 coup that toppled a civilian government and brought seven years of iron-fisted military rule were deported to the tiny island of Kea.

Demos critical of Ford campaigning--reminiscent of Nixon-Agnew

By United Press International

Prominent Democrats today criticized President Ford for saying election of extremists in their party could endanger world peace. Party Chairman Robert S. Strauss called it "reminiscent of Nixon-Agnew" tactics.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., today accused Ford of using "scare tactics" and "phony issues" in charging that Democratic gains in the November elections could be a threat to peace. He said the voters would reject Ford's words.

"I am disappointed and shocked," said Tunney. "The record clearly shows the Democratic party's dedication to peace and its constructive bipartisan efforts to achieve it."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Ford's wording during campaign trips to Oklahoma and Ohio Tuesday was unfortunate and said the President wants Congress "under his executive thumb."

"The congressional record will show that some Southern Democrats vote with President Ford a large majority of the time and some Republicans vote against him much of the time," Symington said.

Strauss said Tuesday Ford's campaigning was "calculated to divide this country."

Strauss called on Ford to retract the statement he made while campaigning in Oklahoma City Tuesday that election of "extremists in the Democratic party" to Congress would bring about economic chaos and jeopardize world peace.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, accused Ford of conjuring up "horror stories" in a desperate attempt to find campaign material.

Strauss, who was in South Bend, Ind., said Tuesday night that Ford's "rhetoric is reminicent of the Nixon-Agnew campaign of 1970, when they appealed to the baser instincts of the American public and were soundly rejected.

"It is difficult for me to believe that President Ford actually believes the words that he uttered and I would hope that he would assure all Americans, not just Democrats, but Republicans and independents as well, that he is retracting the dangerous statement which he issued. It would be meaningful not just for the campaign but also for the nation."

Asked if Ford's statement was an indication that the Republicans were going to heat up the congressional campaign, Strauss replied, "I don't know what they're going to do."

"I know one thing," he added. "This indicates the President of the United States is using the kind of rhetoric that's calculated to divide this country ... calculated bitterness and rancor and divisiveness...

"It's indicative that this honeymooon period the President had asked for is fast coming to an end and frankly it's something I resent and I think most Americans will. I know that most members of Congress will (resent) and most candiates will. It isn't a nice statement and it isn't good for the American public."

In Kansas City, Muskie described Ford's statements as "ridiculous," and "irresponsible."

"It seems to me he's desperate for campaign material so he conjures up these horror stores," Muskie told a news conference.

The senator noted that in the last two years of Eisenhower's administration, when Democrats made up nearly two thirds of both houses, only two of 44 presidential vetoes were overridden by Congress.

"We don't have monolithic Democrats or monolithic Republicans," Muskie said.

People in today's news

She faints again

PARIS (UPI) — Margaret Sinclair Trudeau, wife of Canadian Prime Minister Elliott Trudeau, fainted briefly Tuesday and fell down while visiting an exhibit of impressionist paintings in the Grand Palais museum.

Mrs. Trudeau, who recently underwent 12 days of psychiatric treatment for "severe emotional stress," recovered promptly and continued the tour.

She and the prime minister are making an official visit to France.

Mrs. Trudeau, 25, has fainted twice before in public. Both times she turned out to be pregnant.

$50,000 payoff

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Thomas Harris, author of the best-selling book "I'm OK, You're OK" has paid $50,000 to a 34-year-old woman who accused him of keeping her as a mistress under the influence of drugs and liquor, her attorney said.

Patricia Ann Crocco said in her suit she became a patient of Harris, a psychiatrist, in 1965 for treatment of "emotional, physical and mental disorders," and subsequently divorced her husband on Harris' advice.

She said Harris told her they would marry someday, and kept her under his influence with drugs and alcohol. She said she was later dismissed from her job.

Harris could not be reached for comment. His attorney, Kenneth Donelson, declined to discuss the settlement, but he said Harris had filed an answer to the suit "denying 99 per cent of her charges."

In his answer Harris contended he had been threatened with ruin if he did not meet the woman's demands for companionship and financial security.

Benny feeling good

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jack Benny is "up and around and joking with the nurses" and may go home within two days, says a spokesman at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where Benny has been hospitalized since Sunday.

"He feels very good. There's nothing wrong with him as far as can be determined at the moment," the spokesman said.

Benny, 80, was hospitalized after falling ill at a charity benefit appearance in Dallas, where it was first thought — wrongly, doctors say —that he suffered a stroke.

Rooney's wife files

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI — Mickey Rooney's seventh wife, Carolyn, has filed for divorce.

Mrs. Rooney, 31, a former press agent, asked in the suit filed Tuesday for custody of their two children, periodic alimony, support money for the children, attorney's fees and a determination of who owns what.

The Rooneys were wed in Las Vegas in 1969. The suit, filed under Florida's "no-fault" divorce law, said only that the marriage was irretrievably broken.

The Rooneys and their children James, 9, and Jonell, 4, have lived in Fort Lauderdale for several years.

Carradine sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI — A woman filed a $1.1 million civil suit Tuesday against television star David Carradine, charging he "negligently and carelessly lost control of his senses" through drugs or drink and assaulted her.

The naked, bleeding Carradine, star of the "Kung Fu" show, leaped from his car, hit her, tried to tear off her clothes and called her a "witch," Anrick Marie Kilty said in her suit filed in Superior Court.

Miss Kilty's suit said Carradine had already promised to pay her $100,000, but she was foregoing it by demanding the higher sum, contending the attack left her bruised and emotionally upset.

Accord reached in airline strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following 21 consecutive hours of bargaining, negotiators for striking machinists and National Airlines have agreed on terms of a back-to-work agreement that may end a 101-day walkout, government officials said today.

The pact, which comes two days after the sides reached tentative agreement on a new contract, affects more than 5,500 employes of the Miami-based airline, including 1,600 members of the International Association of Machinists, AFL-CIO, and 600 pilots. The old contract expired Aug. 31, 1973.

Not marrying for money

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — Michael Wilson, 26, insists that he is not marrying Rachel Fitler, a Rockefeller in-law more than twice his age, just for money.

Despite that, the 61-year-old millionaire spinster had to give him the money for their engagement ring.

"We have a genuine, deep affection for each other," the coal miner's son said Tuesday from his home in Llay, North Wales.

"I know that people think I must be marrying her for her money, but that doesn't come into it.

"But the papers have made me look like a gold digger. She's a very nice private person, but how do you think she'll feel seeing me all over the front pages? She could easily get the wrong impression and call it off."

Wilson, who once lived in the United States for five years, said that Miss Fitler's legal and financial advisors expressed "a little opposition" to the marriage, and she had to give him about $115 for the engagement ring.

"I've had a lot of proposals in my life," said Miss Fitler. "I come from a good family and I've had a good life. But I've suddenly realized how attractive marriage could be."

The two met when Wilson was working at a Rockefeller banquet at a hotel in Palm Beach, Fla.

Mild quake, hailstorm in Southland

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — A mild earthquake shook parts of the Los Angeles area Tuesday, and heavy rain, accompanied by hail and wind, caused flash flooding in the deserts to the east.

The quake awakened residents of Inglewood and Santa Monica, rattling dishes but doing no serious damage. The Cal-Tech Seismological Laboratory in Pasadena said the tremor struck at 5:13 a.m. with a force of 2.9 on the Richter Scale and was centered in Inglewood.

A hailstorm accompanied by strong winds lashed the popular desert resort of Palm Springs. Sudden, heavy downpours caused flash flooding in the desert regions of Riverside and Imperial counties, sheriff's deputies reported, sending rivers of mud into some homes and over some roads.

B of A in trade mark squabble

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A little Palo Alto, Calif., consulting firm is taking on the world's largest bank.

"The Bank of America is known almost everywhere by the registered service mark, the stylized letters BA.

Now along comes Sam Bamieh, 36, who operates B-A Associates in Palo Alto.

The bank first asked Bamieh to change his firm's name and offered him $750 to reprint letterheads, business cards and brochures.

He refused and the bank last week got tough and filed a federal lawsuit charging Bamieh with trade-name infringment and unfair competition.

A bank spokesman argued that the similarity of logotypes "is likely to make people think there's some relationship between Bamieh and the bank."

"Nobody thinks I'm the Bank of America," Bamieh says and plans to defend his company's name "with everything I've got, even if it means financial ruin for me."

Economic agreement

Chill appears thawed in Canada-France ties

PARIS (UPI) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said today that Canada's agreement for expanded economic links to France was not a a privileged partnership that would hurt his country's relations with the United States.

The Canadian leader, on a two-and-a-half day official visit to France, sought to diversify Canada's international relations and get French help in tapping his nation's huge natural resources.

He told a news conference that technical and industrial agreements with France were set up to prevent Canada's utter dependence on America.

"We Canadians believe that it is good for the world equilibrium to strengthen our relations with other nations. It does not mean that we wish to shift our relations away from the United States to France or other countries," he said.

He said there was "no question of any privileged partnership with France.

"The United States understands that if we let things drift Canada would become completely dependent on U.S. economic influence."

The Canadian leader said he hoped to conclude an economic pact with the European Common market in Brussels later today.

Trudeau's visit apparently ended a seven-year chill in French-Canadian relations over the future of Canada's predominantly French-speaking province of Quebec.

The Canadian leader said it was "a new era for intense cooperation, development and providential association" with France.

Prices in L.A. up 1.4% in September

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Retail prices in metropolitan Los Angeles edged upward another 1.4 per cent during September and were 12.4 per cent higher than a year ago, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Suzanne Sadowsky, regional head of the statistical bureau, said that September was the 33rd consecutive month that the consumer price index has moved upward in the Los Angeles area.

Housing costs led the September price increase, moving upward 2.4 per cent to a level 13.6 per cent higher than one year ago. Miss Sadowsky said mortgage interest rates, home maintenance and repairs were responsible for much of the housing increase.

Rents also moved up 1.3 per cent between July and September, she said, while residential telephone bills were up 1.7 per cent and household furnishings rose 2.7 per cent.

Food prices, led by 5 per cent increases in eggs, margarine, salad oil, sugar and coffee, moved upward another 1.5 per cent in September and were 12.2 per cent higher than in September, 1973.

Transportation costs moved upward 0.6 per cent to a level 17.2 per cent higher than a year ago while clothing went up 1 per cent and health and recreation items were up 0.6 per cent.

Miss Sadowsky said the consumer index in September was 147.5, meaning that goods and services which cost $10 in the base year of 1967 cost $14.75 last month.

China eyes closing trade gap with U.S.

HONG KONG (UPI) — A delegation of American businessmen just back from China said today Chinese trade officials were highly receptive to a proposed plan to help narrow the trading gap that is 10 to 1 in favor of the United States.

The plan, put forth on behalf of the American Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong at the Canton Trade Fair, proposes that China supply raw materials and parts to American firms and subsidiaries manufacturing in this British-run free port.

Robert P. Goodwin, the chamber's first vice president and leader of the delegation, said the group expected to return to China next month for more talks on the proposal.

One member of the group, William F. Baker Jr., general manager of General Electric Co. operations here, told a news conference of the talks held with the China Council for the Promotion of International Trade, the Bank of China and state trading corporations. He said American electronics manufacturers in Hong Kong could provide the Chinese with a potential market of as much as $100 million to $150 million.

The U.S. firms now get components from several nations, mainly Japan, Taiwan and South Korea. Baker said the proposal would not mean taking all the business away from those areas, but admitted they would be hurt if China competed in the market.

Goodwin said the Americans found the Chinese "receptive" to the idea and "willing to further explore the concept."

Herbert Minich, the chamber's executive director, said the group was "suprised to find out how much interest there was" in the proposal.

Trade is heavily in favor of the United States. Last year, the United States sold more than $750 million worth of products while buying $70 million worth from China.

This year, the American sales figure is expected to reach $1 billion while China will export only about $100 million in goods to the United States.

Class action suit against university

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A class action suit has been filed against the University of California, Santa Barbara charging discrimination against Mexican-Americans.

The suit, filed in a U.S. District Court here by Chicano students, faculty and staff members of the university, alleged the university is trying to stifle the growth of Chicano studies and Educational Opportunities Programs.

Sixteen of 1,100 faculty members and 425 of 12,000 students at the campus are Mexican-Americans.

Sale of antifreeze draws thousands, ties up traffic

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UPI) — The Zayre Department Store advertised a sale on antifreeze at $3.99 per gallon. When the store opened its doors at 9 a.m., more than 1,000 persons poured in.

In less than an hour the entire stock of more than 1,400 gallons had been sold out, the general manager of the automotive section was struck in the head with a box, and several persons were knocked to the floor and trampled by the crowd.

Traffic was backed up for several miles around the store. The going price in the area is $4.50 a gallon.

At Zayre's store in Springfield, a similar traffic jam developed and about 2,000 persons entered when the doors opened, but the store manager said the crowd was "relatively calm."

The Springfield store sold its stock of more than 1,500 gallons within 15 minutes.

Most antifreeze products are petroleum-based and have been in short supply since the energy crisis.

FBI needs more women, minority help--Kelley

CHICAGO (UPI) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said Monday the FBI needs more blacks, Latinos, and women agents to combat accelerating crime, but he admits there seems to be no immediate way of putting them on the payroll.

"We have a backlog of 3,000 appplications," he said, "and there is no problem with recruitement.

"But we have a need of more agents who are black and who have Spanish surnames." Kelley said. "We need more women also. We are asking for an additional 350 agents."

Kelley, in Chicago to address a luncheon sponsored by the Chicago Crime Commission, said the FBI has only 32 women among its 8,500 agents.

"For some reasons," he said, "not many women have been applying."

However, Kelley said, more women have become law breakers. He said he did not know why except "maybe it's because there are more women these days doing more of everything."

When asked how he could get more black, Latin and women agents without jumping them closer to the top of the application file, Kelley said the FBI was "not going to hire anybody ahead just on that basis. We will hire people who will stand on their own merits."

Kelley acknowledged, under questioning, that the FBI's image had been "tarnished" during the Nixon administration. Asked if the tarnish had been removed, Kelley said: "Not entirely, but we are making great headway."

In his speech, Kelley said there were so many loopholes in the judicial system that many criminals were finding that crime did indeed pay.

Kelley cited bail procedures allowing quick freedom for offenders, "wholesale" use of concurrent sentences for multiple crimes, "unreasonable" plea bargaining and "misguided" use of parole and probation and abuses of prisoner furloughs

BANNER WORKER — The Soviet Union has announced that Zibeida Sheidayeva has been awarded the Red Banner of Labor for 100 years of employment at the Kuba Rug factory in Azerbaidzhan. Zibeida, reported to be 114 years old, was cited by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet for her productivity, according to the Novosti Press Agency. Novosti says she still keeps pace with her younger colleagues, tying 7,000 knots a day and making a medium-sized rug in 20 or 25 days.

Demos ignore Republicans in Georgia

ATLANTA (UPI) — Just two years after former President Nixon swept the South in what he expected would launch a long GOP love affair with Dixie, the Democrats are ignoring their Republican opponents in Georgia's major races.

Since defeating Lt. Gov. Lester G. Maddox for the gubernatorial nomination Sept. 3, Democrat George Busbee of Albany has spent about two-thirds of his time slapping backs and thanking supporters and about one-third planning his administration.

Macon Mayor Ronnie Thompson, the GOP nominee, has repeatedly challenged Busbee to debate in hopes of closing the monumental gap. Busbee has shrugged off those challenges.

Similarly unconcerned, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has campaigned leisurely and little in quest of a fourth six-year term.

Talmadge, a legendary name in Georgia politics, is opposed by Republican newcomer Jerry Johnson, a Stone Mountain carpet contractor who has accused him of voting for inflationary bills and of concealing personal conflicts of interests in voting on bills favoring campaign contributors.

Like Busbee, Talmadge has ignored the allegations and brushed off the challenges to debate.

Georgians do not register by party, so it is not known how many are Republicans and how many are Democrats; however, 920,714 chose to vote in the Busbee-Maddox runoff last month while only 43,889 chose between Thompson and Atlanta businessman Harold Dye in the Republican runoff.

The Republicans, already underdogs after a bitter gubernatorial primary campaign, widened their intra-party rift when Thompson demanded the resignations of GOP chairman Bob Shaw and the state executive committee.

He contended that Shaw had tried to embarrass him with a grand jury investigation of gambling activities in Macon.

Shaw last week told reporters that he and Thompson have patched up their differences, and that "the party's 100 per cent behind Ronnie."

Thompson, a law-and-order hardliner whose campaign buttons sport a "Thompson submachinegun," complained he was the only GOP statewide candidate not invited to a White House meeting President Ford held for the party's nominees for governor and U.S. senator in various states.

Ford's own popularity in the South slipped with three successively controversial decisions — amnesty, Rockefeller and the Nixon pardon —but it is doubtful that even a popular president could enhance GOP prospects for Nov. 5.

Shaw seemingly has written off White House assistance, saying Ford has allotted only nine days to political travel and can spend them more wisely elsewhere.

Georgia's congressional delegation appears likely to keep its 9-1 Democratic majority, with a few possible personnel changes. Rep. Ben Blackburn, R-Ga., is being hard pressed for reelection by Democratic State Rep. Elliot Levitas of Atlanta in the 4th district.

In the 7th, veteran Democratic Rep. John Davis was ousted by Dr. Larry McDonald of Marietta, a national official of the John Birch Society. McDonald is challenged by Republican Quincy Collins, a retired Air Force colonel who spent seven years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam.

Freshman Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., drew no primary opposition but faces former Democrat Wyman Lowe, who has run unsuccessfully for several state offices.

The economy has been the talk of the campaign trail, but except for Johnson's little-noticed accusations that Talmadge voted pro-inflation, candidates have made few substantive accusations.

In all, the situation looks bleak for the GOP in Georgia. It is a bitter pill for the party, dashing the dreams of resurgence conjured by the 1972 Nixon landslide.

Stephens is write-in Assembly candidate

Pomona planning commissioner Clyde R. Stephens, a Republican, has announced that he is a write-in candidate in the 65th Assembly District for Nov. 5 general election.

Stephens said he had contemplated this action since June when he notified the Secretary of State of his intention.

Stephens was one of five candidates in the primary for the Republican nomination. He came in fifth with 1,855 votes.

But now, he said, he feels "like we're left with no one to vote for in the 65th." The Democratic nominee, Chino City Atty. Bill McVittie, is mired in legal problems resulting from his alleged campaign practices, and the Republican candidate, Chino dairyman Pete J. Vonder Pool, is thoroughly obligated to the dairy interests, Stephens charges.

"This leaves us without a candidate," Stephens said. "I've talked to some who are so discouraged they say they aren't even going to vote. There is so much unrest and discouragement over the situation."

Stephens said he decided to run to give voters an alternative candidate. He said his campaign would be limited to mailing literature, placing signs and a telephone canvass soliciting support.

The district includes Pomona, Chino, Montclair, Upland, Ontario and Cucamonga.

Arizonan named personnel chief

Maurice M. Mann of Phoenix, Ariz., has been appointed director of personnel at Cal Poly, according to Dr. William E. Fox, director of business affairs at the school.

Mann has been director of classified personnel for the Scottsdale, Ariz., public schools for the past five years. Prior to that he was assistant personnel director at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He was at one time also associated as part-owner of a supermarket firm in Columbus, Ohio.

Mann has a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Ohio State University in Columbus.

Shooting Stars team looking for members

Girls interested in joining the Shooting Stars Drill Team in San Dimas are invited to attend two workshops for prospective members set for tonight and Thursday at 7 in community building of the civic center.

Girls ages 10 through 15 may attend one or both of the sessions to learn the tryout routine.

Tryouts will be held Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. in the community building. The members must attend school within the Bonita Unified School District.

The award-winning drill team is directed by Sally Duff and is sponsored by the San Dimas Recreation Department.

Last year earnings increased, UCB says

United California Bank reported increased earnings for the third quarter of 1974 and for the first nine months of 1974.

Third-quarter earnings after security transactions totaled $10,120,284, or $1.39 per share. For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1974, net income after security transactions totaled $26,477,322, or $3.63 per share, a 13.4 per cent increase over the comparable nine months in 1973, when earnings were $23,358,296, or $3.20 per share.

Population rises in south and west

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The population of southern and western states continued rapid growth in 1974 while declines in six states produced a slowing trend in the Northeast and Midwest, the Census Bureau said Tuesday.

As for the nation as a whole, the bureau estimated the population at 211.4 million on July 1, 1974, an increase of 1.6 million in the past year and 8.2 million since the 1970 census.

Between July 1, 1973, and last July 1, the bureau reported, population losses were registered in New York, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. The District of Columbia also had a population drop.

Between the 1970 census and a provisional census last July 1, population growth in the South and West nearly doubled the national average of 4 per cent. The midwestern states increased 1.7 per cent while the Northeast remained virtually unchanged with a growth rate of 0.8 per cent.

New York, the only state with a net population loss between the 1970 census and the provisional 1973 census, was joined in 1974 by Rhode Island.

New York had a net loss of 0.7 per cent in the four-year span, while Rhode Island turned from a growth state to a population-loser in 1974 alone. Balancing the 1974 losses against population growth in the three previous years, Rhode Island turned up with a net loss of 1.3 per cent.

The Defense Department, Rhode Island's largest employer, closed the Navy base at Quonset Point, R.I., in 1973 with a subsequent loss of 9,000 civilian and 19,000 military residents.

Although they did not lose population over the four-year period covered by the latest census bureau report, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and Pennsylvania lost population in the past year. If the trend continues, these states could join New York and Rhode Island as population losers.

Among the states with population losses in 1974, Illinois was the biggest loser, down 45,000 from 11.2 million residents on July 1, 1973.

For the past four years, Arizona has been the fastest-growing state with a gain of 21.4 per cent. Florida is second at 19.2 per cent, followed by Nevada, 17.3, Colorado, 13.1, and Alaska, 11.6.

California remains the nation's largest state with an estimated population of 20.9 million. Despite recent declines, New York remains second with 18.1 million, followed by Texas, 12 million, and Pennsylvania, 11.8 million.

ROSE PRINCESSES — Seven beauties have been selected as finalists for the title of Queen of the 1975 Tournament of Roses in Pasadena. The name of the winner will be announced at a later date.

Rose tourney candidates

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Seven young women were chosen Monday as finalists in the Tournament of Roses "Royal Court," one of whom will be crowned Rose Queen.

The Rose Queen, who will be selected Oct. 29, could be Kathryn Andrews, 18, Arcadia; Carolyn Coates, 17, Melanie Charvat, 18, both of Pasadena; Janet Marcellus, 19, Temple City; Patricia Kinne, 20 and Robin Carr, 17, both of San Gabriel, Beverly Chapman, 17, Altadena.

New Guinea tribesmen fight bow-arrow war

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (UPI) — Hundreds of warring tribesmen armed with bows and arrows, spears and axes fought a weeklong battle for disputed lands in the Chimbu Valley of this South Pacific island, police said Tuesday.

Police said the fighting ended today but could break out again at any moment.

Police riot squads armed with clubs, shotguns and tear gas were hopelessly outnumbered and appeared somewhat reluctant to become involved.

The Chimbu Valley, sandwiched between the eastern and western highlands some 300 miles northwest of Port Moresby, has been the scene of many violent clashes this month.

The eastern part of New Guinea, the second largest island in the world, is called Papua New Guinea and is due to receive its independence from Australia early next year.

The island still contains many unexplored jungles and the natives practice headhunting in some parts of the island.

In the most recent fight in the valley 1,200 tribesmen from the Yuri, Genabona and Bandi clans, armed with bows and arrows, spears and axes, attacked 300 people of the Nauru clan near the Neregaima Catholic mission.

It was the biggest clan fight in the highlands in recent years.

Police said that in the weeklong battle ending Tuesday, one man was killed, four seriously injured and 30 treated for minor injuries. Over 100 homes were destroyed and 500 persons left homeless.

The three clans Monday pushed the Nauru people back across a disputed valley, about a mile wide and three miles long, toward the Waghi river.

Houses and food gardens owned by the Nauruans were destroyed and their animals slaughtered.

Police used tear gas and fired shotgun blasts into the air to try and disperse the clansmen.

But the men continued fighting for a week and were eventually dispersed, not by tear gas or shotguns, but by torrential rain.

Goering's private art collection up for sale

BONN (UPI) — Some 350 pieces of "rubbish" belonging to Hermann Goering, Adolf Hitler's right-hand man, are up for sale and there's hardly a swastika among them. The objects range from delicate porcelain to nursery rhymes.

The private art collection of Goering, marshal of the Third Reich and head of the Nazi Luftwaffe, will be the main attraction at an auction in Munich Friday.

The state of Bavaria stored Goering's wartime booty and the gifts given to him by top Nazis for two decades. "We've got no use now for this rubbish," said a spokesman for the Bavarian ministry of culture.

Newspapers have estimated the value at $46,000.

A spokesman for Munich's Weinmueller-Neumeister auction house said the sale has attracted buyers from abroad and in particular the United States.

"A number of American collectors have contacted us," the spokesman said. "They will be represented at the auction.

"Most of the things have Goering's family coat of arms on them but there is hardly a swastika to be seen."

Results of study

Use of pill doesn't hike cancer risk

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Women who take the pill are no more likely to develop breast cancer than those who don't use oral contraceptives, according to a study by two members of the California Health Department.

Drs. Elfriede Fasal and Ralph S. Paffenarger Jr. conducted the study of 1,770 women and released their findings in a paper before a convention of the American Public Health Association.

"Comparison of breast cancer patients with control subjects regarding oral contraceptive use revealed no increase in risk of breast cancer and no significant differences in frequency of oral contraceptive use, interval since first use and frequency of current use," they said.

The doctors said their study included women between the ages of 15 and 49, and the youngest women appeared to be the ones who most often used oral contraceptives.

Eighty-six per cent of the women 15-29 used oral contraceptives, while .6 per cent between the ages of 30-39 and only 39 per cent between 40 and 49 were on the pill.

A survey of 452 women participating in the test who had malignant breast cancer showed that 92.7 per cent were married and 58.6 per cent had better than a high school education. only 7.7 per cent had mothers with breast cancer, but 13.3 per cent had a prior breast biopsy and 84.5 per cent of the women with the disease were mothers.

The doctors compared those women with a control group of 453 women in which 94.2 per cent were married and 53.8 per cent had better than a high school education. Nine per cent of the control group had prior breast biopsy, 3.5 per cent had mothers with breast cancer and 87.1 per cent had been pregnant.

All of the women participating in the Fasal-Paffenbarger interviews were from the San Francisco Bay area and those with breast cancer were first diagnosed between 1970 and 1972.

Common market nations look to Arabs for huge loan

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — European Common Market nations agreed Monday on their first joint attempt to recycle back to Europe some of the $20 billion they pay annually for Arab oil.

The mechanism, as worked out by finance ministers of the nine nations in a five-hour meeting here, will be a loan using Arab money, guaranteed by the Common Market nations as a whole, and targeted to any of the nine nations hit by particularly heavy balance of payment deficits.

British Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey said the ministers had reached agreement on the package and only needed to tie up minor details.

Italian Minister Emilio Colombo said his money-starved nation would apply soon to be the first beneficiary of the loan.

On West German insistence, the loan will be limited to a maximum $3 billion for 1975 — only half the deficit run up this year by Italy alone.

The device was seen as the first significant attempt by Common Market nations to cooperate on the oil crisis and the financial problems caused by it.

West Germany, the Common Market's richest nation, agreed to help back the loan only on condition that it is limited to $3 billion the first year, used solely for balance of payments problems, and linked to efforts by beneficiary nations to set their own economy right. The guaranteeing nations would be given rights to withhold payment of the loan if they were not satisfied by these efforts.

No single country would be called on to back more than 40 per cent of the loan and the Germans, the only large Common Market nation with a payment surplus, expect to be the only one committed to this limit.

German Finance Minster Hans Apel said last week, "Europe must be efficiently trimmed for stormy weather. Recipient countries (of such a loan) must accept the bitter economic reality."

The loan would be taken out in the name of the Common Market itself. The money would be sought either on the international money markets or directly from the Arab oil nations.

Kaiser hikes health rates

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kaiser Foundation Sunday announced its highest rate increase in health plan charges over the past four years, hiking rates for employer and union-sponsored groups by 15.8 per cent.

Charges for individual members will increase about ten per cent.

Frank C. Jones, Kaiser vice president, said the increase, effective Jan. 1, 1975, was caused by "rising costs."

Lloyd on HUD housing . . . study of state propositions

JIM LLOYD, Democratic candidate in the 35th Congressional District, has listed his three-point program for preserving federally subsidized housing for the "working poor" in the valley.

These are:

— Informing residents of HUD-supported housing of their obligations and rights as homeowners. Lloyd said many of the "working poor" would not abandon their homes if they understood their right to maintain ownership even after falling behind on payments.

— Educational programs to inform residents on household maintenance. Lloyd called for an elementary homeowners course consisting of plumbing, painting and gardening as practical training.

— Rehabilitation of abandoned houses through a cooperative venture between the vocational educational departments at local community and state colleges and local labor unions. Lloyd said students and skilled craftsmen could rehabilitate abandoned dwellings for new occupants at a cost far below that charged by profit-making firms.

The candidate charged HUD with failing to recycle houses quickly into the housing market, thereby forcing the establishment of the Valley Association of Cities (VAC). He also accused the national administration with not having a consistent urban policy.

"It's no good to have low income housing if there are no jobs in the Pomona Valley for workers," he said.

He reported state unemployment is at a 16-year high.

Rep. VICTOR VEYSEY, Republican candidate in the 35th Congressional District, said Congress and the Administration will soon agree on a positive program to stimulate the economy and expand productivity.

"I have pressed in the Congress for definitive steps to control the federal budget and to prevent deficit spending," he noted. "The recently enacted budget control legislation will enable Congress to maintain an overview of federal spending and make it easier to operate with a balanced budget."

Veysey said that increases in producitivity make a rising standard of living possible, but this can only be accomplished with the complete cooperation of both labor and management.

"Controlling the growth of the money supply while increasing productivity will be the most positive steps that can be taken," he added.

Veysey, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said that committee is making a critical review of all budget requests to keep the budget below the projected $300 billion level.

PETE VANDER POEL, Republican candidate in the 65th Assembly District, has taken issue with the food stamp program which issues $40 or more worth of food coupons per month to affluent college students or 16 and 17-year-old runaways.

"The food stamp program has simply gotten out of control and I call on state officials to undertake immediate reform,," he said.

He reported that 136,000 California residents received food stamps in 1967 at a cost of $8.3 million to taxpayers. "That figure has steadily increased so that 1.6 million Californians draw stamps today and officials have set the cost of the current program at $416 million annually."

VanderPoel said he has no objection to the philosophy behind the food program when used as a means of providing needy Californians with a nutritious diet. "However, I strongly object to the way the program is presently administered."

MOTORISTS ROBBED BY GAS THIEF

Motorists are being robbed by a sly thief who steals gas while they drive. The culprit is a dirty carburetor, which wastes precious fuel and causes poor engine performance. Now you can restore efficiency thanks to WYNN'S® Carburetor Cleaner. This special spray formula works without dismantling to instantly remove gum and varnish, curb rough idling and stalling, as it increases mileage. So for happier motoring, get WYNN'S Carburetor Cleaner today. Now available at your THRIFTY Drug and Discount Store.

MWD lauds official on job 20 years

Robert A. Gough, assistant chief financial officer for the Metropolitan Water District, has been honored for 20 years' service with the district.

He joined the district as a utility clerk at Gene Pumping Plant on the Colorado River Aqueduct in 1954, where he became an administrative assistant. In 1965 he was named superintendent of stores and in 1967 was transferred to the Los Angeles headquarters as personnel manager. In 1973 he became manager of administrative services and was named assistant chief financial officer this year.

Gough, his wife, Patricia, and their three daughters live at 3365 B St., La Verne.

RTD selling November passes now

The Southern California Rapid Transit District (RTD) Monday began selling monthly bus passes for November.

Cost to the general public is $10. Senior Citizens passes are $4.

The cost for monthly passes in Riverside, Orange and San Bernardino counties is $12. Senior citizens passes in these counties remain $4.

November passes will be good for the remainder of October and for the month of November.

Holders of August passes may get refunds for unused portions by mail or at the RTD ticket office.

Special service to Hollywood Park and Santa Anita will resume Saturday morning.

Eye surgery for councilman

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — City Councilman Robert J. Stevenson was reported in good condition today after undergoing eye surgery Sunday at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

Arthur Forcier, a deputy in Stevenson's office, said the councilman entered the hospital because of an ailment in his right eye.

Forcier said Stevenson will not work for at least one week, and then will be on a limited work schedule for

IN addition to President Ford's vice-presidential nomination being in hot water, his nomination of Peter Flanigan as ambassador to Spain is also being challenged. Congressional hearings into the nomination have unleashed charges that Flanigan, a former aide to ex-President Nixon, "sold" ambassadorships to heavy contributors in the 1972 presidential campaign.

Bridge

'Cuebiditis' infects young

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One of the diseases that young bridge players are likely to contract is "cuebiditis". The first symptom of the disease is a rash of cue bids followed by an agonized attempt to make an impossible slam.

North's first two cue bids were reasonable. His third that took the side past game was one too many and we don't blame South for going to the slam.

The slam itself wasn't too bad. At worst it depended on a diamond finesse, but West's bid has made the eventual lose of that finesse rather likely.

There was no hurry about taking the finesse and South decided to give West a chance to take it for him. He won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades; played one trump to take care of problems there; cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs; ruffed the last club and led his jack of spades.

West was in with the queen and had a problem. If South had started with two spades and four diamonds, the right play would be to lead a dimond and hope that East would hold the queen. If he had started with three in each suit, a third spade lead would be the winner.

What did west do and why? See tomorrow's article.

3 San Quentin inmates stabbed —67 for year

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Three stabbings took place at San Quentin Prison during the weekend, bringing to 67 the number of such attacks this year at the prison on the shores of San Francisco Bay.

The warden's office said Raul Medina, 27, was stabbed in the back during breakfast Sunday. He was listed in good condition at Marin General Hospital.

Luther Johnson, 32, of Alameda County, and Frank Negrette, 41, of Los Angeles, were stabbed Saturday. Johnson was in serious condition from multiple stab wounds and Negrette was stabbed in the left arm.

Medina was serving a term for auto theft, two counts of battery on police officers and second degree burglary. Johnson was serving a term of six months to 15 years for burglary.

School board meet turns into a 3-way tug-of-war

Some 300 members of Associated Pomona Teachers (APT) arrived to press for early settlement of a contract on working conditions.

"Many wore signs about their necks which read "teacher rights" and "second class citizens." They succeeded in having the meeting moved from the board room into the Education Center auditorium.

At another point, board President Ken Pine read a lengthy statement outlining 16 cuts which could be made in the schools next year if the district's tax override proposal on the Nov. 5 ballot fails.

And board member Don Donnelly introduced Rep. Victor V. Veysey, R-43rd Dist., whom he had invited to the meeting, as "a friend of education."

Veysey walked into the meeting at 8:15.

"I feel a sense of your commitment to produce quality education," Veysey told the board. "At the national level there are many of us deeply concerned with double-digit inflation which erodes your capabilities. We will get it in hand," he said.

Later, when those in the audience were allowed to speak, Ganesha High School career guidance counselor Ellen C. Lepp told the board that "as a point of order, Veysey's remarks had nothing to do with Proposition QQ (the tax override) and furthermore, he is not a friend of education."

As the teachers' cheers built to a roar, Mrs. Lepp added, "And I hope he does not get the opportunity to become a friend of education in the new 35th Congressional District."

Veysey is his party's nominee for the new 35th district seat. His challenger Nov. 5 is Covina councilman Jim Lloyd, the Democratic nominee.

Donnelly said he "took exception" to Mrs. Lepp's remarks.

He requested board permission to provide the Education Center auditorium as the site for a public forum for the three candidates seeking election to the school board Nov. 5.

The board agreed and instructed Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz to set up such a forum, and provide a neutral moderator.

The three candidates are Frances M. Livingston, Dr. Mary Montes and Gene Whitlock. The election is being held to fill the vacancy on the board created June 10 when Roy O. Day resigned.

The teachers left the long meeting happy after hearing APT executive director Delbert A. Pfeifer report, "today the Certificated Employes Council (CEC) received counter proposals on items in the memorandum of understanding (contract) which indicates a change in position on the part of administration."

There had been a failure to mutually agree on language on some eight points, none of which are money issues, in the memorandum which has been under negotiation since April.

Later, when he discussed possible cuts should the tax override fail, Pine said "I emphasize that this list is not in order of importance, that there is no priority."

The list Pine read stated, "the closing or converting to other use one or more elementary schools and-or a junior high school."

It went on to include "elimination of the district's share of the Miller-Unruh Reading Program, elimination of resource teacher and teacher specialist positions at elementary and secondary levels, elimination of secondary remedial reading programs, reduction or elimination of library-media positions, reduction of custodial and maintenance services, reduction or elimination of transportation.

"Elimination of the newly reinstated sixth period at the high schools, possible reduction to a four-period day for 11th and 12th graders, increases in class size at all levels, reduced electives, possible reduction in advanced instruction and elimination of capital expenditures except in emergencies."

The list ended with "elimination of newly reinstated and improved band programs in the high schools, and reduction in counseling, psychological and health services."

The ballot proposal calls for a $1.44 per $100 of assessed valuation increase in the district's general purpose tax next year. If approved, it would bring in some $3 million, enough Wentz said, to maintain current programs.

Balancing this year's $25 million budget leaves the district virtually without reserves.

"Maybe our timing is bad," Pine conceded, "what with inflation and taxes. But until we get legislators who will tackle inflation head on we are going to have to try and solve these problems by ourselves.

"The cost of running a school district inflates every year. The victims of inflation in education are the kids.

"I, for one, would much rather put out the dollars for education than for any other commodity.

"I pledge, if you help us pass this override, we will not waste one dime of it."

HOW TO STUFF A VW

Each of the four classes at Claremont High School will compete Thursday morning in a VW-stuffing contest, part of the homecoming activities on campus. Claremont hosts Chino in football Saturday. The frosh class is given an edge in the stuffing contest because of smaller, leaner bodies.

Just coach, not women's coach

Girls' coaches win equal pay, ask for equal title

Women coaches at Chino High School are jumping on the sexism bandwagon again.

"We still have sexual discrimination in high school sports," Rudy Gomez, a teachers' spokesman told the Chino school board Tuesday night.

The issue cropped up as the board was considering the new pay schedule for coaching and special assignments.

Gomez, spokesman for Associated Chino Teachers (ACT), said certificated employes were not in total agreement with the wording of the pay schedule.

Girls' coaches are being granted an increase in pay from $217 to $400 per sport on the new schedule — and they are pleased with that, Gomez said. The women had threatened a walkout last April if they did not achieve pay parity with male coaches.

Aside from pay, however, girls' coaches are unhappy with the designation "women's varsity coaches," Gomez explained.

Men coaches are not singled out as "male coaches" in the pay schedule, he added. They are designated by sport, such as "varsity football coach," "varsity basketball coach."

"Be specific," Gomez told the board. "Call the girls coaches by the sport they are involved in, making it the same as for men."

"We want to get rid of the implication that women's sports are different than men's."

Gomez, in answer to a suggestion by board member Al McCombs that men play under different rules than women, emphatically said that was not true. Girls have recently changed from Girls Athletic Association to California Interscholastic Federation rules, he explained.

"Women do everything now except pole vault," he added.

Some board members thought the equality issue should work both ways, and men should be allowed to play on girls' teams. A number of girls now play on men's teams, Chino High athletic director Bud Carroll said.

"But we're hoping they don't play together in water polo," he said, "because there's a lot of action under water."

After several votes on the issue, board members finally decided to change the designation "women's varsity coaches" to "varsity coaches, girls' sports."

Supt. Royce Lapp had recommended adopting the pay schedule without any designation changes, and board member Charles Smith agreed but his motion died for lack of a second. A move by Smith to refer the matter back to Lapp for further study also failed, by a 3-2 vote.

Gomez said later he was not happy with the change, and called it minor. "They were trying to make a change but they didn't know how. I wish they had referred it back to Lapp."

In other action, trustees postponed approval of a policy that, as worded now, would restrain citizen complaints at board meetings.

The tough policy is an outgrowth of parent complaints over the year-round program last August, and some teacher gripes on other issues.

McCombs said the board is "not trying to put the clamps" on persons speaking at meetings. There are some paragraphs that need clarifying in the policy, and that is why the matter was tabled, he said.

Treated twice at hospital

Jury declares boy's death accidental

A coroner's inquest jury ruled Tuesday that the death Sept. 30 of an Azusa boy was accidental, but two jury members said some negligence was involved, according to hearing officer Frederick W. Lacy.

The child, Frank Perry, 10, died of a skull fracture, a coroner's autopsy surgeon said. The child had been taken to West Covina's Queen of the Valley Hospital twice before going into convulsions and being rushed to Glendora Community Hospital Sept. 30 where he was pronounced dead.

The victim injured himself in an apparent Evel Knievel style jump on his bicycle at his home Sept. 28. He was taken to Queen of the Valley where he was treated for a broken collar bone and released.

Two days later he became dizzy and ill and again was taken to the hospital. After examination he was given pain killers and returned home. But at noon that day he went into convulsions and was taken to the Glendora hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Referring to that incident, Azusa Police Officer Ken MacChesney testified that when he arrived at the child's home he found no signs that the victim was alive.

Testimony by two emergency room physicians from Queen of the Valley indicated that neither had been advised that the victim had suffered a head injury in the mishap, and he had not been examined for such an injury.

One of the doctors, Reuben Hilda, said that he would have handled the case differently now, knowing what he now knows of the case.

The two jury members referred to negligence less than gross, Lacy said, and they mentioned no names. The purpose of the inquest was to determine the "mode" of death, Lacy said. He said that as far as the coroner's office is concerned, the case is closed.

College conference scheduled on Scandinavian emigration

Representatives from Denmark and Sweden will meet with historians and social scientists from a number of California colleges and universities for a one-day conference on "Emigration and Ethnicity" Thursday, at Pomona College.

The Westergaard Program of Pomona College, which was established in 1963 to further the study and understanding of Northern Europe, is sponsoring the conference, which will emphasize the Scandinavian experience.

The sessions will be open to the general public.

The Scandinavian representatives are Dr. Kristian Hvidt, director of the Danish Library of Parliament in Copenhagen, and Dr. Ulf Beijbom, Sweden, and currently visiting professor of history at the University of Washington.

Other participants include Dr. Raymond Lindgren, professor of history, Cal State Long Beach; Dr. Moses Riscnin, professor of history, Cal State, San Francisco; Dr. Theodore Saloutos, professor of history, UCLA, and president of the Immigration Historical Society; Dr. Ake Sandler, professor of political science, Cal State, Los Angeles, and Dr. Steven Koblik, associate professor of history, Pomona College.

The first session, entitled "The Push and the Pull," meets from 2 to 4 p.m. in Oldenborg Center's multipurpose room, following a 1 p.m. luncheon in Oldenborg dining room.

Advance reservations are necessary for the luncheon, and tickets may be purchased at $2.50 per person by sending a check payable to The Westergaard Program, Pearsons Hall, Pomona College, Claremont 91711.

The second session, which will begin at 7 p.m. following a 5 p.m. reception and dinner at the Faculty House, will feature an exploration of the "Problems of Ethnicity and Adjustment." Those planning to attend the reception and dinner in advance of the evening session must make dinner reservations. Checks in the amount of $5.50 per person should be made payable to the Westergaard Program.

City receives traffic award

The City of La Verne was lauded by the American Automobile Association this week for a traffic record of no fatalities for the past four years.

A pedestrian safety citation was presented to the City Council Monday by Donald D. Hoffman, coordinator of the AAA, lauding the city's safety record.

Hoffman said the plaque had a national significance in that it gave recognition to the safest cities in the United States. He said La Verne not only was fatality free; it also had a better than average record on all accidents.

Homestead plan will be discussed

The Valley Association of Cities (VAC) will hold its monthly meeting Thurdsay at 4 p.m. in the Montclair City Council Chambers.

Under discussion at the meeting will be VAC's proposed homestead ordinance under which abandoned homes will be sold to local residents for rehabilitation.

The proposed ordinance would require that the buyer of each home make all needed repairs within 180 days and live in the home for a period of three years. A $1,000 down payment would be required, with an additional $1,000 payable over the three-year period.

The VAC board of directors will also receive an informational report on current sales of abandoned homes by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Drum corps for youths forming

The Upland Recreation Department is sponsoring a drum corps for local youngsters, ages seven through 17.

Meetings of the drum corps will be held on Wednesdays from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., and the fee for participating in the corps is $10 per month.

Eddie Lemus of Norco will instruct the corps.

Registration for the drum corps will be held at the Upland Finance Department in the city administration building Monday through Friday.

YMCA is preparing for Halloween party

The West End YMCA will sponsor a Halloween party on Oct. 31 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Y in Ontario. The party for boys and girls will feature games, a costume contest and a haunted house. Admission is 50 cents.

Further information may be obtained by calling 986-5847.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Making plans for Thursday's meeting of the Citrus Shrine Club at the American Legion Clubhouse, 330 N. Azusa Ave., West Covina, are from left, Ted Williams, entertainment chairman; Fred Weber, co-chairman; and Norm Nissen, club president. Charter members will be honored at a Halloween party. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by a steak dinner and entertainment. Members include residents from Glendora, San Dimas and La Verne. Theme for the event is "Can You Top This."

Luncheon will mark midpoint in charity drive

The midpoint report luncheon of the West End United Way will be held Friday noon at La Villa Guasti.

Henry O. Russell, campaign chairman for the West End United Way drive said the organization is hopeful of more than exceeding 50 per cent of its goal by the luncheon.

Tickets for the event are $3.50 per person with reservations necessary by today. Further information or reservations may be made by calling 984-1797.

Business education workshop at Poly

Cal Poly will sponsor a one-day workshop in the field of individualized business education Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Kellogg West.

The workshop is geared for teachers who are teaching business subjects and will feature intensive training in methods of individualizing instruction in shorthand and clerical training.

Instructors include Dr. Lyn Clark, associate professor of business at Pierce College; Pat Langlin, regional supervisor of the California Bureau of Business Education; and Lynda Veatch, coordinator of business enterprises training program at Mesa Verde High School.

The $35 tuition covers fees and lunch.

Hearing slated for suspect in slaying of youth

Sidney Tyrone Turner, 19, faces preliminary hearing of a murder charge against him next Tuesday in the fatal wounding Oct. 13 of 15-year-old Brian K. Hudson in Pomona.

Turner was arraigned before Pomona Municipal Court Commissioner Thomas A. Peterson who ordered him held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Hudson, 3229 Flaxton St., died four days after being shot in the head while standing with a group of youths in the 3100 block of Abbott Street.

Turner, who was a member of the group, was quoted by police as saying the shooting was an accident, but others were reported to have told officers that Turner had been discussing youth gang membership and had fired one shot before the lethal one which hit Hudson.

No blank check for rapid transit

During the more than two months that the Rapid Transit District buses were not running because of the strike the RTD has been getting financially fatter — at taxpayer expense.

Even though the buses were not in operation, the transit district collected $137,000 a day subsidy from the state in sales tax revenue. At that rate the RTD is receiving approximately $50 million a year in sales taxes paid by Los Angeles County residents.

This take from sales taxes would jump by an additional $100 million a year if Proposition A on the November general election should pass, authorizing an increase in the sales tax.

The statewide 6 cents sales tax is already high and a 1 cent increase in this area would make this tax even more burdensome at a time when inflation is cutting ever deeper into individual income.

The hard-pressed economy of Southern California cannot afford the luxury of a blank check that Proposition A would provide. We urge all voters to reject it on Nov. 5.

The search for 12 fair minds

It has to be done in the interest of justice, of course. Even so, there is something contradictory about the hours and days consumed at the beginning of the Watergate coverup trial in Washington in the endeavor to find 12 men and women, and alternates, who retained an "open mind" about Watergate.

On the one hand, Americans are encouraged to learn what is going on in their communities and in their nation. The large percentage of people who answer "don't know" in every opinion poll is cited as a symptom of our lack of caring, our noninvolvement, or of the failure of the media and of leaders to inform the public.

On the other hand, when they are called to serve on juries, people are supposed to have perfectly pristine minds, untainted by prior knowledge or opinion.

Actually, anyone who still has an "open mind" about Watergate—meaning either that he has never heard of the scandal or is totally unaware of the many damaging stories that have been published about those involved—would have to be so wanting in the mental department that his fitness as a juror would be suspect on that ground alone.

We seem to have gotten the idea in this country that a fair trial means that only people possessing the naivete of newly arrived Martians are qualified to sit on juries.

What a fair trial really means is that, first, every defendant in a court of law is to be considered innocent until proven guilty and that he has certain basic rights—the right to hear the evidence against him, to confront his accusers, etc.—that must be protected. And second, that those who judge him will honestly put aside whatever prejudices or preconceptions they may have and will make their decision solely on the basis of the evidence presented in court.

Used cars look better

Critics used to say of Richard Nixon, "Would you buy a used car from this man?"

The former President's image with the critics may not have improved much since those days, but that of the used car certainly has.

The automobile industry is faced with a poignant problem in these inflationary days. Here it is time for the new 1975 models to come out, with their new inflation-raised prices, and the public is looking with increasing interest toward the used car lots.

The magazine Money cites some examples; staying away, of course, from the obvious clunkers and concentrating on fairly recent good models. For instance, a four-door sedan from one of the upper echelons lines which sold for $3,700 two years ago, now can be bought for $3,075 in top condition. Not exactly a whopping reduction, but attention getting when compared with the cost of the 1975 model, $4,650 . . . a 25.7 percent increase.

The energy crisis contributed greatly to the topsy turvey nature of the used car market, too. During the gas shortage, manufacturers turned heavily to smaller cars. Now with more fuel available and prices down, there is a surplus of compacts while the smaller numbers of larger cars manufactured during that period are commanding good prices.

As a specific example, one hatchback coupe, a year old, was retailing before the crisis for $1,825. During the crunch it skied to $2,500. Now it's available at $2,175..

All of which is not intended as a plug for the used car business; rather as an illustration of the many ways in which international economy and politics can affect us in down-to-earth, every day ways.

U.N. not a 'world government'

There is something about F. F. Scudder's letter published Oct. 18 that compels me to write in disagreement. Even though last time I did this I received several anonymous insulting phone calls and anonymously mailed John Birch Society propaganda.

It is plainly ridiculous to call the U.N. the "United Nations World Government." If anything, the U.N. is more fractured between a Soviet-African bloc and the Western bloc than ever; hardly a unified "World Government."

Secondly, it is illogical to conclude simply because organized communists see in the U.N. (or saw in the U.N.) a tool with the potential to merge the world into one communist system that the U.N. automatically is doing this and therefore is a communist organization.

The U.S. undoubtedly had high hopes that the U.N. would serve as a propaganda arm to promote a democratic, capitalist system all over the globe.

Finally, it is an insult to our intelligence to infer that organized support for the concept of a "United Nations" is communist-backed and directed only toward one aim — world domination under communism.

I don't need to list all the leaders and statesmen who have devoted careers to the U.N. in the hopes of achieving true world peace. F. F. Scudder is certainly entitled to his opinion, just as I am entitled to mine. I hope when he reads this letter (as I'm sure he will) he will realize it will do me no good to get his "anonymous" propaganda. I guess I'm beyond help. — Joel Bellman, Claremont.

Evel Knievel's televised legacy

WASHINGTON — A survey of 50 prominent children's hospitals reveals that children of all ages tried to imitate Evel Knievel's recent abortive leap across the Snake River. But unlike the lucky Knievel, some of the juvenile daredevils wound up badly maimed.

Some benefit may come, however, from the tragedies. For Knievel's unique effect on youngsters gives dramatic urgency for a warning that the TV industry chose to ignore two years ago. Studies of 10,000 youngsters, warned the Surgeon General, proved that "exposure to aggressive television. . .is significantly related to aggressive behavior (in) normal children."

But the network apologists soothed the public's fears, and the TV violence went on.

Now Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., who conducted the hospital survey, has reported the results to House Commerce Chairman Harley Staggers, D-W. Va. Citing the Knievel episode, Murphy called for full-blown hearings.

"Crime, violence, brutality and aggression are bigger than ever on TV," he complained. "The Evel Knievel affair was just a symptom of how America's giant TV networks cater to the basest instincts in man and of their continued enticement of innocent children . . . with violence."

Murphy, who tried unsuccessfully to stop the American Broadcasting Company from televising the jump, charged in his secret report that the TV publicity brought death, paralysis and critical injury to children and even a few adults. Here's a sampling of the cases he turned up:

Utica, N.Y. — A 14-year-old boy used the hood of an old car as his launch ramp for a bike jump. The bike somersaulted. The boy crashed and crushed the bones in his neck. He is paralyzed for life from his neck down .

Minneapolis, Minn. — A nine-year-old and his friend built a ramp and lined up five garbage cans. While his family prepared for church, he made his leap and actually cleared the cans on his bike. But he needed 15 stitches to sew up his chin. His chipped teeth will cost at least $400 to repair.

Boise Idaho — A 16-year-old bragged that he would leap an irrigation ditch on his bike. The local sheriff tried to stop him, but it was on private property. The teen-ager shot off the ramp, cleared the ditch and struck a house on the other side head on. He was hospitalized with a severe concussion.

Bruceton, W. Va. — A would-be daredevil, driving a motorcycle, cleared a 195-foot-wide lake before a bloodthirsty crowd. He crashed into the bank on the far side and is paralyzed from the waist down for life.

New York City — An eight-year-old ran up a homemade ramp on his bike, crashed and was impaled on his handlebars. Doctors operated on his liver and were barely able to save his life. He spent more than three weeks in the hospital. Seven similar cases were treated at the same hospital, all in emulation of the Knievel jump.

Salt Lake City, Utah — A seven-year-old girl and her playmate did a double jump on a bike off a ramp and both were injured, she with a serious "head trauma." In Brooklyn, N.Y., two six-year-olds were treated, one of whom tried to clear three milk crates and ended up in critical condition with head injuries.

The doctors' reports had a clinical detachment, but the letters from parents have been bitter against both Knievel and the networks. A typical letter from Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Hoops, of Muncie, Ind., told how their seven-year-old son, Drake, had pedaled his little bike over a ramp. "He didn't make it," they wrote. "We took him to the hospital. He went straight downhill for two days. The surgeon told us he could wait no longer and found in surgery that the front impact had been so hard that the backbone had acted like a knife and cut his pancreas in half."

Drake Hoops, henceforth, will go through life with half a pancreas and no spleen.

Murphy was alerted to the Knievel craze by the death of Bob Pleso, a 22-year-old Ocala, Fla, man who was inspired by Knievel to try to clear 30 automobiles on a motorcycle. Pleso hit the 28th car in a spectacle at Phenix City, Ala., and was thrown to his death a few feet short of his 171-foot mark.

The Congressman sought a total ban on TV showings of the Knievel jump, and again afterwards tried to get ABC to cancel a replay. "Failure to do this," said Murphy to ABC-TV President Walter Schwartz, "would border on the obscene."

Schwartz telegrammed back that he was going ahead with the replay anyway. But Schwartz assured Murphy piously that ABC would "caution children" not to try any "daredevil-type activity."

The failure of ABC's warning is apparent from the tales of youthful carnage, which Murphy has reported to Staggers.

The warning didn't mollify, for example, the mother of a Brooklyn nine-year-old, who zipped up a five-foot-long plank and soared about 20 feet. In midflight, he fell from the bike and came down on his face. Mrs. Louise DeFaco, the boy's mother, asked plaintively: "How could you expect a little boy who is inquisitive and daring to take that warning seriously when Evel receives so much admiration and notoriety?"

Murphy put it more bluntly to Staggers: "TV is the second highest income industry in the United States and aside from drug peddlers and pornographers — I think it has been one of the most irresponsible."

FOOTNOTE: The TV industry, in defending such spectacles, repeatedly insists that it is cutting violence down to a minimum. The FCC, for its part, is drafting new milksop suggestions for children's network TV. The suggestions fall far below what even the mildest TV critics have recommended to protect children from TV influence.

Some more names you know are about to be "indicted."

Most Americans do not know what that means. When you hear or read that "a federal grand jury has indicted so-and-so" you figure so-and-so already had one foot in San Quentin.

Not necessarily. Everyone agrees that our judicial system is overdue for overhaul. It is cumbersome susceptible to favoritism and corruption.

Streamlining the judicial process is unlikely to be accomplished unless we, the people, understand the process. Grand jurors are smoke-smellers.

When a district attorney is fed evidence of wrongdoing and he considers the evidence deserves to be court tested, he impanels a grand jury which he hopes will agree with him.

If the grand jurors do agree that the evidence warrants a court test, then the case is brought to trial. The weak link, of course, is the grand jury itself.

It is an unadvertised understanding that the Harvard-bred prosecutor wants for his grand jury a bunch of the most ordinary people the feds can find.

They are going to do as he says. In almost all instances where there is any technicality involved, grand jurors have only the vaguest notion what the case is about.

A recent indictment ran to more than 50 pages. As to whether a crime was involved, the grand jurors likely accepted the judgment of the prosecutor.

It is axiomatic that any prosecutor worth his salt "controls" his grand juries. The jury will do what he tells them, frequently with only the faintest idea what they have done.

Also, the present crop of prosecutors is unlikely to be objective — frequently composed of gung-ho liberals from the Office of Economic Opportunity. American Civil Liberties Union or some Nader-related organization.

The so-called Watergate grand jury in Washington, D.C., is composed of 23 members — 22 Democrats; 17 black. Justice should not be blinded by politics or prejudice, but such a grand jury as that is, to say the least, susceptible.

John Mitchell and Maurice Stans were "indicted" by such a grand jury; but subsequently, tried in court by a jury of their peers, both men were found innocent.

President Ford has vowed to re-establish a mutually respectful tripartite government with the White House, the Congress and the courts co-operating as equal partners.

If the White House has exceeded its authority under recent Presidents, it will not under this President. But if the courts can be manipulated by purposeful, prejudiced or self-promoting political hatchet men, perhaps some further pruning of prerogative is in order.

Just in jest

There's one school of thought which holds that if you are looking for the royal road to riches, become a lawyer and get a piece of everybody's action. But I contend that, better still, one should seriously consider becoming a judge. — Now there's a field of endeavor where apparently you'll never find such thing as overcrowding. In fact, today's theory of justice seems to be: What can one judge do that three can't do a lot better?

Regardless of cost, naturally! — But then, why be too prudent where jurisprudence is involved? Legal penny pinching doesn't get you much of anywhere these days — However, forgive me, I digress! The thing I started out to say is: It didn't surprise me too much recently to learn that not one but three judges are deciding the merits of a consumer lawsuit in which the ban on the advertising of eyeglasses is being challenged. — And you know what? Somehow I hope they rule in favor of eyeglass advertising, if only to prove that justice doesn't necessarily have to be blind.

Dumb politics and dumber ideology

WASHINGTON — Added thoughts on the brewing Rockefeller confirmation fight, which now shapes up as a major—indeed, the major test of Gerald Ford's ability to function as President during the next two years:

Not long ago, New Times, a new Manhattan-oriented magazine which thrives on mini-sensation, labelled Republican Sen. William L. Scott of Virginia "the dumbest man in Congress."

At the time it seemed to me that the award cast an unwarranted aspersion on the qualifications of a lawmaker whose conservative political philosophy differed from the leftish tastes of the magazine's editors.

More recently, however, I've had some serious second thoughts. For Scott, in joining cause last week with Democratic critics of Nelson Rockefeller's vice presidential nomination, demonstrated that the magazine's judges may not have based their decision solely on philosophical differences.

The Virginia Senator, in a floor speech, urged the President to withdraw the nominations because of Rockefeller's "liberal philosphy." He went on to say that the former New York governor's gifts to friends, along with his 1970 gubernatorial campaign's financing of a "scurrilous biography" of Arthur Goldberg—Scott's description of the book—raises serious "ethical questions" about Rockefeller's capacity to serve as Vice President.

Now, there are several things about that Scott statement which deserve mention in the event the New Times means to make its dumbness award an annual affair and Scott's current claim to the title should come under challenge.

For one thing, at the time he denounced the subsidized Goldberg biography as "scurrilous," the Virginia Senator hadn't even read it. But that's a minor omission as things go on Capitol Hill. It is, after all, unrealistic, if not unfair, to expect members of the world's greatest deliberative body actually to take the time to read everything they denounce from the Senate floor. I mean, you can carry this business of post-Watergate morality only so far.

No, what chiefly concerns me about the degree of political acuity shown by the Virginia Senator's attack on the Rockefeller nomination is that it plays into the strategy of liberal Congressional Democrats not previously known to be great Scott allies.

Keep in mind that the Rockefeller nomination was Ford's first substantive policy decision after taking office under terms of the 25th Amendment. He is an unelected President, with all the disabilities of leadership attached to that political condition.

Can an unelected President unable to name his own first choice as Vice President—or second, third, fourth, or fifth choices, for all we now know—be expected to provide strong leadership in other areas?

Of course not. But a gelded Ford presidency is exactly what Democrats on Capitol Hill want. They now have the best of all possible political worlds—power without responsibility—while an unelected Republican President has the worst: responsibility without power.

Thus, while Ford campaigns around the country warning against the creation of a Democratic "legislative dictatorship" if Republicans lose many more congressional seats, the truth is that a form of absolute one-party rule already prevails on Capitol Hill. This is why the attack being leveled by Virginia's Scott and other conservative forces on Ford's choice for Vice President is, to phrase it more delicately than the New Times shortsighted.

Certainly Rockefeller's nomination by Ford came as a sharp disappointment to conservative Republicans who have good cause to bear grudges against their bete noire of the 1964 and 1968 presidential campaigns—not to mention the former New York governor's often bitter relationship with rightwingers in his own state over a 16-year period.

But the time and place to fight that battle is in 1976, when an unelected President and his unelected Vice President come up for a different kind of confirmation at the Republican national convention. To join now with the Democratic left in gelding a Republican President isn't simply dumb politics. It's dumb ideology as well.

Keep the coupons coming; they're blessing to hospitals

Our association is asking your help.

A recent newspaper article which has been brought to our attention carried the headline, "Grocery coupon frauds cost industry millions."

Could we be abetting this?

Our auxiliary saves coupons from magazines and newspapers and divides them equally between Pacific State Hospital and City of Hope.

We have been participating in this program for several years, as have many other similar organizations.

If it is illegal we will discontinue it immediately. — J.S., Chino.

There is no question in our mind that arrangements made with City of Hope and Pacific State Hospital are legitimate.

Both institutions report that patients are benefiting from the coupons you and other organizations turn in.

One of the culprits named in the article you mention is the housewife who cashes in coupons for products not on her shopping list.

She can do so because of lax supervision and high turnover at many grocery stores around the country, according to a spokesman for the Gallagher Report, a newsletter for marketing executives.

Other offenders are organized rings that cut coupons from newspapers and magazines and sell them at a discount to dishonest grocery operators.

Don't let people who clip manufacturers out of greed deter you from clipping coupons to help hospital patients.

Six weeks ago I sent the Lane Bryant Co. a personal check for $10.85 to cover the cost of a dress that had been advertised in a Los Angeles newspaper the day before.

The check was to cover the cost of the dress, sales tax and delivery charges.

As I did not receive the dress, I wrote to the company. No response. I wrote again and there was still no response.

Then I telephoned and was told that the firm had to re-order because the supply of dresses had run out.

Two weeks ago I phoned again but I have been unable to get my dress or a refund — Mrs. C. B., Pomona.

Our letter to the firm went unanswered but a few days later you got your dress.

Do you know where to buy U.S. flags to decorate graves on Veterans Day?

Berean Book Store on the Pomona Mall has a few small cotton flags on wooden poles.

The sales staff at the store will order more on request. You should place the order now for delivery before Veterans Day.

I was born in 1919. My birth certificate shows that my mother was also the mother of an older child.

I am eager to get whatever information I can about my older brother or sister but don't know how to go about it. — Mrs. M P., Pomona.

We wrote to the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Olympia.

Helen Davis, assistant supervisor of vital statistics, replied that your certificate, although it was signed by a physician, was a "delayed filing."

It was not filed with the bureau until 1942. The bureau has no record that your mother previously had a child other than the numeral "1" on your certificate following the question: "How many other children of this mother are now alive?"

She points out that since your record was not filed at the time of birth, it is possible that no record was filed of the previous birth or the birth may have occurred in another state.

ANN LANDERS

Dinner time no time for doc to put patient's gall stones on diplay

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound like the craziest letter yet, but I mean it. I'd like to warn everyone who is considering an operation for gallstones to please ask the doctor to save the stones, so he (the patient) can personally bury them, flush them, or put them in the trash.

Why the odd request? Because last night I was treated to an exhibit of "Mrs. Swanson's gallstones" at a dinner party in the home of the surgeon who had removed them. They were in a plastic container and simply hideous.

"These are the largest stones I have ever seen," boasted the doctor, as if he had scored some sort of personal triumph. (All this took place during the cocktail hour and it killed my appetite completely, not only for the hors d'oeuvres but the dinner.)

I don't know if "Mrs. Swanson" is aware that her gallstones are being used as cocktail party entertainment, but I certainly wouldn't want mine displayed. Will you please pass the word? —Still Not Hungry, Thanks

That doctor is a clod. To entertain guests with a patient's gallstones is bad enough, but to identify the patient is inexcusable.

So here's your letter, and even though it's lunchtime, somehow I'm not hungry either.

Dear Ann Landers: Someone should respond to the man who said after five years a marriage has got to grow stale and he'd bet his right eye there's not a man in the U.S. who hasn't cheated at least once. That letter must have upset a great many young people who are hoping for a marriage with fidelity and trust.

I'd like to tell that sap that I've been married for 28 years and have never cheated. Our marriage is not without problems and I'll admit I've been tempted, but something always stopped me from making that move.

Whenever I look closely at another woman I decide she's like a thousand others—even if she's beautiful, she's empty. Perhaps, to someone else, my wife might seem empty, but to me she is special.

She's the one who gave me five children, listened to my problems and made me feel like I was the only man in the world for her. She's the one I laugh with, play with, lean on and let her lean on me when she needs to. She's the one I took "for better or worse," and it gets better all the time.

I feel sorry for husbands who are running around like fools. But then, not everyone can be married to my wife. —Just Lucky

Dear Just: "Lucky" my eye. You two have worked at it and that's why it's good. A successful marriage is not a gift, it's an achievement. Your marriage may have been made in heaven, Bub, but the maintenance work was done right down here.

Dear Ann: This is an open letter to "Nervous Nellie," the young lady who became nauseated whenever she went out with a boy she liked.

I had the same problem when I was her age. I suffered with it for many years, hoping the problem would solve itself. You were so right, Ann, when you told her it wouldn't. She needs counseling to find out what is at the bottom of her nausea. My only regret is that I didn't go earlier.

I urge that young girl to seek help immediately. Believe me, it will change her life for the better. —Been There And Know The Scene

Dear B.T.: A word from someone who has "Been There" carries a lot more clout than advice from Ann Landers. Thank you for writing.

Is pot a drug? Can L.S.D. and pills open new worlds for you? Stop guessing. Get the facts in Ann Landers's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

AT WIT'S END

Idea's good, but what an approach!

A grade school principal in the East recently became so upset about the lack of nutrition in the lunches the children were eating that he declared an edict banning junk food from the cafeteria.

I have a feeling the kids jammed the edict between two potato chips and two squares of Hershey chocolate and had it for lunch.

There is certainly no quarrel with the theory. Children should eat nutritionally balanced meals. But children do not take to ultimatums. I'm no authority, mind you, but I would have tried the old "Accentuate-The-Negative - Reverse - The-Positive-And-Make-The-Kid-Think-Your-Ideals - His - And - He's-Driving-You-Crazy" approach.

Instead of an edict, the bulletin would have read something like this:

Memo to: School Children

Re: Nutritional Lunches

1. Carrots are illegal on school premises. Children bringing them from home will need a note from a parent giving permission to have them, or they will be confiscated by the office and held until dismissal time.

2. Locker inspection for thermoses containing hot vegetable soup or other nutritious dishes will be held periodically without warning. At that time, students are instructed to go to their lockers and stand at attention. DO NOT UNLOCK YOUR LOCKER UNTIL A TEACHER INSTRUCTS YOU TO DO SO. Thermoses will be destroyed by the custodian.

3. Because of student demand, we are selling fresh fruit by the door in the cafeteria. This is on a trial basis. If we find this is all students are having for lunch it will be discontinued. Remember, fruit contains sugar and Billy Tooth is watching you. To avoid congestion at fruit counter, please have correct change.

4. Teachers have reported to the office that raisin boxes and milk cartons have been found on the school grounds. We know there are students who have been sneaking nutritious foods on the premises and for this reason students have been posted and are instructed to "take names."

5. Your principal will be patrolling the lunchroom where he wants to see potato chips, candy bars, tortilla chips, soft drinks and ice cream. Remember, junk foods build soft bones, soft teeth, and make you sleep a lot.

Trust me. It'll work.

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 59 and suffer from constipation. You recommended coarse foods for constipation. I have pockets on my colon and I'm not allowed to eat any foods with fibers or seeds or skins. And also, I can't drink milk. It gives me gas. I drink decaffeinated coffee using one-fourth teaspoon of powder to a cup. Do you think that would cause me to have gas?

My doctor gave me some capsules to take called Doxidan, and when I have a bowel movement I have a burning in my rectum from the capsule. I would like to know if the capsule would be bad for my colon.

I give myself enemas a lot and would like to know if that is o.k. What would be best for constipation and what foods should I avoid and which ones should I eat?

DEAR READER — Those pockets are diverticula and the current thinking is that constipation and poor bowel habits are part of the reason they develop.

If you don't have an infected pocket or bleeding or a small perforation of one of them, the associated constipation is usually the main problem.

You really need a change in your total bowel pattern. You should be eating foods with bulk. That means whole cereals and bulky vegetables in considerable amount. Your colon will not function properly, with or without diverticula, until you eat properly, and that includes proper amounts of bulk.

That laxative and enema habit has merely made matters worse. Doxidan is a chemical laxative. It has some useful purposes but should not be used regularly and the same applies to all other chemical laxatives. A bulk expander would be useful until you get straightened out.

You need a good program for training your bowel habit and to train your normal responses. It won't be easy since you obviously have a long standing problem, as do many people who suffer from constipation and spastic colon.

You will be able to get some help from two booklets, one on constipation and another on diverticulosis. They will tell you more about bowel training. You can get them by writing to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for the booklets on constipation and diverticulosis. Send 50 cents for each booklet to cover costs.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can a woman 63 years old have a change of life for the second time?

DEAR READER — No. If such a woman had been on hormone medicines to prevent the changes and then stopped them she could have symptoms.

Many of the symptoms attributed to change in life, irritability, nervousness, headaches, sweating, can all be caused by other things, including anxiety. That is why a lot of women who think they are having menopause symptoms in their middle 40s really have some other problem. Symptoms alone do not make a diagnosis. When a woman has such symptoms then the doctor has to evaluate the total picture to learn whether it is the change in life, a psychological problem, or something else.

It follows then that a woman could have symptoms of a change in life in her 40s and have the same symptoms from some other cause in her 60s.

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, Oct. 24

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A new acquaintance you'll be meeting will make quite an impression upon you. An interesting relationship will develop.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Co-workers will help give your career an unexpected boost. The fact is, you may not even learn of it at the time it happens.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's a good day to look a little ahead. Make your entertainment plans for the weekend. Get in touch with those you want to share your time with.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be on the lookout for something you will be able to buy that is of far more value to you than it is to the seller. A bargain can be arranged.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Over the next few days you'll do better if you do things with a partner rather than try to do them on your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're in a good productive cycle. It will reward you both materially and with personal gratification for work well done. Be extra-industrious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck is still in your corner and tends to treat you favorably through friends of the opposite sex.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're especially creative in ways to enhance the beauty of your surroundings. A good day to rearrange the furniture.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A new friendship is about to blossom with one you'll meet by chance. You'll have much to share in common, as you'll discover.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Some unusual conditions are stirring. They may produce a small windfall for you if you're alert enough to recognize opportunity when it knocks.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Ideas that you formulate now are very sound, as you'll learn if you do more than just mull them over. Use them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something that you will learn of by chance will later prove beneficial to you. Do listen when others are talking on subjects that interest you.

Your Birthday Oct. 24

Expect many social activities this year. You're about to broaden your range of fun interests. Romantic ties with one you love will also be strengthened.

Rabbits use ears for many purposes

Maybe you didn't know that a scallop has about 35 eyes.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO in what's now Ethiopia, it was the custom for a husband and wife to sleep in a single nightgown.

IT'S BELIEVED by those who should know that the civilians hereabouts own at least 30 times as many small arms as does the U.S. military establishment.

APPROXIMATELY 8 per cent of the grownups need no more than five hours of sleep each night. About 15 per cent need less than six hours. As many as 52 per cent need between seven and eight hours. And 15 per cent need as much as nine to 10 hours.

RABBIT EARS

Do you know why a rabbit has long ears? Wait, don't call that a ridiculous query. A scholar at the University of Wisconsin has devoted much time to a study of the matter. No, a rabbit's ears do more than just hear. They flatten out against said rabbit when it's very cold, thus to keep the beast warm. And they extend into the air when it's very hot, thus to radiate its excess body heat. How a rabbit handles its ears depends on the temperature, sort of.

Q. "WHEN broiling, should I leave the oven open or closed?

A. With electricity, slightly ajar. With gas, closed. Seems the gas burns up the smoke and tends to dry things out, but the electricity does otherwise. Or so the experts report.

AVERAGE American woman now has her last child at age 26.

SPORTS GRUB

The baseball fan spends an average of $1.65 on food and drink in the ball park. That's more money than is spent for such by the fans of football, hockey or basketball. The football fan is said to be the most affluent. Peculiarly, though, the football fan spends the least on the comestible extras in the stadium.

"SIGHTED SUB, sank same." Are you old enough to remember that famous radio message of World War II? Donald Francis Mason was the pilot who sent it. On Jan. 28, 1942. Near the coast of Newfoundland, he spotted some oil on the water below, turned loose a couple of bombs, and radioed that report. Fact is the German submarine escaped. Wasn't until about a month later over the Grand Banks that he really did sink a sub. Hold on, no negative nitpicking intended. Mason's magic message meant more to the war effort than one sub, so it turned out.

Women

MICHELLE TRUDEAU

November 30 will be the wedding day of Miss Michelle Catherine Trudeau and Allen Kirkland.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Joseph Trudeau of Upland is an Upland High School graduate. She is majoring in early childhood development at Chaffey College.

Miss Trudeau is a member of the American Car Club and works as a preschool teacher at Sunshine Christian Day School.

Mr. Kirkland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Kirkland of Chino. He graduated from Chino High School and is majoring in welding at Chaffey College.

The groom-to-be is a welder with Utility Trailer Company in City of Industry. He is a member of the American Car Club.

Purely Personal

MRS. JAMES TOSTERUD of Montclair has been named recipient of a Polly Dollar for her contribution to the Polly's Pointers column in the Progress-Bulletin. Her suggestion will appear Nov. 3.

Felix-Hoffman vows recited in Claremont

MRS. RUDY FELI

The Very Rev. William Barry officated at the marriage of Miss Marsha Renne Hoffman and Rudy Martinez Felix at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hoffman of Pomona was escorted to the altar by her father when she recited vows with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio C. Felix of Claremont.

The bride wore a princess-styled gown of sheer organza and guipure lace. Seed pearls were nestled into clusters of lily of the valley trim. Her three-tiered, chapel-length veil was caught to a Juliet cap accented with pearls.

Phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis were arranged in the bride's cascade bouquet.

Miss Sheila Hoffman was maid of honor and Mrs. Irene Narez was matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Lucille Garcia, Cecilia Parker, Cris Jennings and Irma Martinez.

Best men were Jerry Felix and Jesus Narez. Ushers were George Butler, John Carney, Jeff Wilson and Joe Monge.

Dental Assistants meet tonight

Pomona Valley Dental Assistants will meet this evening at The Arbor, Upland, for a program by Jerry Thomas.

"Patient Communications: Verbal and Non-Verbal" will be the speaker's topic for the 7:30 p.m. dinner meeting. All dental assistants and other members of the profession are invited.

Final plans for the Christmas program will be announced. Details of a fund-raising plant party on Nov. 4 will be presented. It will be held at the Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan in Pomona.

Realtors schedule luncheon

"How to make all loans assumable" will be the topic of the talk which Rose Marie Sines of Fountain Valley will give when Covina Valley Chapter of Women's Council of Realtors meets at noon Thursday at the Via Verde Country Club, San Dimas.

Mrs. Sines will discuss the increasing use of the lease-option contract as an additional sales tool for real estate salesmen in a tight money market.

Reservations may be made by calling 213-967-5211 or 213-961-2600.

Don't use your nails as tools! Pick up objects with the cushions of your fingers, especially bobby pins. Use a tweezer to unfsten jewelry clasps.

Aspirin an aid

Is the aspirin taken during periods of illness to relieve cold symptoms also of value in helping you perform normal daily tasks? Corporate executives might want to take note of the findings reported in the November Family Circle. Seems dosages of aspirin and Darvon given for two days at intervals of four hours while not relieving fever and other symptoms completely "did prevent any marked decrease in ability to carry out routine daily work and other activities." American industry, start stocking those medicine cabinets!

ON HER BIRTHDAY—Mrs. Edith Harding, Washington, D.C., who is spending six months visiting her sister, Mrs. Barbara Auxier, 4051 Olive St., Chino, has received from Washington the flag that flew over the Capitol on Mrs. Harding's 95th birthday. She also received an album of letters from President Ford and 15 congressmen. Mrs. Harding's son, Kent, is House of Representatives sergeant-at-arms.

"I never thought I could afford such a knockout outfit this year. Thank You, Singer."
You can make it, America! Singer will help.

Think of it. Any look you want. For less than you'd spend on dinner out. All it takes is a good sewing machine. A Singer* sewing machine. Because we make them to make things easier. Our Touch & Sew* machine for example. It sews everything from knits to whatnots with 15 different stitches. It has a built-in buttonholer so you can pick button-up patterns without a second thought. And it's got all-dial controls. Does all its tricks at the touch of your fingertips. And would you believe a push-button front drop-in bobbin? Fabulous! And exclusive. Because we invented it.

With this sophisticated machine you can turn out even the most complicated designer number. And keep smiling, all the way. And it's on sale to save you $70 before you even sew a stitch. Free instructions come with it. In fact you get hours of free instruction with any machine you buy at Singer. Including our great zig-zag machine, on sale at $88. Really efficient. Among other good things, it's got an exclusive front drop-in bobbin. And a blind-hem stitch you can barely see on the right side. Now—if you haven't turned your old machine into a planter, just bring it to Singer. You'll get a surprisingly generous trade-in allowance.

Ewert and Enberg vows are repeated

MRS. RANDY EWERT

The bride's father officiated at the marraige of Miss Cynthia Marie Enberg and Randy George Ewert in the La Verne Church of the Brethren.

The daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Enberg of La Verne was given in marriage by her father while her mother read a passage from the Bible.

A cousin of the bride, Kathryn Davis, lit the candles and a sister, Elinor Levin, played a Schumann selection on the piano. Kathryn and Mildred Davis played a recorder duet.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Rachel Enberg.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ewert of Taft, was attended by his brother, David Ewert. Ushers were Andrew Levin, Robert Dickinson and Adrienne Dickinson.

MRS BURTON CAFFEY

Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Irwindale was the setting for the marriage of Miss Marian Denise Kelly and Burton Richard Caffey.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kelly of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Caffey exchanged vows in a double-ring Nuptial Mass.

The bride's gown had a lace bodice designed with a high collar and satin ribbons. The silk organza skirt flowed to a long train and was trimmed in lace. Her veil was fingertip-length.

Mrs. Dolores Browne was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Dubransky, Mary Colleen Kelly and Carol Tippet.

James M. Bragg was best man. Ushers were Alan Caffey, Sandy McHenry and Rick Brown.

A reception at the Diamond Bar Country Club honored the couple. Mrs. Michael Beardwood handled the guest book.

The bride attended Cal Poly Pomona after graduating from Pomona Catholic Girls High School. She is a secretary. Mr. Caffey graduated from Bonita High School and Mt. San Antonio College. He served three years in the Army and is a machinist in San Dimas.

They reside in Upland.

Tour of the colleges set

A walking tour through the Claremont Colleges has been planned for Thursday by the Women of the Claremont Colleges.

Anyone interested in learning about the six campuses is invited to meet at Thatcher Music Building on the Pomona campus at 9:30 a.m. The tour will take approximately two hours and will end at Harvey Mudd Campus Center for refreshments. Children in strollers are welcome.

Guides for the tour will be Mmes. Perdita Sheirich, Jane MacLeod, Hillery Kittleson and Nancy Humphreys.

Rhoutsong, Groeschen vows said

Miss Deborah L. Groeschen recited wedding vows with Michael C. Rhoutsong during candlelight rites at Vivian Webb Chapel in Claremont.

The Rev. James E. Ruckle performed the evening, double-ring rites.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Groeschen of Upland was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Rhoutsong of Upland.

A bouquet of baby roses, carnations and baby's breath was carried by the bride.

Miss Joan Curry was maid of honor and Miss Cindy Pattengell was the bridesmaid.

Serving as best man was Pete Keeney of Upland while Bob Fabro was the usher.

A reception at the bride's home honored the couple who will reside in Upland.

Pocahontas plan dinner as benefit

Ask Dr. Brothers

Learning to get along

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My father was a very successful businessman who built up a company from nothing into a major industry. Two years ago, he died and I'm supposed to be taking over his job. This isn't easy for me, partly because I find I have to live up to his reputation and partly because it has always been difficult for me to compromise and negotiate. My father was an outgoing, sociable man; I'm not.

Because of legal problems, which I won't go into in this letter, I have to stay in my present job for at least 10 years. Then if I want to hand it over to someone else, I'm on my own. In other words, unless I'm totally self-destructive, I'm stuck and had better make the best of it. My wife is sympathetic and I have her support, so maybe I'll be able to pull it off. I've sometimes wondered if my inability to take to business naturally is because I'm selfish and don't really like people. If this is true, and there were some magic pill to take to reverse this I'd take it. I'm not suggesting you have any such potion, but if you have any advice, it would be welcome.
S.H.

Dear S.H.: It seems to me that one of the most important things you should realize is that you are not your father and that you never will be.

You are yourself and you must learn to love and respect that self, even though it may be very different from your father's personality. This obvious fact need not be presented in an arrogant way, but I think this is a point that should be made clear to your employees and co-workers.

Try to establish open communication with them and take them into your confidence. Don't be afraid to express some of your feelings of insecurity about taking over your father's position. Try to enlist their help and understanding, but at the same time, let them know that while you are open and ready to learn as much as possible, you will never manage your company exactly the same as your father did, because you are a separate individual. You may make some changes for the better and you probably will make some mistakes, but whatever the course for the future, it will not be exactly the same.

Negotiation and compromise are essential in all human relations so regardless of what you're doing now, or you may do in the future, it's to your advantage to learn something about the art of negotiating. Gerard Niereaberg, author of "Fundamentals of Negotiating" (Hawthorn), says this is one of the least understood arts in human affairs. Since negotiating occurs any time two people seek agreement, it is essential for people to learn if they are to get along with others.

There are a few essentials that might help you in your relations with others: Patience is vital if you are to meet the needs of others and still get some of what you seek for yourself. For a good negotiation to be successful both sides must think they've winners. "Saving Face" is imperative if both sides are to leave the bargaining table without anger and resentment. It's important to realize that facts don't necessarily change people's minds, and whether you're trying to make a point with your wife, your children or your colleagues, if you see you're not getting anywhere with a recital of facts, forget them and change your tactics. Repetition rarely convinces anyone. Neither does shouting, bullying or sarcasm. Actually, these are all enemies of negotiation.

You'll find it's easier to compromise and negotiate if you take the time to look at the other person's point of view before you begin, decide what he or she wants and just how much you can afford to give. If you can begin with giving, you're apt to gain more in the long run.

Few women attaining executive positions

It's no secret—America needs the talents and energy of all of its citizens. Women comprise 35.5 per cent of the average American company's labor forces but only 10 per cent of its executives, a new study by a business research group reveals. Three in five corporation presidents say they plan to increase the number of female executives in their companies over the next five years, however These findings are based on a survey of 250 leading U.S. corporation executives.

The March issue of the National Business Women states that "today women have more opportunities than ever to control their own destinies. As a result of civil rights legislation and a new public awareness of women's potential place in society, women, long the silenced majority, have a chance to consider new life options. Previously, woman did not pick her own niche in life, society preordained it for her."

"It has always been BPW's goal to achieve specific gains for women under the law; equal pay for equal work; removal of sex discrimination in education and employment; equal representation in political organizations; child care services; tax reforms equalizing treatment for women and men; and consumer protections, to name a few."

The BPW Federation sponsors a Leadership Training Program, a program for the Young Career Woman, Individual Development Plans, and a Talent Bank which maintains a skills file on over 1500 women qualified to fill middle and upper level management positions. These are affirmative action items of a continuing nature to assist business and professional women to attain advancement to positions of greater responsibility.

Significant gains are being made by women in the federal sector, according to Dorothy Smith, Federal Women's program coordinator for the Naval Plant Representative Office. This is due in large part to the 1967 amendment to Executive Order 11375 prohibiting sex discrimination in federal employment. And, additionally, the signing of Executive Order 11478 in 1969 integrating the Federal Women's Program into the overall Equal Employment Opportunity program played a large part in establishing the following information released by the U.S. Civil Service Commission:

The percentage of women in government's white collar work force increased from 40.4 to 40.8 per cent between surveys conducted in October 1972 and October 1973. Upward movement by women continued, as it has in prior surveys. In middle management positions, grades GS-13 to 15, the percentage of woman increased from 4.2 per cent in 1972 to 4.5 per cent in 1973, representing an increase of 713 positions. Since 1968, the percentage of women at GS-13 and above went from 3.7 per cent to 4.5 per cent, or an increase of 2,680 positions. In the supergrades women showed gains at each grade level; up 3 at GS-16, 14 at GS-17, and 24 at GS-18. These statistics are indicative of a results-oriented affirmative action program.

BPW Congress slated

The 1975 Congress of Business and Professional Women of the Americas is scheduled for Mexico City, February 18-22, 1975.

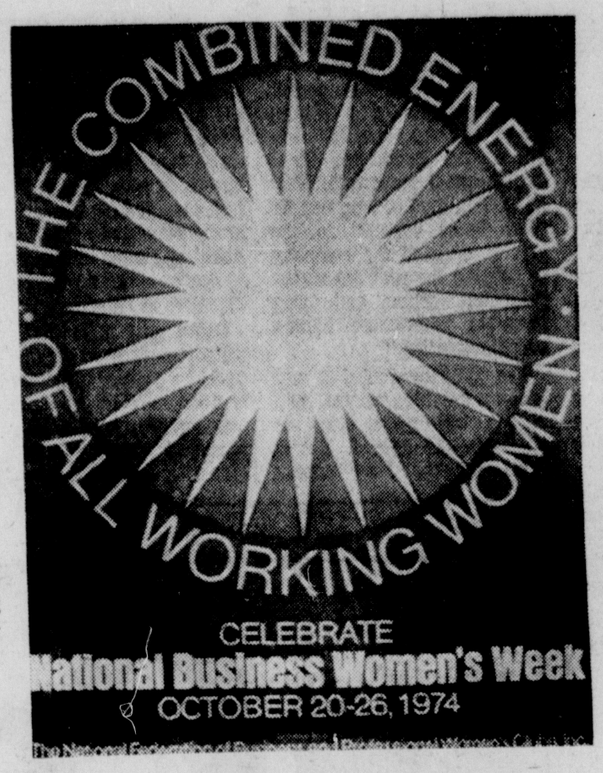
The congress sponsored by the National Federation of Businesss and Professional Women's Clubs is the third of its kind. It is planned to bring together women from every country in the western hemisphere as part of the observance of International Women's Year in 1975. A blend of work and play, the congress will strengthen the bonds of friendship among women of the Americas.

"Women and Work" is the congress theme. Individual assemblies will emphasize the areas of women in the family, women in the labor market and women as leaders. Assisted by simultaneous translators, the observers at the Congress will listen to experts and delegates from the hemisphere as they discuss areas of mutual concern to working women of the Americas.

The congress is made possible through the contributions of the Business and Professional Women's Club members to the World Friendship Fund, which was established in 1951 to honor Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Texas, who had been a strong supporter and advocate of programs to increase international goodwill. Since that time, hundreds of women have benefited through grants from this fund and the congress is one of the programs sponsored.

Attending the congress as official U.S. Observers will be Betty J. Eagon, president-elect of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and Julia K. Arri, treasurer of the National Federation. Both women are members of the Pomona club.

Tours are being set up for BPW members which will include attendance at the congress and an opportunity to visit some of the surrounding areas to view the cultural activities of the Mexican nation.



Top Hat award promoted

According to Miss Marilyn DeRose, president of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the federation will be promoting throughout the state a "Top Hat" award project.

These awards will be presented to individuals, businesses, industries or organizations selected on the basis of one or more of the following criteria: appointment of women to executive positions previously held only by men; significant increase in the number of women employes to management positions; increase of women in non-traditional craft and physical jobs; increase promotion opportunities for women within the organization by encouraging women employes to take advantage of professional and-or executive development opportunities through special seminars, university courses, or the sponsoring of their participation in business and professional organizations; opening educational facilities to women and developing special training programs for women within their organizations; or contributions to financial support for education, training, or research facilities established for the purpose of improving the career status of women.

Nominations for "Top Hat" awards are to be submitted through the local clubs and the selection will be made by the California Federation for presentation at the 1975 State Convention at Disneyland Hotel, May 29-June 1, 1975. All employment areas will be considered as the project is to stress the positive aspect of those companies or individuals who are helping the advancement of women.

Endorsed

The California Federation BPWC has endorsed Proposition 11 on the November ballot. The proposition revises various articles of the state constitution which use the masculine gender in referring to office holders.

To save fuel energy, position oven shelves before you turn the oven on.

Optometric assistant honored by BPW club

The Woman of the Year Award is designed to honor business and professional women who have distinguished themselves in their careers and communities. The Business and Professional Women's Club of Pomona named Margaret Feucht as its 1974 Woman of the Year. The honoree has been vice president, second vice president, recording secretary, treasurer, and has held various chairmanships since joining the organization in 1960.

She is past president of the Credit Women's Club and a member of the Optometric Extension Program, Assistants Course.

A native of Wisconsin, she has resided in Pomona since 1959 and is a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

MARGARET FEUCHT

Political promotion

Qualified women aided

The Political Promotion and Political Education Committee of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was formed to elect qualified women to public office at the state level in assembly, senatorial or constitutional offices.

The purpose of such elections is to give women a greater responsibility and representation in the law-making, law enforcement in the state and to give women a greater opportunity to participate in public affairs.

The committee is supported by voluntary contributions from the club members and financial support is given to those women candidates who have been endorsed by the clubs in their areas, as well as endorsement of the State Federation.

Currently, March Fong, candidate for Secretary of State, has received the endorsement of the California Federation, along with Pauline Davis, incumbent and candidate for re-election in the First Assembly District. Mrs. Davis was just recently appointed assistant speaker pro-tem of the Assembly.

To secure the endorsement of the Federation, a candidate must be considered to be of excellent character and adaptable to the field of politics. The candidate must subscribe to the objectives of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and pledge to support the current legislative platform of BPW.

The political education portion of the committee presents informaton and guidance in the political field through seminars and workshops. It stresses action courses at the local level to motivate and directly assist citizens to become active and effective in the political process of the nation.

Another field of opportunity open to women is found in the activities of the Women in Appointive Public Office committee of the Federation. Assistance is given to women seeking appointments on state and local boards and commissions, by submitting summary of qualifications and endorsement to the Governor or other appointing official. Local clubs may submit names to the committee for endorsement and a special screening section has been set up for the processing of the applications.

Founded in 1924

The Pomona BPW Club was chartered on Oct. 24, 1922, with 74 members and was the outgrowth of meetings of working women at the Pomona YMCA which started in May of 1922.

Pomona BPW

The Pomona BPW meets on the third Tuesday of each month for a dinner program at Griswold's Inn. The group is open to business and professional women in the valley.

Nation pays tribute to working women

The SUNBURST, a symbol of vitality, strength and growth appropriately describes the combined energy of all working women. National Business Women's Week is sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., and is being observed all this week.

Mayor Ray J. Lepire of Pomona has issued a proclamation setting aside the week as a tribute to all working women.

Approximately 170,000 members representing over 3600 clubs will join together in a national tribute to business and professional women. In communities throughout California, clubs will spotlight the achievements and accomplishments of members.

This past year, members nationwide put forth tremendous effort to aid the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. The federation exceeded its pledge of $250,000 to assist in states that have not yet ratified the ERA.

Officers of the Pomona Club this year include Mary Donnally, president; Virginia Butler, first vice president; Maxine Bates, recording secretary; Montez Burley, treasurer and Betty Rexrode, corresponding secretary. Marjorie Raymond is immediate past president.

Mrs. Arri is elected treasurer

At the National BPW Federation convention in Chicago, Mrs. Julia K. Arri, valley businesswoman and past presidents of the Pomona Business and Professional Women's Club, campaigned from the floor for the office of national treasurer against three women previously announced on the ballot.

She was elected on the first ballot by a very wide margin.

Mrs. Arri is widely known in the federation for her support of Individual Development programs and serves in this capacity in the state federation. She has been instrumental in the establishment of personal development programs for professional women through speech training and educational seminars. The program encourages members to become involved in their club and community and to develop their fullest potential as leaders.

Cancer agent sought in permanent press clothing factory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government investigators are studying the textile industry to determine whether thousands of permanent press clothing workers are being exposed to a cancer-causing agent already linked to 22 deaths in a chemical plant.

Researchers at the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health said their initial findings so far do not indicate there is a widespread problem, but they will not know for sure until they have checked the variety of conditions under which textile workers may have been exposed. They said a similar problem may also exist in the particle board manufacturing industry.

The carcinogen involved is bis-chloromethyl ether, or BCME. Earlier this month Ralph Nader's Health Research Group said 15 workers at the Rohm and Haas Co. chemical plant in Bridesburg, Pa., died of lung cancer after being exposed to the gas. It accused the company of keeping the problem secret from its workers and using them in "deliberate human experimentation."

The company denied it was keeping anything secret, and said it had taken steps to eliminate the hazard. But it also said the lung cancer death toll in the one area of the plant was actually 22, although it claimed no causal connection had been established. It also revealed there had been 57 lung cancer cases at the plant from 1954 to 1974. About one third of them —the 22 deaths —had any history of exposure to BCME.

Rohm and Haas had previously announced that BCME could be formed spontaneously under certain temperature and humidity conditions when formaldehyde, a widely used industrial chemical, is present along with any number of chloride compound.

The two chemicals are present frequently in the textile industry, particularly in treating of materials for permanent press.

NIOSH tests at an unidentified textile plant in South Carolina confirmed that the cancer-causing agent could be unleashed. One researcher said the tests there also showed a potential solution —the substitution of another readily available compound for the chloride version in use. He said NIOSH was about to go into one of the largest textile plants in the country to test that theory out.

The South Carolina test also uncovered one instance where the gas had escaped through a plant smokestack —worrisome because BCME is not readily dissipated in the air.

Researchers also said one other area of "prime concern" with BCME is the particle board industry where particles are pressed under heat to make cabinets, wall boards and other building materials. Initial laboratory tests have started on that process to determine if BCME is unleashed and NIOSH plans further in-plant tests.

There is no indication so far of any deaths related to BCME in the textile industry. In the South Carolina case health records were not extensive enough to determine if any workers had died of lung cancer.

Milk price blamed on subsidies

OAKLAND (UPI) — A spokesman for grocery stores said today consumers have been paying too much for milk because schools and military posts have not been paying enough.

"Those millions of dollars in consumer milk price 'overcharges' have resulted from years of subsidizing the sale of milk below cost to schools and military commissaries," Stanley F. Johnson, executive director of the Bay Area Grocers Association, said.

"It is a gross error to use school and commissary prices as a base, compare that with out of store price, and claim the difference as an overcharge," he said. "Not only are the schools and commissaries receiving the milk at prices substantially below production costs, but the 6 per cent markup generally used in commissaries is possible only because the taxpayer foots the bill for building space, utilities, parking and military labor."

Proposition 1 must pass, Riles warns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State schools chief Wilson Riles has warned that the defeat of Proposition One, the $150 million bond issue on the November ballot granting state construction loans, could force the closing of many of the state's urban schools.

Riles said at a news conference here Friday that despite recent earthquake safety school bond measures passed in San Francisco, Oakland and statewide in recent years, "inflation has boosted construction costs so high that state and local governments are rapidly running out of funds to bring schools ... up to earthquake safety standards."

In addition to $50 million for earthquake work, Proposition One also provides $100 million in state loans to rapidly growing districts unable to finance needed new buildings.

Trial date set in Zebra slayings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Superior Court Judge Morton Colvin has set Nov. 12 for the trial of four suspects in San Francisco's "Zebra" murders.

The suspects are Larry C. Green, 22, J. C. Simon, 29, Manuel Moore, 29, and Jesse Cooks, 28.

They are suspected of slaying some of the victims in a series of apparently senseless killings on city streets between Oct. 20, 1973 and April 16 of this year.

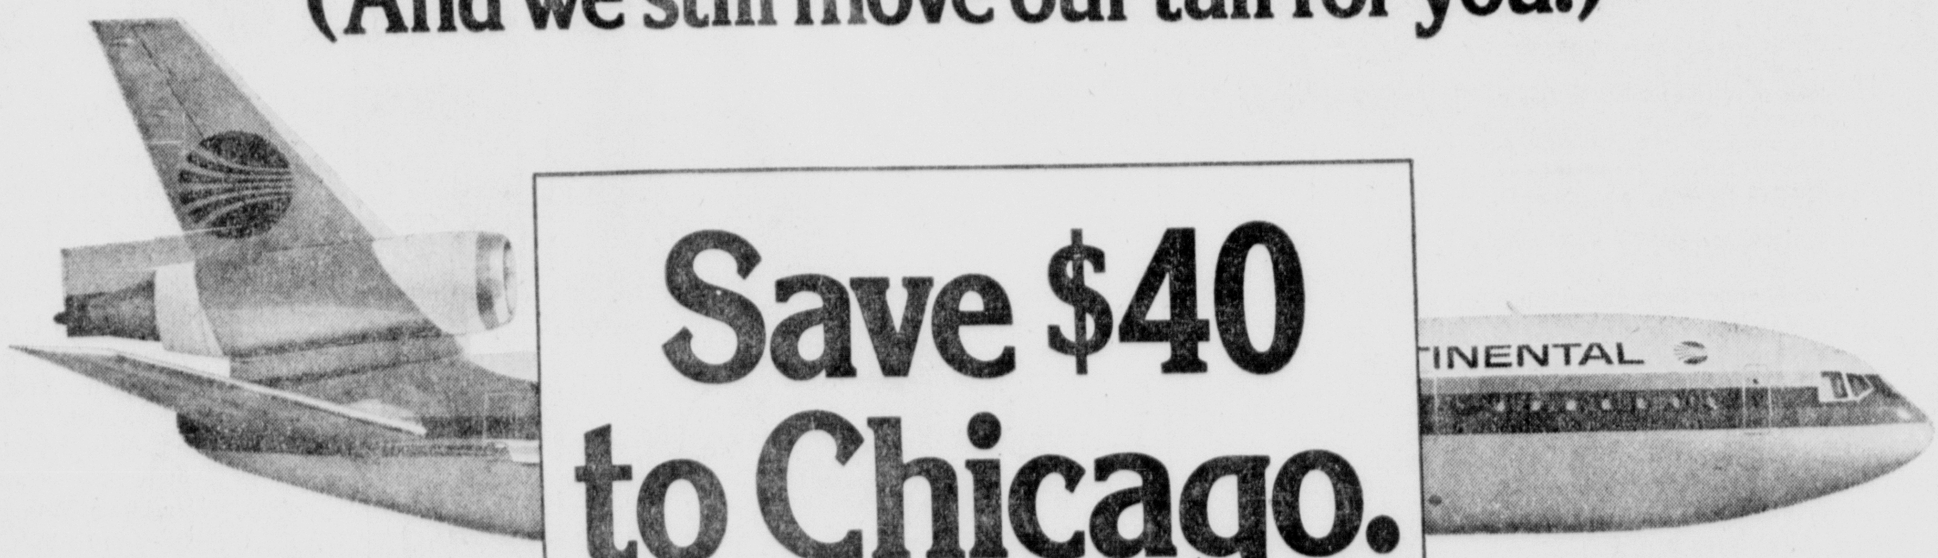
Continental Discount Fares: 4 low-cost ways to fly to Chicago.

(And we still move our tail for you.)



Save $40 to Chicago.

These days, when saving money is so important, Continental Airlines has four ways to bring down the price of your next airplane ticket. Check these special low fares and you'll see how.

1. Standby/Discount Fares. Save $40.
A Continental Standby/Discount ticket is yours for only $100—the lowest fare going to Chicago, $40 lower than regular Coach. Simply plan on taking our late-night flight. Go out to the airport and stand by. If space is available, you step aboard Continental, step off in Chicago $40 richer than if you had taken Coach. Continental's Standby/Discount fare is available on flights departing at 11:30 p.m., 12:40 a.m. and 1:00 a.m.

2. Midweek/Discount Fares. Save $35 each way. $210 round trip to Chicago, $70 less than regular Coach round trip. Plan to take off and return any Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. Buy your ticket at least 7 days in advance, and stay 7 to 9 days (Midweek/Discount fares are not in effect Nov. 26-28 or Dec. 6-Jan. 6). Available on all 11 Continental flights throughout the day, including 5 nonstops.

3. Night Coach/Discount Fares. Save $28.
A Continental Night Coach/Discount ticket is $112, a saving of $28 over regular Coach. Simply plan on leaving a little later in the evening. You'll be guaranteed a reserved seat. Night Coach/Discount fares available on flights leaving at 12:40 a.m. and 1:00 a.m.

4. Economy/Discount Fares. Save $14.
Only Continental has Economy/Discount fares on every flight to Chicago. An Economy ticket is $126, $14 less than regular Coach. You simply skip a meal. Economy/Discount fares available on all 11 Continental flights throughout the day, including 5 nonstops.

Continental's Discount fares to Chicago are only the beginning. We have comparable tickets to other cities we fly to. Just remember: the only thing we don't discount is the way we move our tail for you.

Administrative leadership

19 Greeks end Cal Poly program

Nineteen Greek educators have returned to their country after spending three months in an administrative leadership program at Cal Poly to learn American business methods.

The program, designed to provide instruction and practice in the administration of technical colleges, is the third phase of a three-year technical program in which Cal Poly personnel have assisted the Greek Ministry of Education in organizing five higher technical education centers.

Centers have been established in Athens, Herakleion Larisa, Thessaloniki and Patras. They are designed to provide a wide variety of programs in agriculture, business, food technology, health services, engineering and graphic arts.

During their stay at the Cal Poly campus, the educators had the cooperation of Wallace J. Paprocki, manager of the J. C. Penney's Store in Montclair. The group toured the store and was given an introduction to the philosophy of management and personnel selection.

In addition to taking part in a demonstration of the training procedures at the J. C. Penney's Store, the five general directors of the centers also visited the Western regional offices of the firm in Buena Park. The administrative offices and warehouse serves 11 Western states.

The group was accompanied on the tour by Dr. Warren C. Weber of Cal Poly's School of Business Administration.

The general directors observed the complex processes of marketing and distribution as they are practiced in the United States to provide them with a broad base of understanding concerning marketing programs. C. R. Steinforth, Southern California area manager, of J. C. Penney's Stores expalined how a large commercial firm is administered to help the visitors obtain a comparison base for their administration of business programs in the technical colleges.

In comparing U.S. business operations with those in Greece, the directors were surprised to learn of the extensive use of credit in this country. As Jack Neff, regional credit manager, explained, the Buena Park facility extends $100 million per year in credit to Southern California customers alone.

The directors were also given a grounding into merchandising concerns by Roy Houck, Western regional sales and merchandising manager, and into personnel matters by Richard Erickson, Western regional personnel manager.

Cal Poly has been involved since 1971 with the technical assistance program for the higher technical education centers. At that time, representatives of the university met with representatives of the Greek Ministry of National Education and Religion in the Office of the Chancellor of the California State Colleges to discuss the feasibility of providing technical assistance in Greece. In July 1971, the Ministry of Education invited Cal Poly to assist in the project; and in September, the Ministry of Education requested that the College send a representative to Athens to participate in contact negotiations. These deliberations were completed by late September and transmitted to the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank), which loaned the Greek Government $13,800,000 to aid in the development of the Project.

Cal Poly was chosen by the World Bank and the Greek Government from among technical schools and universities throughout the United States to be the only participating American institution because of the applied aspects of its educational program and its expertise in technical education.

Cal Poly sent a team of staff members to Athens to work on the project. The initial team was lead by Dr. Hugh O. LaBounty Jr., vice president of academic affairs at Cal Poly. Other consultants were sent too Greece to help develop the curricula, text books and course outlines.

Dr. Douglas C. Dowell, director of International Programs at Cal Poly, served as field coordinator for the project and directed the translation of the report of recommendations for the project into Greek.

Dowell has now returned to Cal Poly and has been succeeded in Athens by Dr. Edwin Harwood who is working on the final phase of the project. Harwood is a professor of English and modern languages at Cal Poly.

GREEK VISITORS — A group of Greek educators toured the J.C. Penney's facilities in Montclair and Buena Park as part of a program at Cal Poly to share American business methods. The methods are being taught at five college centers in Greece. From left of photo are Triantafyllos Trianlafyllou of Irakllion, Crete; C. R. Steinforth, Southern California manager of J.C. Penney's Co.; Dr. Warren Weber of Cal Poly's School of Business Administration; Constantinos Tomopoulos of Athens; Panageotes Hadjiionnou of Thessaloniki; and Emmanuel Tasagakis of Larissa.

The highlights will include a parade that will form at 10 a.m. at the downtown minipark at C and Third streets. La Verne firemen will serve as judges in a costume contest before the parade.

Lunch will be served at the school from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Ruth Raterick is carnival chairman.

Libyan-Egyptian squabble

BEIRUT (UPI) — Firebrand Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy thinks Egyptian peasants, workers and students should overthrow the "domineering government" of President Anwar Sadat.

Khadafy said in a letter to Beirut's weekly magazine Al Usbu' Al Arabi Sunday that he doesn't want to annex Egypt but wants the Egyptian people to take power themselves.

The letter was a reply to the magazine's interview with Sadat two weeks ago. Sadat had said of Khadafy, "What does the Colonel want? If anyone could answer this question, we could all rest in comfort."

In his letter, Khadafy said that when he met Sadat in Alexandria last August, "I asked the president what was his problem and he said 'you want to rule Egypt.'

"The truth is that I do not want to rule Egypt, but I want the Egyptian people to rule Egypt. I want peasants, workers, students, and small employes to march and take over the authority and run the country by popular will as is the case in Libya."

Chiropractic unit recognized as accrediting agency for colleges

By DR. RALPH SCHMIDT
(President, Foundation for Chiropractic Education and Research)

Recently, the Council on Chiropractic Education and its commission on accreditation were recognized by the U.S. Commissioner of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, as the accrediting agency for chiropractic colleges in the United States.

Consider the importance of this action to the public. The public today demands that members of its health care professions be the best qualified and best educated persons available. This translates into higher entrance requirements and higher standards in the colleges.

For many years, the Council on Chiropractic Education (CCE) has used the strength of its accreditation process to upgrade the standards of chiropractic education.

The Foundation for Chiropractic Education and Research, which receives 40 per cent of the dues revenues of the American Chiropractic Association, has made grants to colleges in accordance with their progress in achieving their academic goals in the CCE accreditation program.

One year ago, four colleges had achieved accreditation status with the CCE. One was in correspondent status. Two were affiliate members—one in Canada and one in England.

Now, following the federal recognition, that is still the case, but there is this additional factor: five additional colleges have filed letters of intent to apply for accreditation or pre-accreditation status and two colleges have applied for correspondent status.

A year ago, seven colleges were affiliated with the CCE and its accrediting commission. Today the number is 14—every chiropractic college in the world, of which 12 are in the United States.

Thus, federal recognition of the CCE is not only a tribute to its many years of effort in upgrading the educational qualifications of doctors of chiropractic, but its strengthens the hand of this accreditation effort to the benefit of the public.

Dr. Orval L. Hidde of Watertown, Wis., a lawyer as well as a practicing chiropractor and who is chairman of the CCE's Commission on Accreditation, says:

"The commissioner's action represents a de facto notice to governmental bodies, the public at large and the chiropractic profession that the Council on Education's standards and procedures as applied in the accrediting commission's determinations are reliable authority on the quality of educational programs offered by chiropractic institutions."

Dr. Herbert E. Hinton of Dania, Fla., secretary-treasurer of the CCE, warns against complacency. He said, "there can be no slackening of effort, no reduction of concern, no lessening of zeal and no complacency of the purse. Our real achievement is in generating greater opportunties for the development and secure establishment of our profession."

Students in accredited chiropractic colleges must complete two years of pre-chiropractic college level work, mostly in science courses. Four years of scientific courses in chiropractic college follow, with clinical training and experience in the final semesters. More and more as a college climbs the accreditation ladder, its science instructors hold the Ph.D. degree in the discipline they teach, and chiropractic technique courses are taught by doctors of chiropractic.

Federal recognition represents the elevation of accredited chiropractic education to the level of other healing and corrective arts such as medicine, dentistry, osteopathy, optometry, podiatry, etc.

Federal recognition brings to the profession even greater challenges and responsibilities, but also brings the benefits of eligibility for federal grants and benefits for our educational institutions, their faculties and students, and there will be an increase in research related to chiropractic.

The Foundation for Chiropractic Education and Research, which has been the prime funding agency in the accreditation achievements, will continue its efforts to support the upgrading of chiropractic education in the best interests of the public.

These are the colleges that have achieved accreditation status with the CCE:

Los Angeles College of Chiropractic, 920 East Broadway, Glendale, Calif. 91205.

Northwestern College of Chiropractic, 1834 South Mississippi River Blvd., St. Paul, Minn 55116.

One college, Western States Chiropractic College, 4900 N.E. 132nd Ave., Portland, Ore. 97230, is in correspondent status.

An important step in the accrediation process is a thorough self-evaluation by a college, followed by a written report of every facet of its policy, program, procedure and personnel in terms of the objectives of the institution.

Eagleton claims performance of planes hushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., has accused the Air Force and Navy Chief of Staffs of keeping secret a performance report that shows the Air Force's new F-15 jet can outperform the Navy's costlier F-14 plane.

Eagleton said in a recent fly-off at Edwards Air Force Base in California the McDonnel Douglas F-15 performed twice as well as the Grumman F-14 —but that the chiefs of staff kept the information from Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger. The Pentagon denied there had been a competitive fly-off.

The F-15 costs $10.1 million each and the F-14 $15.1 million.

Free Mexican gunrunner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Mexican police sergeant, found guilty of running guns to his own force for use against revolutionaries, was set free this week by a judge who said he had been used and abandoned by his superiors.

Manuel Melendez Vera, 32, was found guilty of trying to ship guns out of the United States without the required authorization.

Melendez, a sergeant in the Guadalajara, Mexico police force, has said he was sent to buy weapons in the United States for use against leftist terrorists active in the Guadalajara region. There is too much red tape involved in buying weapons in Mexico for even the police to cope with, he said.

At the trial of Melendez, Mexican officials would not deny that he was on a mission for the police force.

"I have no doubt that Mr. Melendez is a well meaning police officer," said U.S. District Judge William P. Gray.

"The real villain in this piece was the chief of police who sent this man up to this country and did nothing further" to help Melendez when he was caught, the judge said.

The judge placed Melendez on four years probation, a sentence which is no punishment because Melendez is free to leave the country. He said he would return immediately to Guadalajara and go back to work.

Through an interpreter, he apologized to the judge "for having violated the laws of this country, and I promise not to violate the laws in any other country.

"Since I am an agent of the police, I wish to live within the laws, and that's all."

He spent 76 days in jail after he and a boyhood friend who now lives here, Ignacio Leon Valdovinos, 33, were arrested at Los Angeles International Airport July 4 trying to ship a duffle bag stuffed with guns to Guadalajara aboard a Mexicana Airlines flight.

The judge put Leon on probation for a year, and said he would tell immigration authorities he does not consider the conviction grounds to deport Leon, who as a resident alien is subject to expulsion from the United States for commission of a crime.

$10,000 coin collection stolen

LOMA LINDA (UPI) — A coin collection valued at $10,000 was stolen from the library of Loma Linda University's Sierra Campus this weekend, police reported.

The collection of United States coins was donated in 1968 to the library by Dr. James Barnard, who graduated from Loma Linda in 1926. Some of the coins dated back to 1802.

Police said the thieves entered the library through a window, then forced open two cabinets where the coins were on display.

To slash 12,000 annual fire death toll

Federal burn treatment bill passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Over strenuous administration objections, Congress has passed a measure to expand treatment for burn victims.

The burn program is part of a $45.5 million fire control bill which will become law if President Ford signs it by midnight Oct. 29.

In the bill's preamble, Congress declared that the United States has the highest per capita rate of death and property loss from fire of any major industrial nation.

The bill, approved 381 to 3 by the House Oct. 9, also would create a fire prevention and control unit in the Department of Commerce and a national fire academy to train fire fighters and would provide for additional fire research.

The part the administration opposed would require the National Institutes of Health to establish 25 burn centers — specializing in treatment, research and teaching —and 90 burn programs in general hospitals.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger said in letters to House leaders before passage that the burn program would be "wasteful ... inefficient ... unnecessary," and that the language was "unduly specific."

"Therefore, although we share the concern of Congress and the public for this problem, we believe that no significant benefit would result from the enactment ..." he wrote Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee.

Weinberger said the legislation would prohibit assistance to burn centers already in existence; that it is inefficient for hospitals to set up facilities to treat only burn victims; that the bill duplicates authority already provided in the Public Service Health Act; and that it would involve NIH directly in health care rather than research.

Family Offering Reward for Information On Missing Girl

A 17year-old Pomona girl, missing from home since Oct. 5, is being sought by relatives who have offered $250 for information leading to her return.

The missing person is Kathy Gordon, 1343 W. Holt Ave., who was discovereed gone from her room shortly after 9 that morning.

The girl's father, Mitchell Gordon, a coppersmith, said the reward will be paid to anyone who has information which leads to her return. He asked those with such information to call 623-9222.

The teen-ager is described as white, 5 feet 5 and 120 pounds. She has dark-brown hair and brown eyes.

Gordon said his daughter has no history as a runaway and there was no incident at home that day which could have causeed her to leave voluntarily.

Her absence has been reported to Pomona police, Gordon said.

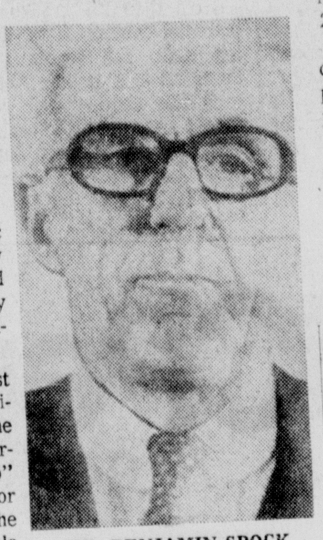
To stay home

Spock wants U.S. parent subsidies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dr. Benjamin Spock, an authority on child care for four decades, says American society should provide parents with an incentive to stay home and take care of their children.



DR. BENJAMIN SPOCK

"When work is an economic necessity," the famed baby doctor said, "the state should pay whoever has to stay home and care for the children."

Spock, 71, paints an almost utopian state-supported environment for parents, what he calls "a very pleasant gathering place, a luxurious club" where parents can care for their children and at the same time talk with people their own age and participate in hobbies, extension courses and discussions in literature and art.

This, he told the American Academy of Pediatrics Monday, would release the mother or father from the feeling of being trapped in the home.

Spock said society is accepting the liberated woman, but has not provided for the offshoot of that phenomenon—the care of children.

In Russia and China and in the kibbutzim of Israel, Spock said, children are raised well in a group situation because a child care person is a revered part of society. Here, he said, "just to take care of a child is very low prestige work." As a result, many American day care centers are not of the quality demanded for proper child care, Spock said.

The author of "Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care" says the critical time in personality and intelligence development is in the first two or three years. The absence of a loving, responding person during that period is certainly detrimental, he warned.

Until society can provide something better, Spock said, employers may be compelled to provide parttime jobs for parents who must share the child rearing task.

He recommended that an involved individual, whether a parent, grandparent or other responsible person, should take care of the children during at least a majority of the youngsters' waking hours.

Business exec feels surtax could damage

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — A National Federation of Independent Businesses official contends the imposition of a surtax on all corporations could be damaging to the small businessman.

Neil Heard, assistant to the federation's president, said Tuesday that the proposal by President Ford would hit hard at 2,280,000 small firms.

At present, many of those firms can't earn enough before current taxes to maintain stability, he said.

However, Heard hailed the "return to the trust busting of Teddy Roosevelt" which was implied in Ford's announcement that antitrust laws would be rigidly enforced.

Inflation cited for property value jump

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Property values in Los Angeles County increased 26.9 per cent during the last five years, Assessor Philip E. Watson said Monday.

During the same period in the Los Angeles-Long Beach metropolitan area, Watson said the consumer price index jumped 27.9 per cent.

"Runaway inflation, spiraling labor and material costs and a demand by buyers for particular areas, such as oceanfront property, have all contributed to an unbelievable rise in the prices at which properties have been bought and sold in recent years," he said.

Watson's assessment in the 78 cities and the unincorporated areas of the county rose from $17.9 billion in 1969 to $22.7 billion in 1974. The assessments are computed at 25 per cent of the fair market value.

Residential assessment increases included:

—A 31 per cent jump in luxury homes in Hidden Hills.

—An overall 50 per cent increase in Palos Verdes Estates.

—Rolling Hills, another seaside city, jumped nearly 57 per cent, with single-family homes in Rolling Hills Estates up 49 per cent.

—A 24.6 per cent jump in the city of Los Angeles.

—A 39 per cent increase in Bell Gardens and 30 per cent in Vernon, due primarily to industrial development.

"Transition from one use to another may cause one part of the county to appreciate in value at a much more rapid rate than others," said Watson.

"For example, a change from a single-family residential to residential income or the development of raw acreage to full-fledged communities, or the location of a major new industrial complex, will have a great effect on assessed values."

Teachers oppose L.A. school racial survey

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The president of a city's teachers group this week condemned a racial survey of public school students to be taken later this month, saying it was an invasion of privacy and may violate the constitution.

Bob Unruhe, president of the 16,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles said the Oct. 29 survey is aimed at gathering information about Spanish-surnamed and Asian-American students.

He said the survey forces teachers "to invade the privacy of every family whose children attend Los Angeles schools."

The six-page survey, which comes with a warning to teachers to be aware of the "sensitivities involved," is expected to cost the school district more than one million instructional hours.

Soviet-trained guerrillas

To set up Red Palestine

LONDON (UPI) — Israeli sources say the Soviet Union is training groups of militant Palestinians to form an independent Palestinian state and ensure the policies would be acceptable to the Kremlin.

The sources said this week that material captured during Israeli arrests of suspects in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and interrogations of those arrested revealed the plan.

They said small groups of Palestinian guerrillas have been trained politically and militarily in the Soviet Union in the past few months and that more are being "processed."

The purpose is to establish a framework of highly trained political and military leaders who would be able to assert their influence from the time an independent Palestinian state emerged, the informants said.

Moscow is also shipping substantial quantities of arms, including some sophisticated weapons, to Palestinian guerrillas in Syria and Lebanon, the sources added.

Last week the Soviet Union formally endorsed the Palestinian demand for a separate state and their full and equal participation at the Geneva Middle East peace conference.

They said arms have been supplied and continue to be supplied to the Palestinians by the Soviet Union, Bulgaria and East Germany.

They said the appointment of Aleksander Soldatov as envoy in Beirut underscores the importance Moscow now attaches to the Palestinians as a major factor in its sharpening diplomatic contest with the United States for influence in the Middle East.

New Greek civil government

Moves against old junta leaders

By JOHN RIGOS

ATHENS (UPI) — Greece's three-month-old civilian government has decided to move against the military men who ruled the country with an iron fist for seven years.

Prosecutor Constantine Fafoutis charged former dictator George Papadopoulos and four top junta leaders Monday with "moral responsibility for premeditated multiple murder" in last November's student riots.

Fafoutis said testimony from more than 300 witnesses indicated the junta killed at least 18 persons, injured hundreds and "most probably" left another 40 dead in crushing the Athens Polytechnic revolt.

Fafoutis also said there "were grounds to believe" several victims were secretly buried by the government.

At the time of the incident, the military regime said 15 persons died and 150 were injured when army tanks stormed the university to oust students who locked themselves in the building.

If indicted and convicted, Papadopoulos, who seized power in 1967 and was ousted soon after the revolt, could face a firing squad or life imprisonment.

Brig. Gen. Dimitrios Ioannides, former head of the country's feared military police, was also accused of murder in the rebellion.

Health-Education and Welfare study

Urges stringent hearing aid code

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government study, critical of high prices, poor quality and fast-talking sales people, recommends that hearing aids be sold only by written prescription from an audiologist or physician.

"The task force believes that the misevaluation and misfitting problems associated with hearing aids can be eliminated by making hearing aids prescription devices," said the report prepared for Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

"Changing the status of hearing aids from an over-the-counter device to a prescription device would require that a medical evaluation is necessary to determine the need ... prior to the purchase."

It specifies the prescriptions should be written.

Of an estimated 13.2 million persons with significant hearing loss —millions more have lesser hearing problems —more than 7.5 million are potential candidates for hearing aids, the report said. Some 2.5 to 3 million Americans use hearing aids, and 600,000 units are sold yearly.

The report, released Saturday, also recommends that:

—Hearing aids be labeled "This hearing aid will not restore normal hearing (and) ... will not prevent further hearing loss."

Rocky's kin

May-Dec. nuptials revealed

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — A wealthy spinster confirmed Monday night that she plans to marry a Welsh coal miner's son half her age. She met him while he was working at a hotel in Palm Beach, Fla.

Rachel Fitler, 61, a Rockefeller in-law, said "Well yes, it is about the truth," when asked about reports she will be married to Michael Wilson, 29.

"I know that people think I must be marrying her for her money, but that doesn't come into it," Wilson told reporters at his home in Llay, a village in North Wales.

He said he had been working on a Rockefeller Foundation banquet at the hotel when they met.

"Miss Fitler spotted me. She liked me and sent me an invitation to go and see her at her house in Palm Beach," Wilson said. "She was impressed by me and the work I was doing. She then employed me and the romance started."

Miss Fitler, the aunt of Happy Rockefeller, Nelson Rockefeller's wife, said no date has been set for the wedding.

"Mr. Wilson is over there on business," she said. "When Mr. Wilson gets back from England we'll talk it over."

Fondue maintains cholesterol limit

A cholesterol-limited life is not always a happy one. But for some people on cholesterol-lowered diets, life is looking up. They are enjoying especially delicious egg main dishes without stepping one bit outside their diets.

A superb Baked Tuna Fondue is well within a cholesterol-limited regime when the dish is made with a cholesterol-free egg substitute. It comes in fresh, not frozen, form. It tastes so much like fresh eggs that most people can't tell the difference, and no wonder because the product is made with fresh egg whites. Only the yolk of the egg is replaced by other food products. The yolk of a shell egg is the highest single source of cholesterol in the daily diet; hence the need for a substitute.

Baked Tuna Fondue has a light and lovely texture and a gourmet taste. It's a recipe especially planned to accommodate the low-cholesterol dieter without sacrificing flavor. Canned tuna and nonfat milk combine with egg substitute to make this dish thoroughly acceptable. The seasonings carry on the good work in dried dill weed, onion powder, pepper and a bit of grated Parmesan cheese. If you've been missing delicately delicious egg main dishes, you'll revel in this treat.

You can make another appealing main dish with this egg substitute that comes in a pint carton in fresh, not frozen, form and is available in the dairy case of your supermarket. A delectable main dish, rather on the fancy side, is Spinach Puff. This easy-to-make lower-calorie main dish is helped along by the use of the egg substitute which has only 42 per cent of the calories of shell eggs. Spinach Puff is not a souffle' but it is reminiscent of its lightness and delicacy. Souffles are not on the menu for cholesterol-watchers but Spinach Puff is, and it's a great consolation prize.

Enjoy these ingenious dishes to help along a prudent or cholesterol-limited diet with very good eating.

BAKED TUNA FONDUE

- 1 can (7 ounces) water-pack tuna
- 2 cups day-old bread cubes
- ¾ cup egg substitute
- 2 cups nonfat milk
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- ¼ teaspoon dried dill weed
- ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
- 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Drain and flake tuna; place in 1¼-quart baking dish. Sprinkle bread cubes over tuna. Combine all remaining ingredients, except cheese, mix well and pour over bread. Sprinkle top with cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven 40 minutes, just until mixture is set in center. If desired, garnish with sauteed or broiled diced mushrooms.

SPINACH PUFF

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup nonfat milk
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained
- 1 cup egg substitute

In medium saucepan melt margarine, add onion and cook until tender. Blend in flour and salt. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Stir in spinach. Remove from heat. In small bowl beat egg substitute 2 minutes at high speed of electric mixer. Gently stir into spinach mixture. Turn into greased 1-quart casserole. Bake in 375-degree oven 30 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Arabs raising cane with sugar market?

Many predict the price of a five-pound bag of sugar will reach $2.25 shortly.

"That does not mean that Americans are eating more sugar. It means that there is not enough sugar in the world to satisfy all the new customers — the suddenly rich Arabs or the citizens in countries with gradually improving economies. In the United States, we have a population with more people 35 years or younger. They are a heavy drain on the soft drink and candy market," says Jack O'Connell, director of the Sugar Association, Washington, D.C., which represents the industry.

"This shortage of sugar has been building over a number of years. It is a supply problem. Not a result of Americans suddenly discovering sugar. The Chinese, Japanese, Russians are all bidding for sugar. The United States consumes about 100 pounds a year per person (including sugar used at home and in purchased bread, cakes, pies, soft drinks, candy). We are only about the sixth in total consumption. England and Scandinavia are way ahead of us. And now, with all the new consumers, the market is being crowded. We consume around 11.8 per cent of the world's supply but produce only about half as much as we use. So we have to bid for the other half in the world market. And that is tight today. That is why prices are skyrocketting," he adds.

The oil crisis was due to the Arab countries. Now we tend to blame them also for upping the price of sugar. Many say that rich countries of the Mideast went in for sugar speculation, buying up futures on sugar. Many people believe this theory — but not all.

Certain sugar economists say that is not true. They believe it has been overplayed in the press.

Daniel Dyer, partner of the prestigious firm of sugar economists and brokers, B.W. Dyer & Co., New York, says: "The Arabs' buying of sugar is only one of many causes for the rise in sugar prices. Don't overlook the fact that everybody is buying it. All over the world there has been much hoarding against fear of rising, inflationary prices. We are not eating more. We are hoarding more — taking it off the market.

"This aggressive buildup of sugar inventories around the world has definitely contributed to the higher prices. So when you say that the Arab countries' buying is a major cause, I remind you that is an emotional statement. Not a factual one," Dyer adds.

Prices are going even higher, according to leading sugar experts.

"Next week we are raising our wholesale price to $2.08 per five pounds of sugar. What the supermarkets will charge retail is up to them. Many have already marked up supplies bought at a cheaper price. Others will hold prices, making sugar a loss leader or a store feature," reports Saul Kolodny, assistant vice president and director of economic research, Amstar Corp., the largest sugar refiner in the United States.

"Prices are leaping upward because for many years the world's supply of sugar was inadequate. Raising sugar, either cane or beet, had to compete with land used for raising corn, soy, potatoes, wheat, etc. Where was the profit? Not very much in sugar. But with today's increase in sugar prices, more farmers may decide to go into raising sugar crops. That will be the beginning of the time for lower prices. But you won't see that or any results of that change for at least a year — maybe much longer."

Kolodny adds: "I don't think hoarding by housewives has much to do with higher prices. The basic reason is that there just is not enough sugar to go around."

Turkey is plentiful now; try one for barbecuing

In many parts of the West, the arrival of fall doesn't end the outdoor cooking season. Gather family and friends on a golden autumn day and treat them to a turkey barbecue.

If you have never barbecued turkey, now is a good time to try something new. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports that turkeys are plentiful for October. That means that there will be more than enough turkeys on the market to meet national requirements. Begin your barbecue with high quality, young, tender-meated birds. When shopping for the turkey, look for the USDA grade shield on the label. It means that the poultry has been graded for quality by a Federal or Federal-State grader.

U.S. Grade A turkeys are the highest quality. They're fully fleshed and meaty and have good overall appearance, making them your best choice for outdoor broiling. Youll find the grade shield on packages of turkey parts and on boneless roasts as well as on whole turkeys.

While the grade mark indicates quality, the key to tenderness is the age or class of bird. Young turkeys for instance, are more tender than older ones. Young turkeys may be labeled — young turkey, fryer-roaster, young hen, or young tom. Mature turkeys may be labeled — mature turkey, yearling turkey, or old turkey.

Turkey halves, quarters, or thighs are especially good for barbecuing. Allow ¾ to 1 pound per person. Small turkey quarter roasts are also excellent for barbecuing. Or, young fryer-roaster turkeys weighing 6 to 8 pounds can be cut into individual servings.

The key to a successful charcoal barbecue is to wait until the flames have deminished leaving a solid bed of glowing coals. Poultry tastes best when broiled over hot coals, not in flame or smoke. Start the fire at least 30 minutes ahead of time so you'll have plenty of time for the coals to burn down to ash-gray before the cooking starts.

When the coals are ready, brush the turkey with melted butter or margarine, or your favorite barbecue sauce. The center of the grill will be hotter than the outside edges, so place small pieces like wings, legs, or thighs, near the edges to avoid over-browning. Cooking time ranges from 1 to 1½ hours depending on the size and thickness of the pieces. Turn and baste occasionally to assure even cooking.

Before and after the barbecue, poultry should be handled with care. Keep frozen poultry hard-frozen until time to thaw, and cook promptly after thawing. Use fresh-chilled poultry within 1 to 2 days. Completely cook poultry at one time. Never partially cook, then store, and finish cooking at a later date. Be sure that leftover cooked poultry is stored, loosely wrapped, in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Use within 1 or 2 days. Freeze for longer storage.

Love Apples—Still in Season

The French — living up to their reputation as romanticists — used to call tomatoes love apples. No one seems to know exactly why. One suitably romantic legend is that they were a favorite gift exchanged by young couples.

Whether or not that's true, tomatoes are still a great favorite even though young love no longer has much to do with it. And even though we're well into fall, tomatoes are still in season. In fact, the percentage of California tomatoes marketed is higher in October than any other month and November ranks fairly high. So it's still a good time to put tomatoes into meal planning — and since few fresh fruits are more versatile, you can do that in many ways.

The first order of business is buying tomatoes. Choose ones that are well formed, smooth, well ripened, and reasonably free from blemishes, advise marketing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. If you're looking for fully ripe fruit, select those with an overall rich red color and a slight softness. Softness is easily detected by gentle handling. If the tomatoes at your favorite produce counter aren't fully ripe, look for firm texture and color ranging from pink to light red.

Avoid tomatoes that are overripe and bruised. They're both soft and watery. Don't buy those with sunburn — green or yellow areas near the stem scar — and growth cracks around the stem scar. Also avoid decayed tomatoes which will have soft, water soaked spots, depressed areas, or surface mold.

Since tomatoes are a tropical fruit used as a vegetable, the storage temperature is important. They prefer to be kept above 50 degrees. If you can't find fully ripe tomatoes, it's especially important that you don't refrigerate them. Store them at cool room temperature away from direct sunlight. Refrigeration will stop the ripening process and if tomatoes are ripened after chilling, their inner structure will be watery.

One of the best things about tomatoes is their nutritive value. They are among our most important sources of vitamin C and they're also a good source of vitamin A. Tomatoes hold a good share of their vitamins when cooked.

Even though in many parts of the West the weather doesn't change abruptly when fall comes, many families prefer heartier eating as a change of pace. Beef, Tomato, and Cabbage Scallop and Cheesy Tomato Pie fit in with this desire.

BEEF, TOMATO AND CABBAGE SCALLOP

- 1 pound ground beef or other lean meat
- 2 tablespoons oil (if necessary)
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 2½ cups fresh tomatoes, coarsely chopped
- 2 teaspoons salt
- Pepper
- 4 cups chopped or coarsely shredded cabbage
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs

Brown meat, using oil if the meat is very lean. Add onion and celery; cook five minutes. Add tomatoes, salt and pepper; bring to boiling. Place alternate layers of cabbage and meat mixture in a baking dish and top with bread crumbs. Bake at 375 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Makes six servings.

CHEESY TOMATO PIE

- 4 cups day old bread cut into 1-inch cubes
- ½ teaspoon dried basil
- 3 medium-ripe tomatoes
- 1½ cups grated Swiss or jack cheese
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash hot sauce
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1½ cups milk

Press bread cubes into a 9-inch oiled pie pan. Sprinkle with basil. Remove skin and core of tomatoes; cut into ¼-inch slices. Starting at rim of the pie pan, overlap the tomato slices until bread is covered. Sprinkle with the grated cheese. Combine the remaining ingredients. Pour this mixture gently at the edge of the pan so that it is absorbed by the bread. Bake in a 375-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes, or until the cheese is puffy and brown. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Rice — Accidental Beginnings

Rice is steadily gaining favor with the American consumer who is acquainted with its many uses.

While the rice story started in Asia about 3000 BC, its American history dates back only about 250 years. It started in the colony of Carolina with a handful of rice grains and since has spread across the Southern United States.

In 1964, a ship carrying a cargo of rice grain from Madagascar to England was blown off course and forced to land at Charleston for repairs. The American people there were kind and helpful to the captain and his crew. To express his gratitude, the Captain presented the Governor of the colony with the only gift he had to give — a handful of rice grains.

From such a small beginning, rice spread to Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and California. The warm, moist climate of these states made it a flourishing industry, and today the United States produces one of the world's highest quality rice crops.

Marketing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say that rice is in plentiful supply right now. Rice Pilaf is an accompaniment to a meat course.

RICE PILAF

- 1 cup uncooked long grain white rice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 bouillon cubes
- 2 cups hot water
- 1 4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces (undrained)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place rice in a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with salt. Cook onions and green pepper in fat in a frypan until tender. Add bouillon cubes and water. Stir until cubes are dissolved. Add mushrooms and thyme. Combine mixture with rice in a casserole. Cover and bake 30-40 minutes.

SHRIMP AND EGGPLANT CARIBBEAN — Boil 1 pound frozen shrimp, peeled and deveined. In a skillet, saute in 1-3 cup oil, ½ cup minced onion, 1 eggplant (1¼ pounds) peeled and cut into ½-inch cubes and 2 chopped tomatoes (1½ cups). Stir in 1 can tomato sauce (8 ounces), ½ teaspoon leaf thyme, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper. Add cooked shrimp and heat to serving temperature. Serve over rice. Makes 6 cups sauce.

Utilize rice to s-t-r-e-t-c-h expensive ingredients

Meat goes a lot further when you combine it with the right menu-extending ingredients. . .such as rice and soup.

A package of frankfurters, for example, can generously serve six people when you combine it with three cups of cooked rice, a can of Cheddar cheese soup and a few extra herbs and seasonings.

Or two cups of diced cooked chicken become a meal for six when you add cooked rice, and two cans of cream of mushroom soup, plus flavoring accents.

By combining cream of celery soup and some Cheddar cheese with the cooked rice, plus some frozen broccoli and seasonings, you convert one package of frankfurters into a tasty casserole that feeds six.

Budget-minded meals aren't difficult, although they may take a few more minutes to prepare. The extra time results from chopping or cutting, and adding the various ingredients which provide unique flavor and appetite appeal. . .such as prepared mustard, sliced ripe olives, or a sprinkling of Parmesan cheese.

Rice is the ingredient that does the extending. . .and providing essential nutritional values, as well. Striving for economy is one thing; sacrificing nutrition is another. These recipes have been developed by a registered dietitian with both goals in mind.

CHEESY FRANKFURTER CASSEROLE

- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped broccoli
- 1 can (10-¾ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
- 2 cups cubed sharp Cheddar cheese
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 6 drops Tabasco pepper sauce
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1 package (12 to 16 ounces) frankfurters, cut into 1-inch pieces

Cook broccoli according to package directions. Drain well. Set aside. Heat soup, 1 cup cheese, milk, onion powder, mustard, and pepper sauce. Stir in rice, franks, and broccoli. Turn into a greased shallow 2-quart casserole. Top with remaining cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes 6 servings.

WURSTFEST AND RICE

- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 large green pepper, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1 package (16 ounces) smoked frankfurters, cut in thirds
- 1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
- ½ cup beer
- 4 teaspoons prepared msutard
- 5 to 6 drops Tabasco pepper sauce
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- 2 tablespoons sweet pickel relish

Saute onions in butter until tender, but not brown. Add green pepper and franks. Cook 3 minutes longer. Stir in soup, beer, mustard and pepper sauce. Simmer until thoroughly heated. Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Top each serving with 1 teaspoon sweet pickle relish. Makes 6 servings.

Three cups cooked rice, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 2 cans of mushroom soup . . . voila, a meal for 6!

CHICKEN-MUSROOM CASSEROLE

- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 cup each chopped celery and green peppers
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 3 cups cooked rice
- ½ cup chopped ripe olives, optional
- 2 can (10-¾ ounces each) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute onions in butter until tender, but not brown. Stir in celery, green peppers, chicken, rice, olives, soup, and seasonings. Spoon into a greased shallow 2-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degree for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake 5 minuts longer. Makes 6 servings.

Speedy chili dish for Halloween

All Hallows' Eve is celebrated in many ways throughout the country but sometime during the evening wee hobgoblins and ghosts and their more mature counterparts get together for a hearty snack. A good one is a pot of Beef Chili that you can keep on the stove simmering until everyone is ready to dip into it. Serve with wedges of sliced bread, donuts and cider. der.

HALLOWEEN BEEF CHILI

- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1 onion
- 1 (15 ounce) can red kidney beans
- 1 (15-ounce) can barbecue beans
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chili powder

Brown beef in skillet. Add chopped onion and cook until onion is wilted. Stir in undrained beans, salt and chili powder. Simmer 15 minutes to blend flavors. Makes 6 servings.

Oxenpower taxis

SAIGON (UPI) — If high speed jet, bus and limousine service has got you in a restless mood, slow down a bit in Saigon's slow-as-molasses vehicles.

Horse drawn "buses" ply regular routes in the Saigon suburbs, and a few cents will take you to a lengthy ride along the capital's northern edge.

If one horsepower is not-quite enough, try a two oxenpower vehicle. Oxcart taxis can be hired in Saigon itself or in the provinces at

Budget dishes like these fool diners

Like it or not, we are still in a belt-tightening economy . . . of course you didn't need to be told that! What you would like to learn, no doubt, is how to keep your family heartily and happily fed without ruining your budget.

Two new recipes from the R.T. French Co. in Rochester, N.Y., will please your family, your budget and you.

Saucy Sausage Casserole uses just a quarter pound of pork sausage combined with a package of potatoes au gratin for a tasty and easily prepared budget main dish. Pork sausage is a great way to stretch protein because of its spicy seasoning.

Special Baked Beans is another budget main dish which makes a little meat go a long way. Three or four slices of bacon added to a baked bean casserole do the trick. The dish is easily prepared with a can of pork and beans which get an extra special, "I made them myself" touch, from an envelope of onion gravy mix.

Serve either casserole with tomato soup, a fresh spinach salad, sherbet and milk or coffee.

SAUCY SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

- ¼ pound pork sausage
- 1 or 2 green peppers
- 1 package (5½ ounces) potatoes au gratin
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered

Cook sausage in skillet 10 to 15 minutes, until brown and crumbly. Add 1 chopped pepper; cook 5 minutes longer. Prepare potatoes as directed, except use 2-quart casserole. Stir in sausage and eggs. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, until tender. If desired, slice 1 pepper and arrange on top of casserole after 15 minutes baking.

SPECIAL BAKED BEANS

- ⅛ can (1 pound, 4 ounces) pork and beans
- 1 envelope onion onion gravy mix
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 3 or 4 slices bacon, chopped and partially cooked

Pour beans into 1½-quart casserole; stir in remaining ingredients. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, until hot and bubbling.

Snacks, diets sometimes go together

Who says snacking and dieting don't mix? If you're counting calories, Better Homes and Gardens "Snacks and Appetizers" ($2.49, hardbound, Meredith Corp.) has calorie-trimming recipes to fit your diet. For example, try Italian-Style Nibble Mix. This peppy mixture of cereal and popcorn contains only 64 calories per ½ cup serving and is so tasty you'll forget you're actually dieting. Here are the ingredients and easy directions:

- ¼ cup unpopped popcorn
- 2 cups bite-size shredded wheat squares
- 2 cups puffed oat cereal
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon Italian salad dressing mix

Pop the popcorn in a heavy skillet or saucepan over medium-high heat, using no oil in the pan. Be sure to cover the skillet and shake the pan constantly until all the corn is popped. In 13x9x2-inch baking pan combine the popped corn, wheat squares and puffed oat cereal. Heat in 300-degree oven till warm, about 5 minutes. Remove from oven. Drizzle melted butter or margarine over popcorn-cereal mixture. Combine Parmesan cheese and salad dressing mix; sprinkle over corn. Stir well. Makes 9 cup

Ply ghosts and goblins with Raisin Pumpkin Bread

Halloween festivities date back to the 8th century Druids and, in the later Middle Ages, the Celts of Wales, Ireland and Scotland, who observed the last night of October as their New Year's Eve. Because Nov. 1, called All Hallows of All Saints Day, was devoted to honoring the saints, All Hallows E'en became the night of sorcerers and witches. All-night fires to chase away the evil spirits were part of the All Hallows E'en rites.

Halloween, as we call this holiday today, was first introduced in America in the 1840s by the Irish descendants of the Celts, who immigrated en masse to the United States to escape the terrible potato famine in Ireland. Although it no longer ushers in the New Year, Halloween is still a night for ghosts, goblins and witches, a day of parties and merriment. Like all our special holidays, Halloween today is not complete without its traditional array of such goodies as crisp red apples, salty nuts and handfuls of plump juicy California raisins to treat young tricksters or bake into tempting doughnuts, breads and pies.

To grace this year's Halloween table with all the traditional holiday spirit of past and present, try this recipe for Raisin Pumpkin Bread. This spicy, moist bread is made with two holiday favorites — mellow, rich pumpkin and tangy-sweet raisins. Bake it in traditional loaf pans for family and guests. Or, for fun, use one-pound coffee, fruit or vegetable cans as the baking pans. The unique round loaves tied with big bright bows make delightful gifts your children will enjoy giving their teachers during their school Halloween parties. Thinly sliced and spread with cream cheese, California Raisin Pumpkin Bread makes tasty small sandwiches. Or frost slices with your favorite butter cream frosting to make tiny cakes for parties and snacks.

Raisin Pumpkin Bread stores beautifully in the freezer, so you can save time by baking it now to enjoy throughout Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Halloween-y though they may be, pumpkin comes in cans and raisins come in all sorts of convenient packages (from snack-size to two-pound bags) all the time so you can prepare delicious Raisin Pumpkin Bread all year round.

RAISIN PUMPKIN BREAD

- 1 cup vegetable oil
- 3 cups sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1½ teaspoons each nutmeg, cinnamon and salt
- 1½ cups canned pumpkin
- 1 cup water
- 3½ cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 cup raisins

In large mixer bowl, beat oil, sugar and eggs until smooth. Blend in spices, pumpkin and water. In another bowl, mix flour, soda and raisins. Stir flour mixture into creamed mixture thoroughly. Pour batter into 3 greased (1 pound) coffee cans to within 1½ inches of top. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 15 minutes; turn out onto rack to cool completely. To serve: slice and serve plain or spread with cream cheese.

The recipe makes 8 cups batter, enough for 4 small loaves (3¼x5¾). Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to 1 hour or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

If using small fruit and vegetable cans, follow basic procedure and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until cake tester comes out clean.

Bank computer errs $6 million

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — It may seem poetic justice to anyone whose bank account has ever been fouled up by a computer error.

If it's any comfort, it happens to banks, too.

The Westlands Bank said Thursday that the Bank of America's computer made a mistake, knocking $6.6 million off the small bank's account with the San Francisco giant.

Westlands President Russ Yorwerk said he had received "worried calls from all over the state" because the Bank of America instructed its branches not to honor Westlands checks due to the account shortage. A spokesman for Bank of America confirmed "there was a computer error." It was corrected.

Give budget a break with a casserole

A pasta casserole may be an answer to serving more kind-to-he -budget meals during a week. These are nourishing and flavorful. One combination includes spaghetti with sauteed eggplant baked with a blend of Cheddar cheese soup and sour cream. Serve with a crisp green salad and a pineapple gelatin topped with banana slices.

SPAGHETTI AND EGGPLANT-CASSEROLE

- 1 medium eggplant (about 1½ pounds)
- 8 ounces spaghetti
- Salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup, undiluted
- ½ cup sour cream
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup fine chopped parsley
- ½ cup (2 ounces) grated or shredded Cheddar cheese

Peel eggplant, if desired. Cut crosswise into ¼-inch thick slices. In a large skillet, fry eggplant, a few slices at a time, in ¼ cup hot oil, until lightly browned. Add more salad oil, if necessary. Drain on paper towels. Gradually add spaghetti and 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. In a large bowl, combine cooked spaghetti, ½ teaspoon salt and remaining ingredients, except eggplant and cheese. Place ½ of the spaghetti mixture in 12x8-inch baking dish. Top with a layer of ½ of the eggplant. Repeat layers; sprinkle top with cheese. Bake, covered, in 400-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes 4 servings.

Keep party simple with a tea punch

Bobbing for apples seems a lost art for those who take part in Halloween parties. However, all still expect some real treats at the end of their tricks around the neighborhood. Those who want to keep a small goblins' party simple may serve tea-orange punch with bite-sized donuts and cookies.

GOBLIN PITCHER PUNCH

- 2 tablespoons instant tea
- 1 (46 ounces) can orange Hawaiian punch, chilled
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 2 lemons, sliced
- Whole cloves
- 12 ounces lemon-lime carbonated beverage

Combine tea, orange punch and cinnamon stick. Insert 2 or 3 cloves into each lemon slice and add to tea mixture. When ready to serve, pour over ice cubes and add carbonated beverage. Makes about 2 quarts.

Money on her mind

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lilian Rosener filed suit in federal court Thursday against Harrah's Casino of Reno, Nev., demanding $500,000 damages for injuries suffered when an employe emptying a slot machine slung a bag of silver dollars over his shoulder, hitting her on the head.

Inflation hasn't cut Americans' desire to eat out

NEW YORK (UPI) — Inflation hasn't spoiled the American appetite for eating out, but it has meant that restaurant diners eat less and waste less.

To hear many restaurateurs tell it, business is good. The customer count is up, not just in fast food eateries but also in some table service restaurants, says Henry W. Bolling, president of the National Restaurant Association, Chicago.

But the head count is down in restaurants patronized by middle aged to older customers, and those on a fixed income, he added.

The industry isn't immune to inflation and Bolling said its impact is most apparent in two areas.

"People are trading down in menu items in terms of portion sizes," Bolling said. "More are choosing a smaller steak if there's a choice of weights.

"They're eating what's on their plates. The lettuce underliner that comes under some salads that might have been discarded by the customer is being eaten. They're also eating baked potato skins. They're becoming aware of waste."

In New York, some restaurateurs say their patrons are ordering fewer premeal cocktails, or are switching to less expensive wine or beer.

But in general, Bolling said, the attrition rate of restaurants is down, mainly because multi-unit firms are building more restaurants.

This rosy outlook was shared by many restaurateurs questioned at a lawn party at Gracie Mansion, New York's mayoral residence. The party was given by the Hospitality Industry Foundation of New York, a promotional organization founded earlier this year to boost the city's 10,000 restaurants.

Most of the 400 invited guests were taxi and sightseeing bus drivers, tour guides, elevator operators and hotel bellmen, policemen and women and airline stewardesses, the people visitors to New York are likely to ask about where to dine out.

Stephan Dag, manager of historic Fraunces Tavern in lower Manhattan, said his dinner business was up 50 per cent over last summer. He attributed the increase in customers to a change in management and chef. Dag said he thought restaurant business in midtown might be suffering because of security problems and lack of parking space.

That some restaurants are suffering is obvious to the observer who sees far more empty tables than formerly at midday and in the evening.

Even fast food chains such as Nedick's are hurting. Lewis Phillips, its president, said his dollar volume was unchanged last month because he'd had to raise prices, but his customer count was down.

Middle income customers are spending less and lower income customers and school children are bringing lunch from home to save money, Phillips said, adding:

"A coffee break costs 75 cents—50 cents for a Danish and 25 for coffee, about $1 with tip. That's an exhorbitant price.

Jerry Berns, whose "21" Club in midtown Manhattan is popular with high-salaried executives and celebrities, speculated that neighborhood family restaurant business was off. And he said that while his customers don't actually ask for doggie bags, they aren't averse to them.

"We now suggest that they take with them anything that would be good cold—particularly red meats, which are readily portable," he said.

"Our steaks are large. And I was brought up in a house where one ate everything on his plate. It goes against the grain to throw away good food."

Vincent Sardi, whose restaurant has been a theater district landmark for decades, thinks neighborhood restaurants increased their business this year because many New Yorkers, feeling the inflationary pinch, vacationed at home.

Of all restaurateurs questioned, only Hiroaki Aoki, owner of the Benihana chain of Japanese steakhouse restaurants, reported an increase in dollar volume. He credited this to his chain's simple menu, which consists of steak, chicken, shrimp and vegetables.

"What we worry about is the meat shortage forecast for next year," he said.

Breakfast is important for children

Breakfast is an important meal in any season, but it takes on added importance when kids are back in school. They won't be around the house for mid-morning snacks and so the need to start the day correctly is even more critical. Start them off with a high quality breakfast.

It's hard to judge the quality of many foods you buy, but with the help of U.S. Department of Agriculture grades for key breakfast items you can create a high quality — a Grade A or even AA — breakfast.

Grades are a measure of quality. Products marked with an official U.S. Grade assure you that the food measures up to definite quality standards.

Not all foods have grade standards. But for a breakfast menu of frozen concentrated orange juice, eggs, and buttered toast you will have grades to help you choose.

In order to have products graded for quality a food producer, packer, or processor must meet strict requirements for cleanliness in his plant. When the grade is put on a product, it has specific meaning according to the characteristics of the product.

There are three USDA grades for eggs. The top grade is U.S. Grade AA. The next grade is U.S. Grade A. Although there is a U.S. Grade B, you won't usually find this in food stores. The two higher grades are best for poaching and frying. The white of higher grade eggs is thicker and the yolks stand higher.

When buying eggs, you will also want to consider size (extra large, large, medium, small). But remember, size does not indicate quality.

Butter also has three U.S. Grades. U.S. Grade AA is the best. It is made from fresh sweet cream and has a delicate sweet flavor, fine aroma and smooth creamy texture. The next highest grade, U.S. Grade A is made from fresh cream, has a pleasing flavor and is nearly as good as the top grade. U.S. Grade B butter is generally made from selected sour cream and has a slightly acid flavor.

There are two grades for frozen concentrated orange juice. U.S. Grade A (or U.S. Fancy) frozen concentrated orange juice shows no coagulation and no material separation. It has a very good color and flavor and it is practically free from defects. U.S. Grade B (or U.S. Choice) frozen concentrated orange juice shows no coagulation but may show some separation. It also possesses the appearance of fresh orange juice. Although its color is not as good as Grade A juice, it still has good color and flavor and is reasonably free from defects.

Woman loses her boyfriend over new job

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Carol Sturgill just couldn't stand working inside in a factory all day, so she landed a job where she could get plenty of fresh air. She became a steeplejack.

The switch cost the 29-year-old Sheboygan, Wis., woman her boyfriend, but she didn't seem to mind.

She said her boyfried was jealous because she was working with men all day. A steeplejack climbs steeples for painting, repair or other maintenance.

"So that's the end of that," she said. "He can be replaced —with somebody who's got

WHAT'S IN STORE...

PLEASE PASS THE SKINNY FOOD!

The lovely fall clothes have real "dash" this year, but somehow the long sweater look and clinging jerseys are not compatible with "pudginess." Those of us with this problem are always looking for painless ways to "shape up." Salads and lean hamburger patties suffice just so long, then something more interesting is desirable.

Myrna Hoefer, wife of one our Men-In-Blue, has given me one of her excellent low-calorie recipes to help in the "battle of the bulge."

PINEAPPLE ORANGE CREME

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 tbsp. soft margarine
½ cup non-fat dry milk
½ cup well-chilled orange juice
1 egg white
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1 cup unsweetened crushed pineapple, drained

Mix graham cracker crumbs and margarine. Reserve 1/3 cup crumb mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture into ungreased baking pan (8"x8"x2"). In mixing bowl, beat dry milk, orange juice and egg white on high speed for 3 minutes. Add lemon juice. Beat 3 minutes more. Blend in sugar on low speed ½ minute. Fold in pineapple, pour into pan. Sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Freeze at least 8 hours. Makes 9 servings; 110 calories each serving.

Briahten brisket with spiced fruit

In grandma's day the crisp fall weather brought the tantalizing aromic of pickling spices and vinegar. For when the sun shone on bright red and yellow leaves, the kitchen range was covered with pots of pungent mixtures. Peaches, pears, green tomatoes and cucumbers took on savory taste twists to provide eating enjoyment through the cold winter months.

These spiced fruits and vegetables, preserves and relishes made simple homespun meals more interesting. Often the goodness packed in the cherished jars was used to dress up roasts and other meat entrees.

The recipe for Beef Brisket and Spiced Peaches is an old-timer that exemplifies the pleasing union of meat and spiced fruit.

Perhaps you prepare spiced peaches as grandma did. If not, they can be purchased at the supermarket for use in this fire old-fashioned recipe.

When selecting the brisket, you may find that this traditional favorite, along with the other cuts at the meat counter, is sporting a new label. For labels have been changing throughout the country during this past year since uniform retail identity standards were developed by a cooperative industrywide committee coordinated by the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Under this program the labels on meat packages include the names of species, primal or wholesale cut and retail cut. The label for the cut for the following recipe would read "Beef Brisket Whole Boneless". Sometimes this cut is divided in two pieces. These hour the labels "Beef Brisket Point Half Boneless" and "Beef Brisket Flat Half Boneless." When the brisket is divided into three pieces, the second label line reads "Point Cut Boneless, Middle Cut Boneless" or "Flat Cut Boneless."

Of course, there never was much of a problem with the labeling of beef brisket. But the names of some other cuts were not related to the section of the animal from which they came. For instance, depending upon where you live, you may have purchased a Pike's Peak, Denver or horseshoe roast. These names have been used for a single meat cut which is now labeled "Beef Roung Heel of Round" under the new system.

Inclusion of the primal or wholescle name on the label of a retail cut gives a clue as to the best cooking procedure to use. Since brisket is a less tender part of the animal it is best when cooked with moist heat. In the recipe for Beef Brisket with Spiced Peaches, the meat is simmered in water sparked with spices. This slow cooking in liquid helps soften the connective tissue as well as the muscle. The spices — all'spice and bay leaf, add a special accent to that popular beef flavor.

Next come the spiced peaches. The liquid is drained from them and made into a tangy sauce. The brisket is then decorated with cloves, brushed with sauce and baked to give the meat a sparkling glare. The spicy peaches come to the table in the remining sauce with the brisket.

BEEF BRISKET AND SPICED PEACHES

1 fresh beef brisket, 3 to 5 pounds
Water
1 tablespoon salt
6 whole allspice
1 bay leaf
1 can (29 ounces) spiced peaches
1 tablespoon cornstarch
8 to 12 whole cloves

Cover beef brisket with water in a large frying-pan or Dutch oven. Add salt, allspice and bay leaf; cover tightly and simmer 40 to 50 minutes per pound until meat is tender. Drain peaches; reserve liquid and stir into cornstarch to blend. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add spiced peaches to sauce and cook slowly 2 minutes. Place brisket on rack in open roasting pan and decorate with whole cloves. Brush with sauce from spiced peaches and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes, brushing with sauce once or twice during baking. Serve peaches in sauce with brisket.

Tapioca shortage puzzles consumer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tapioca shortage?

Maybe. And we're talking about the packaged pudding mix, not the raw material that makes it up.

The question arose after a reader in Texas wrote that it was impossible to buy tapioca pudding in her area —except for the already made canned variety which she doesn't care for.

"There has been none in our stores for over a year," she wrote. "The health stores tell me they order it from California but it never comes. Nor are they told why."

The Agriculture Department tells us it's news to them. Tapioca comes from the root of the cassava plant, widely grown in Thailand, Brazil and other countries. The starch from the plant is imported into the United States as a flour. Imports have gone up and down, the department says, but they appeared to be going strong during the first six months of this year.

But a check with the Grocery Manufacturers of America turns up a slightly different story.

"There is somewhat of a shortage" of the packaged pudding, a researcher there tells us. "And it could become more so."

The reason, it turns out, is that tapioca is being diverted for use as a substitute for corn starch. And corn starch is in short supply for the same reason all feed grains are under pressure —cost, export demands, poor weather conditions and so on.

At this point the shortages of packaged tapioca pudding mix appear to be isolated in a few places in the country. There are no predictions on how severe the shortages eventually will become.

A reader in North Falmouth, Mass., asks how food merchandisers can get away with naming a product after a natural ingredient when in reality the ingredient is an imitation. She cited a "blueberry waffle" product which, on reading the label, turns out not to have real blueberries in it after all.

There are no government rules governing such product names. The package has to state that imitation ingredients are involved and that disclosure cannot be hidden in a place where it is not likely to be read.

But the lesson here is that it always is a good idea to read the label to see if the name lives up to the ingredients.

Those cold water laundry products really do work, according to Consumers Union, the testing organization, which turns out the magazine "Consumer Reports," says the average consumer might be able to save $50 a year in gas or electric bills by using cold water instead of warm in the washing machine.

It said two detergents without phosphates but with a sodium carbonate "builder" worked the best when used in hard water. Tests with six leading sellers, it adds, produced clothes that appeared as clean as those done in hot water.

A gourmet choice for any occasion

Canadian bacon has a mild, sweet smoky flavor and is, in fact, smoked boneless pork loin. Fresh, selected government inspected loins are trimmed of fat and bones. They then are carefully cured, smoked until fully cooked, for approval by the USDA meat inspector. The finished product can be labeled in two ways—Canadian-style Bacon or Smoked Pork Loin.

Canadian Bacon has been on restaurant menus for years, as the gourmet meat portion of Eggs Benedict. More recently, it has been introduced to millions of Americans by fast-food hamburger operations now open for breakfast.

For the experienced homemaker interested in trying new recipes or recipes adapted from other ideas, we offer Canadian Bacon Rose' and Canadian Bacon Quiche Lorraine.

Less adventurous souls will enjoy using fully cooked Canadian Bacon in the Roasted and Glazed Canadian Bacon recipe, or Canadian Bacon Baked with Apple Butter as published in the mini-cookbook available from the Canadian Bacon Council, Barrington, Ill. 60010

CANADIAN BACON ROSE

1 pound Canadian bacon slices
½ cup rose wine

Place Canadian bacon slices in frying pan. Pour in wine and slowly heat Canadian bacon to serving temperature, turning slices once. Do not boil. Use remaining wine as sauce.

CANADIAN BACON QUICHE LORRAINE

9 inch unbaked piecrust
2 teaspoons chives or green onions, chopped
¾ cup Canadian bacon, diced
½ cup Swiss cheese, diced small
4 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white peppper
1 pinch nutmeg

Line a pie dish with piecrust, in a small, heavy saucepan, saute bacon and green onions in small amount of oil. Cover bottom of piecrust with sauteed bacon and green onions. Sprinkle ½ cup diced Swiss cheese into piecrust. In mixing bowl combine remaining cheese, eggs, milk, cream, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Mix well. Pour mixture over sauteed bacon and onions into piecrust. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for 30 minutes longer or until custard is well set.

ROASTED AND GLAZED CANADIAN BACON

1 piece 2 or 2½ pound Canadian bacon
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 13½ ounce can crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup water

Place Canadian bacon fat side up in shallow baking pan and add water. Bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees. While meat is heating, combine remaining ingredients to make paste. Remove Canadian bacon from oven and spread paste liberally on all sides. Return to oven and bake until nicely glazed, about 30 minutes.

CANADIAN BACON BAKED WITH APPLE BUTTER

1 piece Canadian bacon, 2 or 2½ pounds
1 jar apple butter, 4 or 6 ounces
½ cup water

Place Canadian bacon in open pan. Insert meat thermometer. Add water and bake at 325 degrees for 1½ hours, or to 170 degrees internal temperature. Heat apple butter to boiling. Remove meat from oven and spread apple butter generously on all sides. Return to oven and bake until nicely glazed (about 20 minutes). Serve thinly sliced, with fried apple slices, and garnish with endive, if abailable. Try leftover apple butter and slice of lettuce for a unique cold sandwich.

Oats and potatoes served as treats?

NEW YORK (UPI) — A dish of oatmeal or mashed potatoes would draw a "yuck" from children celebrating Halloween this year. They expect, and probably will get, candy, cookies and chewing gum.

But potatoes and various oatmeal concoctions are part of Scotland's Halloween tradition, which goes as far back as Celtic and Anglo Saxon times. Oatmeal and potatoes, like bobbing for apples, were not as much a treat as they were devices for foretelling the future.

One Scottish dish consisted of the inner husks of oats, soaked in lukewarm water and left to sour. The sediment left after the solids were strained out was cooked with butter and served from a bowl containing a ring. According to superstition, the girl who received the ring in her portion of sowans, or porridge, would be the first to marry.

In the Scottish Highlands, griddle cakes called bonnachs salainn, or salt bannocks, were served instead. They were thin, kneaded cakes made from oatmeal, fat, baking soda, hot water and salt—lots of salt, enough to bring on dreams if not nightmares.

If the hapless eaters could sleep after that snack, their dreams were supposed to reveal their future. Tradition dictated that a spoken word or a drink of water to wash down the cakes would keep the charm from working.

In modern times, a cake with a coin baked in it has replaced the bowl of cereal and the salty pancakes as a fortune telling device.

In The Scots Kitchen, F. Marian McNeill says the cake should be a plain white one made from batter containing a variety of small charms wrapped in grease proof (waxed) paper.

The objects most often used are a ring to foretell marriage, a button for bachelorhood, a thimble for spinsterhood, a coin for wealth, a wish bone for one's heart's desire, a horse shoe for good luck and a swastika for happiness.

Bobbing for apples was another way of looking into the future. In England, a lucky year was thought to be ahead for anyone who could retrieve an apple or a sixpence coin from a tub of water with his mouth without using his teeth. Or he could try to spear a floating apple with a fork instead.

Crowdie, which was oatmeal prepared much like the modern breakfast cereal, was also a Halloween tradition in Scotland. Sometimes the grain was mixed with water or buttermilk until it was the consistency of pancake batter. Or it might be toasted and mixed with lightly beaten cream and sweetened and flavored to taste. Or mixed with cream, freshly churned butter and either salt or sugar to taste.

Today, Jack o' lanterns made from hollowed out pumpkins symbolize Halloween to American children. These spooky figures also can be traced back for centuries. Similar objects were carved from turnips in Scotland.

One legend attributes their name to that given nightwatchmen. But Irish folklore says the spooky lanterns commemorate a man named Jack, who was barred from heaven and condemned to walk the earth carrying one until Judgment Day. This was his punishment for stinginess and for playing practical jokes on the devil.

Builds air terminal

In September, 1963, the Port Authority began work on a $400 million project to make Newark Airport the newest, most improved air terminal facility in the New York metropolitan region.

HEARTY HALLOWEEN STEW

Cook 1 pound ground beef in large pan, stirring to crumble. Pour off excess fat. Stir in contents of 1 envelope seasoning mix for sloppy Joes, a one-pound can of tomatoes, 1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni, a one-pound can of pork and beans and 2 cups water. Cover and simmer 15 minutes to cook macaroni.

Fee time is near for car, boat owners

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's 16 million car and boat owners will receive registration renewal notices by mid-November, Department of Motor Vehicle officials said today.

The notices—being mailed at a rate of 500,000 a day—will be about a month early this year.

"The early mailing will give motorists up to three months to pay their renewal fees," said DMV Director Robert Cozens. "They will be able to plan their payments around their year-end holiday expenses."

Q: "Really now, aren't all dog foods about the same?"

A: No. Ingredients differ. Some taste better than others. Not all are completely balanced. Some have varying amounts of vitamins, minerals and protein. That's why you should look for products like Blue Mountain Super Meat Loaf. It's specially formulated for your dog. So he gets the taste he really likes and the protein, vitamins and minerals he really needs.

Selecting meat is guessing game

Not long ago, cooks looked to the friendly butcher behind the counter for advice on selecting cuts of meat and ways to prepare them for the family's dinner. But with the advent of self-service supermarkets, the personal touch of the meat retailer's guidance disappeared. Selecting meat became a guessing game unless the shopper rang the bell.

This situation has changed for the better since uniform retail meat identity standards were developed to help eliminate consumer confusion at the meat counter. The list, drawn up by an industry-wide committee, coordinated by the National Live Stock and Meat Bord, reduced the more than 1,000 frequently fanciful names that were used to identify retail meat cuts to 315 descriptive anatomical names.

The program, introduced just one year ago, has already been accepted and put into use throughout the country. In fact, eight out of the top ten supermarket chains in the United States already have or are planning to introduce the new standard meat names. To date, 32 states have recognized the program and have either used it as a guideline for legislation or have suggested voluntary compliance.

The program helps the consumer by letting her know exactly what meat cut she is buying no matter in what store she is selecting it. For the new labels provide a three-part description of each package of meat: the species of the animal, the wholesale or primal cut and the specific retail cut name.

For example, consider selecting pork chops to be stuffed. The first line of the label on the package begins with the word "Pork." Next to it, and on the same line, is printed LOIN, the primal cut which tells where the meat comes from on the animal. On the next line is the standard retail name, in this case "Rib Chops for Stuffing." Each of these chops has a pocket for stuffing cut in it by the meat retailer. The pocket is cut from the bone side of the chop so that it does not need to be skewered shut and will automatically close upon cooking.

Are you thinking you haven't stuffed pork chops lately? Or perhaps you've never prepared this spectacular table treat. In either case, this recipe for Banana Stuffed Pork Chops is for you. It calls for mixing mashed banana, cooked rice and grated cheese for an exotic stuffing. The mixture may sound unusual, but the result is delicious. Once you've tried these savory chops with their delicate banana stuffing and tomato topping you are sure to make them again.

Rib chops cut 1¼ to 1½ inches thick with pockets are required. Perhaps they will be labeled "Pork Loin Rib Chops for Stuffing" in the meat department where you shop. In case you have difficulty finding chops with pockets, the recipe includes directions for making them.

BANANA STUFFED PORK CHOPS

- 6 pork rib chops for stuffing, cut 1¼ to 1½ inches thick
- ¾ cup cooked rice or wild rice mix
- ½ cup mashed banana
- ½ cup grated pasteurized process cheese
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium tomato, cut in 6 slices, if desired
- Minced parsley

Combine cooked rice, banana and cheese and fill pockets in chops. Lightly brown on both sides in lard or drippings; season with salt and pepper and place on rack in roasting pan. Cover lightly with foil and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 25 minutes. Place a slice of tomato on each chop, sprinkle with minced parsley and bake 5 minutes longer or until done.

If pockets have not been cut in chops, make them by cutting into each chop along the rib bone and parallel to the surface of the chop.

Freezer is hedge against inflation

It's usually claimed that convenience is the main benefit you should expect to derive from a home food freezer. But today, with grocery prices high and still rising, many homemakers are becoming convinced that an inventory of home-frozen foods is probably their best hedge against inflation.

"How much you really can save in dollars, as well as in time and energy, depends on how effectively you use your freezer," says Pauline Church, home service adviser for the Republic Molding Corporation, Chicago.

Effective usage, according to her definition, involves all of these factors:

1. Taking advantage of special prices on foods your family enjoys when such foods are in good supply.
2. Freezing only fresh foods of high quality.
3. Selecting suitable varieties of fruits and vegetables at their peak of ripeness.
4. Preparing and packaging foods promptly and properly.
5. Loading the freezer correctly for best operating efficiency.
6. Keeping contents organized for easy selection and inventory control.
7. Rotating freezer contents, using older packages first and, ideally, replacing all foods within a year's time.

Even if some of the recommended procedures for preparing and packaging foods seem troublesome, don't be tempted to take shortcuts. Their purpose is to prevent loss of quality in frozen foods and thus protect your investment. So read and follow instructions carefully.

Among the factors known to cause loss of quality are enzymes and air, working separately or in tandem to bring about changes in color, flavor, and texture. Another is evaporation of moisture, which results in the condition known as freezer burn.

"This is why proper packaging is emphasized so strongly," the home service advisor explained. "Unless containers and wrapping materials are moisture-vapor resistant and specifically designed to withstand the rigors of low-temperature storage, they won't provide adequate protection."

Most widely recommended are rigid containers, which are not only moisture-vapor resistant, but also completely taste-free. Molded of sturdy frost white plastic with airtight lids, these containers withstand temperatures as low as 40 degrees below zero without splitting or cracking, and as high as 243 degrees Fahrenheit without peeling or losing their shape.

Considering the value of the food that goes into a freezer, the slightly higher cost of really dependable packaging is easily justified. And when you select containers like Freezettes, which can be sterilized and re-used indefinitely, your investment will be spread out over many seasons. Any item you can recycle is more economical in the long run.

Your choice of packaging also plays a role in the efficient use of freezer space. Stackable square or rectangular containers, for example, can fit snugly into corners without wasting precious inches.

For the household where mealtime attendance is uncertain, freeze favorite foods in varying amounts, to avoid thawing and heating more than needed. Smaller containers come in especially handy when there's an unexpected guest or two at dinner time.

Minerals

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas ranks among the top mineral producing states in the nation. The state ranks fifth in the nation in natural gas and petroleum.

Other leading mineral resources in the state include bituminous coal, lead, zinc, cement, gypsum, stone, clay, salt and sand.

OATMEAL-WHEAT BREAD

Combine 2 cups whole wheat flour, ¼ cup instant mashed potato granules, 3 packages active dry yeast and 1 tablespoon salt in large bowl. Heat 2 cups milk, 1/3 cup honey and ¼ cup shortening until lukewarm and add to flour mixture. Beat at low mixer speed for ½ minute, scraping bowl frequently. Beat 3 minutes at medium speed. Stir in ½ cup rolled oats and 2½ to 3 cups all-purpose flour, enough to make a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and elastic, 7 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease all surfaces. Cover and let rise in warm place 1 to 1½ hours, or until double in bulk. Punch down, divide in half, cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out each half on floured surface to a 12- by 7-inch rectangle. Roll up tightly, jelly roll fashion, starting with 7-inch side. Seal seam and ends. Place seam side down in two well-greased bread pans. Cover and let rise again until double, 45 to 60 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees 35 to 40 minutes until golden brown.

Now is time for serving apple crisp

The fall is apple-eating time and what better way to treat friends than with a chewy Apple Crisp. Top with whipped cream or ice cream, if your diet permits.

APPLE CRISP

- 4 medium cooking apples, pared, cored and thinly sliced
- ½ cup dark corn syrup
- ¼ cup hot water
- ¼ cup margarine
- ¾ cup quick oats
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup unsifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup chopped pecans
- pecans

Grease 8x8x2-inch baking pan. Place apples in pan. Mix corn syrup and hot water; pour over apples. Mix together margarine, oats, brown sugar, flour and salt until crumbs form; stir in pecans. Sprinkle mixture evenly over apples. Bake in 350-degree oven 45 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Makings of party in cheese, wine

Fall is a great time for entertaining and cheese and wine tasting is a great excuse for having a party. A variety of cheese from the California milk industry is the basic ingredient for some of the tastiest nibbles yet to be found on any hors d'oeuvre tray. Always in perfect harmony with wine and other beverages, cheese hors d'oeuvres whet the appetite, please the palate and are truly enjoyed by everyone. They're in tune for a get together during the Fall Cheese Festival.

A really good hot hors d'oeuvre is something a hostess can rely on. This Monterey Quiche idea is hot from the oven and spicy as well with diced green chilis. A tasty mixture of grated Monterey jack and romano cheese, milk, eggs and seasonings is baked until golden to serve, cut into inch squares and place on crackers or toast squares. Sour cream and a green olive slice make a pretty garnish which compliments the flavor too.

A couple of attractive and delectable cold cheese hors d'oeuvres are especially handy because they can be prepared ahead. The cheese and ham ribbons look so chic and are mighty flavorful, too. To make them, stack slices of Monterey jack, provolone cheese and ham alternately, spreading horseradish between for a little flavor nip. After wrapping and chilling, this large sandwich is easy to slice into fingers. Bite-size cheese balls to spear on picks are another simple to make and eat idea. For these, combine grated Monterey jack and grated provolone with mustard and worcestershire sauce for seasoning. The finishing touch is a coating of chili powder.

Serious cheese and wine tasters will also appreciate a selection of cheeses in blocks or wedges to slice and enjoy as is, savoring the natural flavors.

MONTEREY QUICHE HORS D'OEUVRES

- 3 cups grated Monterey jack cheese (12 ounces)
- ¾ cup grated romano cheese
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons milk
- ⅜ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 (4-ounce) can diced green chilis
- Square crackers
- Dairy sour cream and stuffed green olives for garnish

Mix cheeses and oregano. Beat eggs with milk, salt and 1 tablespoon flour. Butter 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle remaining 1 tablespoon flour over bottom. Layer cheese mixture and drained chilis in pan. Drizzle egg mixture over all. Bake in 375-degree oven 35 minutes or until light golden. Cool about 15 minutes then cut into 1-inch squares. Serve each square on a cracker. Garnish each with a dab of sour cream and a green olive slice. Makes about 6 dozen.

CHEESE AND HAM RIBBONS

- 1 (6-ounce) package sliced Monterey jack cheese
- 1 (6-ounce) package sliced provolone cheese
- 1 (4-ounce) package sliced ham
- Prepared horseradish

Stack cheese and ham slices alternately, spreading horseradish between each layer. Trim edges evenly. Wrap and chill. Slice into bite-sized pieces. This may be prepared 2 or 3 days ahead. Makes 28 pieces (2x1¼x½-inches).

SNAPPY CHEESE BALLS

- 3 cups grated Monterey jack cheese
- 1 cup grated provolone cheese
- 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
- 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- 3½ teaspoons chili powder

Mix cheeses, mustard, worcestershire sauce and 1½ teaspoons chili powder. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in remaining 2 teaspoons chili powder. Chill. Serve with picks. Makes 4 dozen balls.

New product ends fish cooking woes

What's economical, quick to fix, good tasting and nutritious? Fish, of course, the main dish that answers so many meal-planning needs.

But fish can be a very sticky problem — literally. The low-fat content of fish may be great for calorie-counters, but not for the cook. It's the fat content in foods that lubricates them during cooking to prevent sticking. Since fish contains so little fat, it requires special attention.

Now there's a new product to help you solve that sticking problem. New Cooking Ease, a natural vegetable cooking spray, has a special blend of natural vegetable ingredients that make it unsurpassed in preventing fish from sticking during frying, baking, all kinds of cooking.

Use favorites in casserole

Good casserole recipes are a great boon to cooks because they're so economical and easy to prepare. But winning your family over to casseroles isn't always easy. Some families avoid them because casseroles are often designed to disguise foods they don't like or leftovers from another meal.

One way to have the advantages of a one-dish dinner and applause, too, is to make a casserole with the basic meat and potatoes combinations people really like to eat. Meat is a mainstay in the American diet, and beef is our favorite. Ground beef is one of the best buys for families on a tight food budget — and a familiar favorite no matter how it's served.

Potatoes, too, are the favorite vegetable of most families and provide good hearty flavor and essential nutrients at a very reasonable price. Potatoes are an excellent source of vitamin C and provide some of the vitamin B-1 and niacin everyone needs daily. Potatoes even contribute more iron to the American diet than any other vegetable because we eat them so often.

Beef and Potato Combination Casserole is sure to end the controversy over one-dish meals in your household. It's a winning way to put together favorite food plus provide your family with good nourishment. All casseroles are convenient to serve, and this particular one-dish dinner is especially economical because you add no fancy ingredients that require a special trip to the market. Serve it with a green salad and hot rolls. See if you don't satisfy and silence the casserole critics in your family.

BEEF AND POTATO CASSEROLE

- 1½ cups dry bread crumbs
- 2 cups tomato juice
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 4 large potatoes (6 to 8 ounces each), peeled
- 2 tomatoes, sliced thickly
- 2 medium onions, sliced thickly
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- Paprika

In large bowl, moisten bread crumbs with ½ cup tomato juice and eggs. Add meat, oregano, salt and pepper; mix well. Cut potatoes lengthwise into medium-thick slices. Shape one-sixth meat mixture into a pattie. "Sandwich" between two slices of potato. Repeat to make six "sandwiches." In deep, rectangular 2-quart casserole, arrange "sandwiches" in a row, standing on lengthwise edge, tucking slices of tomato and onion between "sandwiches."

Arrange extra potato slices around edge of casserole. Pour remaining tomato juice over casserole. Cover and bake at 400 degrees for one hour or until potatoes and meat are done. Sprinkle with cheese and paprika and return to oven to melt cheese. Serve each person a "sandwich" with some tomato, onion and extra potato slices on the side.

Rams gamble in Hadl trade

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For five future high draft choices, the Los Angeles Rams have gambled by dealing veteran quarterback John Hadl to the desperate Green Bay Packers.

The trading of the 13-year veteran Hadl left the Rams with James Harris, a sparingly used reserve, as their No. 1 quarterback and Ron Jaworski, an as yet untried rookie, as a backup.

Hadl, 34, the National Football Conference's 1973 Player of the Year but unimpressive this year—possibly because of arm troubles—goes to an offense muted Packer team that was hurting at quarterback.

The surprise shuffle came after Los Angeles went looking for a third quarterback as insurance.

"Green Bay came to us with an offer we couldn't refuse," Ram General Manager Don Klosterman said. "The draft choices put us in excellent shape. We obviously wouldn't have made the trade if we didn't think Harris and Jaworski would give us the quality quarterbacking we need."

The Packers, unhappy with the efforts of Jerry Tagge—who has started all season but was unable to generate much of an offense—gave up first, second and third round draft choices in 1975 and a first and second round choice in 1976 to Los Angeles.

Hadl, who was benched last week after the Rams were upset by Green Bay the previous Sunday, was not available for comment.

"It is the Rams' opinion that John Hadl—a fine quarterback —should be of invaluable aid to Green Bay immediately and in the future," a terse club statement said in the announcement of the trade Tuesday.

Hadl is the second veteran quarterback to be let go by the Rams in two years and both had suspected arm troubles. Roman Gabriel was sent to Philadelphia in 1973.

Hadl, who played 11 years with San Diego before coming to Los Angeles, has thrown for more than 29,000 yards in his career. He was surprised and upset at being benched after the Rams were upset by Green Bay.

The Packers tried to get Hadl a year-and-a-half ago from the Chargers but were not willing to meet San Diego's price of two first round draft picks and a player of John Brockington's caliber.

Although a rugged 6-foot-1, 214-pounder who's never had a serious injury in his career, Hadl admitted his arm froze up on him at the end of last season. He has denied arm troubles this season, however, despite sluggish passing performances.

Harris, who also played the second quarter of the Rams' loss to Green Bay, started against San Francisco Sunday and completed 12-of-15 passes for 276 yards and three touchdowns in a 37-14 Rams victory. It was his first major start with the Rams.

Green Bay Coach Dan Devine said Hadl's "expertise, ability and leadership qualities should be of great value to the team."

Olympics go to Moscow

VIENNA (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee (IOC) today awarded the 1980 summer Olympics to Moscow, marking the first time the games will be staged in a Communist country, and awarded the Winter Games to Lake Placid, N.Y., the only candidate.

The losing bidder for the Summer Games was Los Angeles.

Lord Killanin, the IOC president, announced the decision on the third day of the 75th IOC Congress in the Vienna town hall. He said the vote was secret and no figures would be announced.

"The vote was taken secretly and will not be disclosed," said IOC Director Monique Berlioux. She denied a statement by the successful Russian delegates that they had received 61 of the 64 votes cast.

As the Russian delegates cheered the decision, Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley said he was disappointed. "But there can only be one winner and we think we were given a fair hearing," he said.

State Senator Ron Stafford of New York said Lake Placid was delighted at the news. He said the 1980 Winter Games would be small and friendly.

Moscow was always a clear favorite to get the Games, according to many IOC members. They pointed out that the Soviet capital only just lost to Montreal for the right to stage the 1976 Games and that no city in a Communist country had yet hosted the Games.

Lake Placid was also a clear choice after the Canadian resort of Vancouver-Garibaldi had pulled out of the running earlier this month for financial reasons. Lake Placid will be staging the Games for the second time. It hosted them first in 1932.

Alexander Gresko, secretary general of the Russian bidding committe, predicted Moscow would win comfortably.

Gresko said Moscow's presentation of its bid to the IOC on Tuesday was "a great success. There was no serious objection against Moscow. Twenty out of 21 federations supported Moscow. The only objection came from the Archery Federation in regard to our facilities. "We understand this and the facilities will be improved."

Greshko said "our government will guarantee freedom of movement and will make great efforts to faciliate entry into our country for Olympic visitors."

Greshko said he thinks Moscow deserved priority over Los Angeles because it was IOC tradition not to allocate Summer and Winter games to the same country and to change continents of Olympic sites every four years.

Since Montreal will stage the 1976 games and Lake Placid was the only bidder for the 1980 Winter Games, Moscow stands out as the logical choice for the 1980 Olympic Summer event, he said.

Moscow's presentation was preceded on Tuesday by the presentation of Los Angeles. Its six-man delegation, headed by Bradley who stressed that freedom of movement for all athletes, newsmen and spectators would be guaranteed in California.

"It will not require special arrangements to afford such freedom," Bradley said. "That is our custom in America."

One IOC member described the presentation of Los Angeles as "excellent and very informative. Their presentation was really excellent. But they don't stand a chance."

L.A. considers bid for 1984

VIENNA (UPI) — Los Angeles today lost the battle against Moscow for the 1980 Olympics but will probably bid for the 1984 Games, Mayor Tom Bradley said.

"There is a strong consensus among our delegation that we should bid for the 1984 Games," Bradley said. "But we will have to talk to the people of Los Angeles before making a commitment."

Bradley said he was disappointed that Los Angeles did not win the Games.

"We put on a strong presentation and we believe we were equipped to host well organized Games," he said. "But we realize that we fought an uphill battle and we think we did a good job in face of all the odds against us.

"I congratulate Moscow for having been successful and wish them good luck in hosting the games."

EDWARDS GETS SAVE

McKay says Haden victim of SC's success

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Southern California quarterback Pat Haden, once called by his coach the best passer he had ever seen, has only completed 20-of-54 passes in five games.

What's more, he has thrown only two touchdown passes this year and has been intercepted six times.

"I'm not basically worried about his passing," said Trojan Coach John McKay. "But I'm sorry for him as a person for his lack of success as a passer. I probably haven't helped him a lot because of the (praiseworthy) things I've said about him and my play calling."

After an opening season loss to Arkansas, the Trojans have gone back to a ground game and, in doing so, have won four straight.

"Why do people want us to throw so much?" asked McKay. "Isn't it enough just to want us to win. Pat Haden is a victim of our success. Other coaches aren't stupid.

"They know that Haden can pass and that we have excellent receivers. We run well because of the threat of Haden as a passer. We're not running just to be running or passing just to be passing."

Flyers snap Kings' streak

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD — Like all good things, the Los Angeles Kings knew their unbeaten string had to end some day.

The Kings saw their six-game string end Tuesday when the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers scored a 4-2 victory to disappoint 13,558 customers at The Forum.

Adding to the disappointment for the Kings was their drop to second place in the Division III standings of the revamped National Hockey League. The Detroit Red Wings moved ahead of Los Angeles by blanking the expansion Washington Capitals, 3-0, earlier in the evening.

The Kings, 3-1-3 for the season, have nine points while Detroit has earned 10.

"I was not happy with the way we played," admitted Kings' coach Bob Pulford. "We were a tiny bit flat tonight and that was the story of the game in a nutshell. Being off once every eight games isn't bad. You also have to consider we played the world champions tonight."

Philadelphia, a surprising 5-3 loser to L.A. in the season opener two weeks ago, showed why it won the Stanley Cup last year. By winning, the Flyers stayed tied with the New York Islanders for first place in Division I.

The Flyers seemed determined to get revenge for their previous loss. As a result, there was less fighting and more hockey played then is normal when the two teams get together.

"We had a meeting before the game to discuss taking so many bad penalties against the Kings," Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent said. "(Coach Fred) Shero felt we had to cut so many penalties. We did."

The Flyers were charged with six penalties Tuesday for 12 minutes, far below their average of 21.8 per game this season. Dave Schultz, who set a NHL record last season assessing 348 minutes in penalties escaped any infractions Tuesday.

After a scoreless first period, the Kings took advantage of a Flyer penalty called on Bill Barber to score first when veteran Bob Nevin tallied his fifth goal of the season after taking a pass from Frank St. Marseille at 6:42 of the second period.

It was just the start of things. Three more goals within a six-minute span kept the fans excited.

Orest Kindrachuk quickly tied the score for the flyers. Don Kozak put Los Angeles ahead again on a pass from Whitey Widing but Philly pulled even when Reggie Leach, a newcomer acquired in a trade fro mthe California Seals, made his second goal of the campaign.

The Flyers took the lead for good at 5:08 of the third period when Andre Dupont scored on a 35-foot slapshot after Bob Kelly came out of a goalmouth scramble with the puck and passed out to the unguarded Dupont.

Philadelphia went into a defensive shell the rest of the way with the Kings getting only one good shot, a 15-footer by Tommy Williams on which Parent made a spectacular save.

"We weren't disappointed by the loss," said Kings captain Terry Harper. "After all, Philadelphia is the Stanley Cup champion and a very good team. We expect to get another streak going."

Kings, the last team in the NHL to taste defeat this season, will have an opportunity to get going again Thursday night when the Buffalo Sabres visit The Forum.

Sun goes after eighth in a row against Bell

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — The Sun will be shooting for its eighth straight victory tonight when it hosts the Philadelphia Bell (8 p.m.) at Anaheim Stadium.

The game will feature the league's two leading quarterbacks, Tony Adams of the Sun and "King" Corcoran of the Bell.

Adams now has passed for 3,216 yards with 226 completions in 406 attempts. Corcoran has thrown 453 times, completed 235 for 3,002 yards.

Dave Roller and Sun defense also will have to stop John Land who has rushed for 100 or more yards in each of his last two games. The 5-9, 190-pounder from Delaware State needs only 79 yards to go over the 1,000 mark for the season.

Kermit Johnson is the leading Sun ball carrier with 815 yards in 207 carries. Land has 917 yards in 193 carries for an average of 4.8 yards per carry. Johnson is averaging 3.9.

With the Western Division title safely tucked away, Sun coach Tom Fears has decided to rest wide receiver Ike Harris and give rookie Terry Lindsey some much needed experience.

Sun fans might even see Wayne Estabrook, the former All-SCIAC quarterback at Whittier. Fears will keep Estabrook on the active list and Gary Valbuena inactive to insure complete recovery for Valbuena from a back injury.

The Sun (12-4) picked up fullback Sam Scarber and linebacker Brian Stenger.

Scarber is a 6-3, 230-pound veteran of three years service in the Canadian Football League (Edmonton). Stenger is a 6-4, 235-pound Notre Dame grad who saw previous service in the NFL.

Philadelphia (6-10) picked up quarterback Bubb Wyche and immediately worked out an agreement with the Chicago Fire whereby Wyche will remain with the Fire.

Chicago has gone into a tailspin since the loss of Virgil Carter. Wyche played for the Fire against Charlotte last week.

The Bell also drafted Don Ratliff, a rookie defensive end from the University of Maryland; kicker-punter Eric Guthrie who also played quarterback in the CFL and offensive tackle Mike Wilson, a rookie from Dayton.

Area coaches say TV special was slanted

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

A TV documentary aired last week on the ABC network has raised the hackles of most high school and college football coaches who viewed or heard about the show.

Valley college coaches were no exception Tuesday at their weekly luncheon with writers at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Most agreed that the show, "Danger in Sports: Paying the Price" was slanted, detrimental to one sport and exagerated the number of injuries—especially head injuries—in football each year.

"It was filled with half truths", said Pomona-Pitzer head coach Walt Ambord. "They should have told the whole story—the number of injuries compared to the number of players playing the game across the country."

Roland Ortmayer of La Verne was in agreement. "I can't see the game of football the way they (ABC) see it. There are actually statistics which show it's safer for a high school youngster to play football than it is to walk home from school."

"Jim Owens of Washington came out with the technique a few years ago. It's not a bad concept when you apply it to some guy 6-foot-5 putting his helmet in the numbers to make a tackle. But some 90-pound kid is going to get turned inside out trying the same thing. He would be better off to grab a guy by the toe.

"I see lots of beautiful things about football on TV," Ortmayer added. "I'm not that hard on ABC for its show. I like things like that occasionally.

Andy Vinci of Cal Poly and Jerry Sconce of Azusa Pacific were not so charitable.

"I was very disgusted," said Vinci. "I wrote a comment to the president of ABC that they are doing a fine job of killing a sport (with that kind of show) . . . it was an insult to us as coaches. The press has to do something to kill this sort of thing."

Sconce said, "It's propaganda earmarked to say football is bruital. The example of showing a guy who was crippled from playing was slanted—he was hurt in a sandlot game . . . I think a lot of people fail to realize the brain washing that went on . . . It was the worst one-sided mess I've ever seen."

Other comments came from John Zinda of Claremont-Mudd, Willie Richardson of Chaffey College and John Strycula of Citrus.

"I think football can defend itself very well no matter how many people see the program," said Zinda. "I don't think it (the show) affects college as much as it does high school where sometimes it's a tragedy that a football coach's budget doesn't allow for enough of the proper equipment for every boy.

Strycula added, "I wasn't too surprised at the show. I'm getting to be more cynical every year. They wanted to present a controversial subject. It's pretty simple it will hurt the small people (high schools, junior colleges) not the pros."

The coaches had other things to discuss too. With writers, they voted Larry Cenotto of Pomona-Pitzer and Steve Wood of Azusa Pacific the offensive and defensive four-year college players of the week, while two-year college honors went to Roy Prather of Citrus and Rick Godinez of Chaffey.

Cenotto completed 16 of 29 passes for 301 yards and three TDs in P-P's 40-26 loss to University of San Diego. Wood led Azusa's defensive effort in a 9-7 loss to St. Mary's with one interception, four deflections and 15 tackles.

Prather led Citrus' 14-10 win over Chaffey by rushing for 162 yards and a touchdown on 27 carries. Godinez helped Chaffey keep the Owls at bay for a time with one interception, a 32-yard punt return and six unassisted tackles. It was Godinez' second selection in as many weeks.

Bob Toledo, UC Riverside — "This is the week the championship will be decided in the CCAA. Like everybody else we'll be trying to stop (QB Jim) Zorn of Cal Poly and try to hold (receiver Andy) Sanchez to seven or 10 receptions. This one will probably decide the CCAA championship.

Vinci, Cal Poly — "There is no question about their (UCR) ability (to score on the big play). This will be the difference in the ball game. One team will be more explosive. They have the fastest defense we've seen. If it's anything like the San Luis Obispo game there will be one heckuva crowd at Kellogg Field Saturday."

Ambord, Pomona-Pitzer — "I'm really impressed with our kids (new found) desire to play this game. Everybody blocked, tackled (in loss to U. San Diego). We could have won 40-26 as well as lost. We're looking at the conference as if we were 0-0 right now. La Verne has to be in a leadership role. We have to beat La Verne."

Ortmayer, La Verne — "We would have settled for a tie last wek (after 31-0 loss to Cal Lutheran). They just took us apart. They have a fine small college football team. We'll be as ready as we can get (for Pomona-Pitzer) this week and hope we can move the ball."

Zinda, Claremont-Mudd — "We're ready to play Redlands this week—Billy Nash will be ready to go against them. They really have a tough defense against the rush. It looks like it's going to be a tough conference."

Sconce, Azusa Pacific — "We're looking forward to the bye this week—we can't blow it. I couldn't ask a team for more than they did last week (in 9-7 loss to St. Mary's). It was the third game we were in it all the way. It's hard to keep young people up that way."

Richardson, Chaffey College — "I felt we played a good game—we had ol' John (Strucula, Citrus) breathing hard for a long time (in 14-10 loss). It could just as easily be 17-0 as 10-0 our favor in the third quarter. John's people really came back strong. Look for us to rebound against Southwestern this week. They have to respect us for what we've done in the past couple of weeks."

Strycula, Citrus — "We were happy to win. I thought we played well. Chaffey did some things well—it was a good game on both sides."

WALT ALSTON
. . . top skipper

Alston N.L.'s top manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walt Alston, the oldest manager in point of continuous service in the major leagues, was named UPI's National League Manager of the Year Tuesday for leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to the pennant.

It was the sixth pennant the Brooklyn-Los Angeles club has won since Alston became their manager in 1954.

Alston, 63, who has signed to manage the Dodgers again next season, received 11 votes from writers who covered baseball for UPI in 1974. His closest rival was Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, who received three votes.

Alston led the Dodgers to their 1974 victory after the club blew a huge lead to the Cincinnati Reds, claiming it was merely "a matter of letting my very good young players mature."

Sports news in brief

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday traded outfielder Gene Clines to the New York Mets for catcher Duffy Dyer.

Clines, 28, had been used mostly in a utility role since 1970. Last season he hit .225 in 107 games. His career average is .287.

Dyer, 29, a product of the Mets farm system, shared catching duties the past three seasons with Jerry Grote. He played in 63 games for the Mets last season, hitting .211.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Pitcher Pat Osburn was traded Tuesday by the Cincinnati Reds to the Milwaukee Brewers for infielder John Vukovich in a straight, one-for-one deal.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — University of Iowa football Coach Bob Commings Tuesday was awarded a new three-year contract effective the first of the year.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The man who some thought was "Mr. Cub," Pat Pieper, died Tuesday at American Hospital. He was 88.

Pieper had worked for the Chicago Cubs since 1904 when he began as a peanut vendor, and then became the field announcer in 1916—a job he held until this year, which was his 58th.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Joe Guevara of Sacramento raised his bantamweight boxing record to 11-0 Tuesday night with a knockout over Rafael Lopez of Guadalajara, Mexico.

Guevara, 121, was given a knockout over Lopez, 126, at 2:45 in the sixth round. The referee stopped the bout because of the punishment Lopez was absorbing.

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The 1975 Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships will be held here, Ed Doll, president of the sponsoring Oregon track club said Tuesday.

Bob Lafferty, chairman of the AAU Track and field Committee, confirmed Doll's announcement that the national meet would be held at the University of Oregon's Hayward field June 20-21.

NFL teams shuffle quarterbacks

By United Press International

National Football League quarterbacks were shifted like chess pieces Tuesday as the trading deadline passed and it may have set the stage for a monumental move next season.

Three quarterbacks—all veterans—changed uniforms Tuesday and one trade could set the stage for Joe Namath's move to the West Coast next season.

In the most complex deal, the Dallas Cowboys sent Craig Morton, a 10-year veteran who repeatedly has asked to be traded after being relegated to second-string behind Roger Staubach, to the New York Giants for their No. 1 draft choice.

Morton has signed a World Football League contract with Houston for next season and if he succeeds if breaking it, since the club has moved to Shreveport, La., then the Giants will have to provide Dallas with additional draft choices.

The Giants then sent their quarterback, Norm Snead, to the San Francisco 49ers for draft choices.

But the most intriguing trade saw Los Angeles send John Hadl, the National Conference Player of the Year last season, to the Green Bay Packers for five high draft choices. Hadl lost his starting job to James Harris last week after the Rams lost to Green Bay and Harris responded by throwing three touchdown passes and running for another in a 37-14 rout of the 49ers.

Hadl's departure could open the way for Namath to make his way west. He is playing out his option with the New York Jets this year and has hinted for the past few years that he would like to move to the West Coast where he could be near the movie industry. He plans to go into acting when his career is over.

The big drawback was Hadl, a friend of Namath's and his personal choice as one of the top three quarterbacks in the game. With Hadl gone, Namath could sign with the Rams on May 1, providing the clubs agree on compensation, and have only Harris as competition.

The other trades Tuesday saw John Matuszak, the huge defensive tackle who was the No. 1 draft pick in the NFL last season, going from Houston to Kansas City for defensive tackle Curley Culp and the Chiefs' No. 1 draft choice. The Chiefs then dealt Jim Marsalis, for many years the premier cornerback in the AFC but demoted to reserve status the past two years, to Denver for linebacker Tom Graham and offensive tackle Tom Drougas.

Both Culp and Drougas have signed with the WFL for next season.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he agreed to trade Morton because he had been, "a loyal player. When Craig signed with the World Football League and everything was looking good there, he agreed to play for us and help us however he could. But now that things are teetering somewhat and they are not in so good a financial condition and the Houston team moved, he felt frustrated and felt he had to do something."

Morton refused to practice with the Cowboys Monday and asked that he be traded.

Snead had become the target of the boo-birds this season and was replaced two weeks ago by Jim Del Gaizo, who also failed to generate any offense. The 35-year-old Snead has had knee problems in recent seasons but 49er Coach Dick Nolan hinted that he may start him against Oakland Sunday.

Steve Spurrier, the club's No. 1 quarterback, was injured in pre-season and Dennis Morrison, Joe Reed and Tom Owen have alternated with little success.

Oddly, Snead won the starting job when Randy Johnson, who had signed with the WFL, was dropped at the end of preseason. Now the Giants must sweat out Morton's WFL contract, with only the inexperienced Del Gaizo and rookie Carl Summerell available.

"He's got experience," said Giant Coach Bill Arnsparger. "He's played in big games—Super Bowls and playoffs—and that kind of experience is hard to find. He can help us reach a higher level. Snead was not able to play under the constant pressure here. He's getting old and his knees are hurting him. He would be ideal for San Francisco where he could play a quarter or a half and help their young quarterbacks.

Hadl's trade was the most stunning. He took a mediocre Ram club last season and led it to a 12-2 record. But he began experiencing arm pains during the off-season and had to consult Dr. Robert Kerlan, the noted orthopedic specialist.

He told Hadl his arm was "getting old" and prescribed a series of exercises. Hadl reportedly had not been throwing smoothly in the first five games, often hesitating in picking out receivers. He refused to comment on the trade and there was a possbility he wouldn't make any comment until he reached Green Bay.

Packer Coach Dan Devine, who has been looking for a top quarterback ever since he took over at Green Bay, was elated with Hadl's acquisition but said that Jack Concannon would start Sunday against Detroit since Hadl would not have ample time to absorb his system.

Matuszak walked out of the Oiler camp this summer and announced he had signed with the WFL Texans. He was playing a game against the then New York Stars when he was served with papers on the sideline prohibiting him from playing with anyone but the Oilers. His case has been in the courts ever since and he recently opened up a bail-bond business in Austin, Tex.

"If I win the appeal, it will be a moral victory," Matuszak said. "My contract with the WFL will be put into affect when I'm done with my NFL commitment."

"We are very, very pleased to have Curley Culp," said Oiler Coach Sid Gillman. "We think he is one of the finest defensive tackles in the business and we need help right now. This will give the Oilers two first round picks and a second round pick in the '75 draft and the opportunity to get three more fine young players."

Trojans look forward to easier slate

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

"I never knew how it felt to lose big," said La Verne Lutheran High head coach Steve Miller, "unfortunately, I found out."

Miller experienced the trauma of losing to Notre Dame and Big Bear by scores of 67-0 and 77-0 in consecutive weeks in Arrowhead League football action. Now that he's been through it, Miller has some observations.

"Notre Dame and Big Bear are extremely fine CIF 1-A schools," Miller points out. "I am very glad we are through with them for this year. There's no way I'd play either of them again."

The Lutheran Trojans have had rough sledding in their opening season of Arrowhead competition, but the mere fact that they don't play the likes of Big Bear again is cause for optimism.

The Trojans go against Orange Lutheran Friday at Damien High, and all signs point to a win for Miller's young squad.

Orange, like La Verne, is in its first year of varsity competition. Unlike the Trojans, however, Orange's biggest concern is fielding a team at this point, not winning games. At last count the Lancer team numbered 14 men.

If Miller feels bad about his team's record, how about Orange head coach Robert Dowling? His team has lost all three of its league games by scores of 62-0, 51-6 and 45-0. Orange has yet to play Notre Dame or Big Bear.

"I wish I could be confident going into the game with Orange," Miller remarked, "but when you lose 77-0 the week before you can't say much about easy games.

"I think we will be fired up for Orange," continued the Trojan mentor, "but so will they. After all, it's their big chance to win a game too."

Davis goes after FG mark

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Rick Davis' magic number is now five.

The Damien High placekicker could be on his way to stardom in the CIF, Southern Section high school ranks.

Davis needs just five more field goals in the remaining four games of the regular season to tie the CIF mark of 10 in a season, set by Barstow High's Jim White back in 1968.

He didn't know he was approaching a CIF mark until he booted his fifth field goal against Pomona last weekend, which turned out to be the winning margin for the Spartans in the 10-8 ball game.

"I didn't know what the record was until somebody told me last week," explained the Damien junior. "As for getting the record, it'll all depend on our offense. We've been having problems getting our offense moving lately, and if that continues it'll probably lessen my chances of getting the record."

RICK DAVIS
. . . Damien specialist

Davis, however, displayed some optimism toward the Spartans' ability to move the ball. And if they get the ball deep into their opponents' territory it's almost a sure three points.

"The coaches realize that we can go for the field goal," the Our Lady of Assumption graduate added, "so that's why we're kicking more."

But Davis is concerned about one thing — his accuracy.

"I was more accurate last year, not missing an extra point," he said. "This year I've already missed a couple of extra points, but I've got more power."

What kind of power does Davis have this year?

"In practice I kicked a field goal from the 50-yard line," he stated. "In other words it was a 60-yarder. Of course, I wasn't wearing pads at the time and that makes a big difference.

"As for my accuracy, I don't know why it's not as good this year," he continued. "Coach (Al) Mistri tells me that the more power I put into the kick the more inaccurate it gets. So now I'm trying to put them both together."

What is really ironic is that Davis didn't go to Damien to play football. He wanted to play soccer.

"Soccer is my main sport," stated the Claremont resident. "One day last year the football coaches ask d coach Mistri (soccer coach and assisant football coach) to find them a kicker. So he got Bart Sullivan (a soccer teammate) and I to practice kicking extra points. I was holding for Bart while he practiced and then the coach asked me to kick a few. And that was that."

What is also very interesting is that one of Davis' friends taught him how to kick soccer-style. And now the two are competing in the same league (the San Antonio League). In fact, they're both the top two kicking specialists in the league.

Claremont High's Jim VanZee did the teaching when Davis played in the Claremont Youth Soccer League in Claremont six years ago. While Davis is setting his pace, VanZee is right behind him with four field goals and 12 conversion kicks. Davis has five PAT boots.

In fact, VanZee is the valley's ninth leading scorer this year and he hasn't scored a touchdown.

QUOTING THE COACHES:

Esper Keiser, Claremont — "We've got to be more consistent. I don't know what to expect from Chino. They've had two different kinds of attacks the last two weeks."

Jim Rawls, Chino — "If I believe in something, I stick

The Hacienda League

Mustangs again an aerial threat

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

Friday night the valley's foremost passer will be on display when the Mustangs (2-3 overall, 2-1 league) host Ontario (1-4, 0-3) at Nogales High. In Friday's other Hacienda League action Alta Loma (2-3, 1-2) entertains San Dimas (1-3-1), 1-1-1) at Chaffey College, and Bonita (5-0, 3-0) plays host to Gladstone (2-3, 1-2).

Saturday's game of the week will feature Royal Oak (3-1-1, 2-0-1) and Sierra Vista (2-3, 1-2) at Charter Oak High. All games start at 8 p.m.

Scott Stowell, who leads the valley in touchdown passes with six, will call signals for coach Ken Gunn's Mustangs Friday as the campaign nears midseason.

The 6-3, 185-pounder has completed 66 of 154 attempts for 868 yards and has thrown nine interceptions, but seven of those came in the first two games of the year.

Ron Himes put the Mustangs at the head of the class from 1970 to 72. His latter two season he led his team to league titles and in '71 was the valley's co-Player of the Year with Damien's Joe Baumgartner. In '72 Himes held the honor alone. The blond bomber completed 430 of 805 passes for 5,889 yards and 48 TD's. Himes is a redshirt at Stanford this year.

Himes's footsteps were followed by Lance Parrish, who signed a pro baseball contract with the Detroit Tigers and is currently playing winter ball.

"I haven't seen a better passer this year," said Gunn. "I haven't seen all of the teams in the valley but I've seen most of them and Scott is the best pure passer I've seen."

Despite Walnut having three of the best quarterbacks to come out of the valley, Gunn points out that Stowell, Himes and Parrish are three different type of QB's.

"Ron (Himes) was a better athlete and he could scramble. Lance was a super athlete—probably the best we've had — but his main threat was as a runner. He wasn't a pure passer but did everything on natural ability."

SCOTT STOWELL
. . . Walnut QB

Stowell's abilities have transpired because of his hard work and despite his lack of experience.

"Scott has worked hard. He's spent a lot of time working at what he does," said Gunn. "He's gone to quarterback camps and he threw the ball all summer to keep in shape. We played in two passing leagues in the summer (MSAC and La Habra) and he didn't lose a game."

Stowell has improved tremendously since Walnut's two preleague losses to Rowland, 21-2, and Nogales, 24-7, when he threw seven interceptions. In leading his team to league wins over Alta Loma, 17-14, and Gladstone, 26-0, he threw only one interception and fired three TD tosses in the win over the Glads.

The big righthander had a rough night in Walnut's loss to Royal Oak, Stowell completed just nine passes in 29 attempts and had one interception.

"He's gaining some poise now," said a pleased Gunn. "And he's starting to read the defenses better. It's too bad he didn't get much experience in his sophomore and junior years ('72 and '73). He'll never have the stats he could have had. He had to sit the bench with us while under normal circumstances he could be starting elsewhere."

"Scott's assets are that he is a pure passer and that he is tall enough to see things more clearly," continued Gunn. "But what I like most about him is that he has the knack to know when to take speed off his passes and when to throw hard."

Gunn feels Stowell's future potential will be greatly determined by how the Mustangs do over the remainder of the season.

"He's definitely a college prospect but his future will depend on whether or not people will take a chance with him. Scott's an unknown. He hasn't had the recognition of Rowland's (Flavio) Garcia but if somebody will take a chance on him he'll make somebody a fine quarterback."

Bonds for Murcer

Yanks, Giants give reasons for swap

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first trade of $100,000 players on a straight-up basis became history Tuesday when San Francisco Giants' right fielder Bobby Bonds was traded to the New York Yankees for right fielder Bobby Murcer.

The Giants and Yankees each had their reasons for swapping the two 28-year-old outfielders.

"Why not Bobby Bonds?" said Yankee mentor Bill Virdon from his Springfield, Mo. home. "Physically he's a complete player. He's got a good arm and he can do it all. Along with everyhing else, he's a good defensive player.

Virdon listed three reasons for the trade:

"One, Bonds will steal more bases (than Murcer), two, he'll hit more homers and three, he's a righthanded hitter. We need to change our club around from lefthanded to righthanded hitters."

"I'm very happy to be going to the Yankees," said Bonds. "But I thought they wanted pitching. I would have preferred to stay in California with the Angels or someone but I'm happy to be going to the Yankees."

Virdon's counterpart, Giants Manager Wes Westrum, made San Francisco's case for acquiring Murcer.

"I scouted Murcer for two years," said Westrum. "He's a good, solid player—in fact, he hits lefthanders real well. We needed a little more lefthanded hitting. Believe me, I hated to let Bobby go; he's got a lot of talent. But we needed power from the left side—we're too righthanded.

Westrum said Murcer would continue to play in right field. "He's got a good arm, a good right field arm," Westrum said. "I'll have another right fielder —Gary Thomasson—and Garry Maddox in center.

Murcer said the news of the trade came as a "complete shock."

"I went through all that rebulding period with them and now they are a contender," Murcer said.

Murcer said his astonishment was all the greater because he had been assured by both Yankee owner George M. Steinbrenner and President Gabe Paul that his future was certain.

"He (Steinbrenner) said as long as he was part of the Yankees I would be, too," Murcer said, following with Paul's quote that Murcer was tradeable "for Fenway Park and Henry Aaron."

But Murcer proclaimed himself ready to go to San Francisco, saying, "if the Yankees don't want me I certainly don't want to play for them. I want to play for somebody that wants me."

The deal, made on the first day of the inter-league trading period, is believed to be the largest of its magnitude on a one-for-one basis between teams of different leagues.

In 1960, Harvey Kuenn was traded by Detroit to Cleveland for Rocky Colavito, perhaps comparable in magnitude to the Bonds-for-Murcer swap. In 1969, the St. Louis Cardinals traded Joe Torre straight up for Orlando Cepeda in another one-for-one deal involving super stars.

Bonds is one of two men—along with Willie Mays—to steal 30 bases and hit 30 homers in two different seasons. Bonds accomplished this feat in 1969 and 1973, just missing a 40-40 season in the latter year when he hit 39 homers while stealing 43 bases and batting in 96 runs. He has a .273 career average.

Murcer, signed in 1964 by Tom Greenwade, who also signed Mickey Mantle, became a Yankee regular in 1969 at third base, but soon after shifted to center field and was hailed as a worthy successor of Yankee center fielders Mantle and Joe DiMaggio.

This past season, with the blossoming of Elliot Maddox, Murcer a four-time All-Star, shifted to right field. Murcer slugged 140 career homers with New York and twice batted over .300. In 1973 he hit .304 in 1973, powered 22 homers and batted in 95 runs.

But he tailed off to a .274 average and hit only 10 homers this year.

Hewitt loses ball as Bucks beat Bulls

By United Press International

Jon McGlocklin jokingly asked somebody to go get Bill Hewitt and let him dress in the Milwaukee Bucks dressing room.

Because Hewitt was personally victimized twice in 20 seconds and helped give the Bucks a 92-90 win over the Bulls Tuesday night. It was the first win for the Bucks in three games and the first loss for the Bulls, who have also played three.

The game was not decided until Lucius Allen made two free throws with two second left. But Hewitt had the opportunity to give the Bulls the game and he blew it.

Hewitt played at Mt. San Antonio College for two years in the mid-1960s before transferring to USC where he completed his collegiate career.

Chicago led 90-86 when Bob Dandridge made a layup with 30 seconds left. Hewitt broke downcourt and was underneath the Chicago basket with nobody within 20 feet of him when Nate Thurmond lofted a perfect pass that hit Hewitt right in the hands.

But he bobbled the ball out of bounds, tried to save it but threw it back into the arms of Dandridge, and the Bucks called time out.

happened," Hewitt said. I "I felt empty when that happened," Hewitt said. "I had a chance to lock up the game but I tock my eyes off the ball. I was in too much of a hurry to get it up and I just lost it. I felt terrible."

After the time out, Dandridge took advantage of Hewitt's preoccupation with his blunder by working him into the basket and spinning for a 12-foot jump shot that tied the game 90-90 with eight seconds left.

The Bulls called time out and set up a play but Matt Goukas threw a bad pass which Allen intercepted. He dribbled the length of the floor and was fouled by Rick Adelman.

Allen made the two free throws giving the Bucks, who have been struggling without Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, their first win of the season.

After the game Coach Larry Costello admitted it was a "good feeling to finally win one."

"Nobody came around to shake my hand last Saturday," Costello said referring to the Bulls' 87-70 decimation of the Bucks in Chicago over the weekend. "I like this a lot better. Our defense was tough tonight and Kevin Restani did a great job. But we still have to do some work on our offense."

Dandridge, who scored 28 points, played the fourth quarter with five fouls and Costello admitted he didn't have a choice.

"We needed Bobby in there and I said to hell with it. If he fouls out he fouls out. But we had to have him."

In other NBA action New York beat Houston 110-100, Washington edged Kansas City-Omaha 123-121, Atlanta whipped Philadelphia 125-92, Buffalo downed New Orleans 134-118 and Portland niped Golden State 107-106.

Knicks 110, Rockets 100

Walt Frazier returned to action after missing the first two games of the season with the flu and brought order back to New York's offense as the Knicks combined balanced scoring and steady defense to beat Houston. Bill Bradley had 22 points and Earl Monroe, starting the season healthy for the first time in three years, scored 21. Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 21.

Hawks 125, 76ers 92

Rookie forward John Drew scored 41 points to help the Hawks romp over the 76ers. Atlanta shot out to a 16-2 lead in the first four minutes and blitzed the 76ers with 45 first quarter points to take a 25-point lead.

Buffalo 134, New Orleans 118

Bob McAdoo's 33 points helped Buffalo crush the winless Jazz as Pete Maravich scored only 11 points for New Orleans.

Bullets 123, Kings 121

Wes Unseld scored on a layup with 30 seconds left to lead Washington over Kansas City-Omaha. Elvin Hayes got 35 points and Phil Chenier added 20 for the Bullets. Jimmy Walker paced the Kings with 28, Nate Archibald hit 24 and Larry McNeill got 24.

Blazers 107, Warriors 106

Sidney Wicks tipped in a missed shot with 15 seconds left to lift Portland over Golden State. The Blazers were leading 105-102 when baskets by Rick Barry and Clifford Ray gave Golden State a 106-105 edge with 33 seconds remaining. Geoff Petrie, who topped the Blazers with 27 points, then missed a jump shot and Wicks tipped it in for the winning points.

USAC, NASCAR champs ready for IROC battle

RIVERSIDE — It's merely a bonus to promoters, but the 12 drivers competing in the International Race of Champions have added three major championships to their ledger since the series opened last month in Michigan.

Bobby Unser, winner of the Michigan IROC event, has since wrapped up the U.S. Auto Club driving championship, his first since 1968 when he also won the Indianapolis 500.

Richard Petty last Sunday assured himself of his fifth career NASCAR Grand National stock car racing championship and Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi recently won his second World Championship.

The three drivers represent different forms of major racing in the $200,000 Race of Champions which moves this weekend to the road course at Riverside International Raceway. All 12 drivers will be competing in identical Chevrolet Camaro racers.

The second leg of the four-race series will run Saturday and the third leg Sunday. The top nine drivers after the third race at Riverside advance to the championship round next February in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Unser, 40, of Albuquerque, is joined by Five-time USAC champion A.J. Foyt and the 1974 Indy 500 winner Johnny Rutherford. Petty has three stock car colleagues competing: David Pearson, Cale Yarborough and Bobby Allison.

Fittipaldi is one of four Formula One drivers. The others include two-time World Champion Graham Hill of England, Sweden's Ronnie Peterson and South African Jody Scheckter.

The 12 men will draw for cars an hour before the 1:30 p.m. start Saturday and will line up in inverted order of their finish at Michigan. That puts road racers Scheckter and Hill on the front row with Petty and Foyt right behind them.

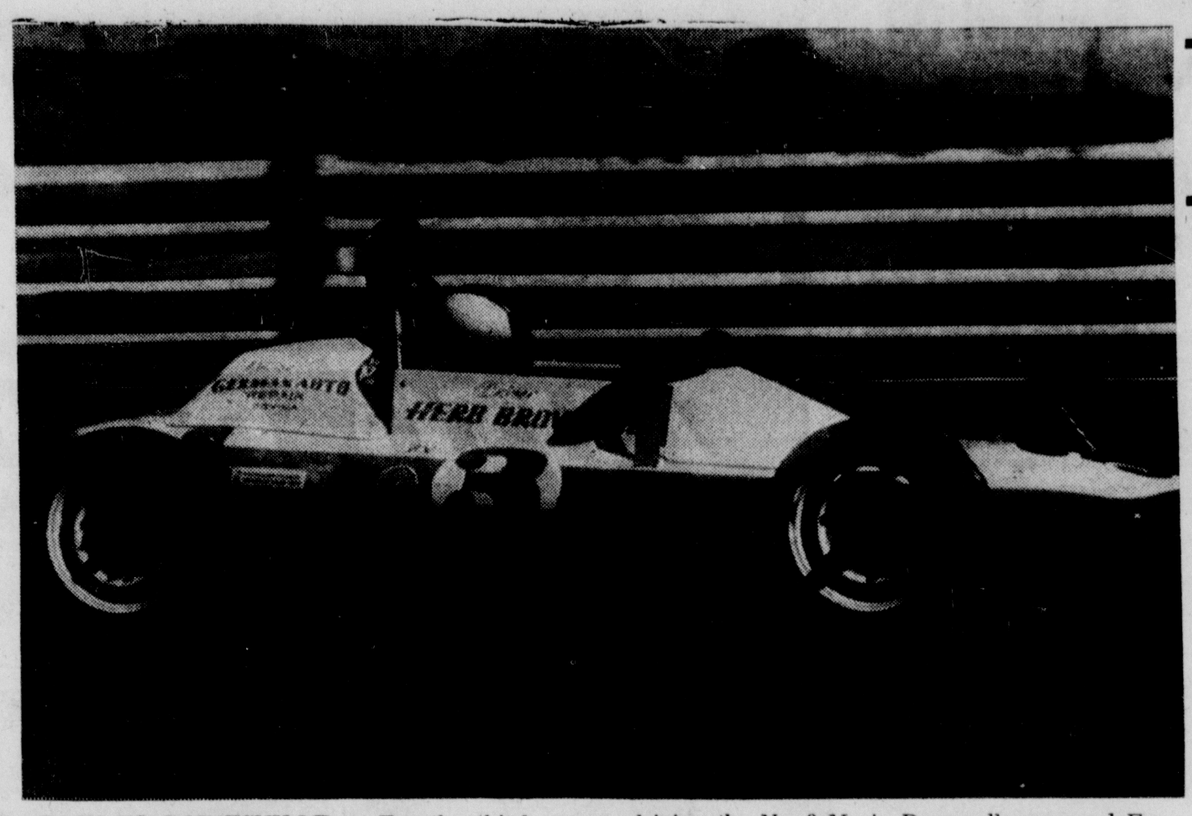
The drivers will draw for cars again Sunday and line up in inverted order of Saturday's finish. Sunday's race starts at 2:15 p.m.

The two IROC events are co-featured with the Formula 5000 Championship as the Riverside Grand Prix. The Formula 5000 is the seventh and final race of the season and the championship will be determined between England's Brian Redman and America's Mario Andretti.



BACK TO GAINESVILLE — For the third consecutive year, Cucamonga's Herb Brownell will be competing in the Formula Vee national championships next week in Gainesville, Ga. Brownell, driving the No. 3 Mario Panzarella-prepared Formula Vee, is being sponsored by Panzarella's German Auto Repair Shop in Covina. The nationals are scheduled to begin on Oct. 30.

Spencer wins in Berdoo

SAN BERNARDINO — Bill Spencer won the 100 lap sportsman stock car racing Grand Prix at Orange Show Speedway in San Bernardino last weekend. Driving his pomona Truck Electric Chevelle Spencer set fast time of the evening in time trials with a 15:17 clocking on the quarter-mile and started the main event in the pole position.

Spencer bounded into the lead on the first lap as he beat Ivan Baldwin to the green flag and led wire-to-wire for victory and his fourth main event win of the year on the tight quarter-mile oval.

AUTO RACING

Southland racing

SAN BERNARDINO — The NASCAR sportsman and hobby stock cars will roll into their 1974 season ending Grand Prix at the Orange Show Speedway in San Bernardino this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

Spectacular racing competition is on the program with trophy dashes, semi and main events for the hobby and sportsman stock car divisions. The hobby main event will go 50 laps on the quarter-mile oval with the sportsman feature to run 100 laps.

The stars of NASCAR will be racing for a prize melon of over $3000 in the elongated events that will close out the 1974 season and decide the championship.

IRWINDALE — The fabulous Tripp Brothers with their Volkswagen-powered midgets may have to try a little harder in their efforts to record another main event win at Speedway 605 in Irwindale Saturday night.

Speedway 605 will host the United States Racing Club sanctioned midget racing Winter Nationals this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. on the half-mile speedway. A trophy dash, heat races and a 50 lap main event are scheduled.

The Tripp Brothers have dominated the winner's circle this year in midget auto racing competition and have won both main events at Speedway 605 this season.

VALENCIA — Running as part of a triple-header racing program, members of the San Fernando Valley Kart Club will bring their modified go-carts back to the starting line Friday night for their second appearance of the current season on the fast one-sixth mile clay oval at Indian Dunes Park.

Following a highly successful opener two weeks ago at the complex, a turnout of more than 50 drivers is expected to be ready for action when the first heat event gets the green light at 8 p.m. They will be assigned to racing divisions on the basis of experience and machinery horse-power.

GARDENA — Rick Hocking of Fremont, sitting on top of the American Motorcycle Association World, tries for one more big victory in the Golden Station championship on Ascot's half-mile oval this Friday night.

The 21-year-old Hocking, a former Brahma bull rider, comes back to the scene of two of his three best performances as a 1974 rookie expert. He won the Gardena Gold Cup in July against a star field and then the 20-lap national half-mile, Oct. 12.

CORONA — The final point race of the 1974 season will be held this Saturday, as the figure eight and oval stock cars will be battling along with the wild street stocks on the quarter-mile dirt oval beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In the figure eight point standings, Riverside's Fred Arnold has been holding down the number one spot for most of the season, as he has finished in the third position for the past two years, and this season Arnold has finally reached the top.

IRWINDALE — The top riders of the Speedway Racing Association battle Thursday night in the Irwindale Raceway Championships Season Finale as Irwindale Raceway rings down the curtain on another season of Speedway motorcycle racing.

The top 16 riders of 1974 will compete in a full 20-event First Division championship program Thursday night, coupled with a seven-event Second Division handicap championship.

Rowland QB tied for lead

Rowland High quarterback Flavio Garcia has caught Chino High running back Rick Riedel for the lead in the valley prep scoring derby.

Garcia, who scored a touchdown last weekend in Rowland's 20-10 win over Charter Oak, now has six touchdowns and 36 points for the year — the same as Riedel.

with it. That's why I won't make any changes in our attack this week. I think we're the most unfortunate team in the league. We've only been outplayed once, and that was last week. You can count on the league to be more interesting. We're going for four straight wins.

Bob Holycross, Upland — "We've been able to break the long run lately. But it's going to be tough to do against Garey. Garey has a lot of speed. Our line has improved over the past couple of weeks.

Lawson Bush, Garey — "Upland has a strong running game and we expect them to come right at us. We'll be ready though. We've just got to stop fumbling the ball."

Jack Simpson, Montclair — "We talk about winning games and not about records, so we're not too depressed about losing our first three league games. Damein has one of the best blocking backs in the league (Mark Lopez) and they run the blast extremely well with Ruben Lopez. I like the agility of their quarterback (Joe Carroll) too."

Garry Norvell, Ganesha — "Our defense is improving each week. Pomona is unpredictable so we're preparing for anything. They have a tough, aggressive defense."

Mike Clifton, Pomona — "Ganesha's defensive front four is huge. I don't expect a high-scoring game. But if it is, it'll probably be them doing the scoring. We just haven't been doing much scoring this year."

Ron Smedley, Damien — "Montclair throws the ball real well. They're a lot better than their record shows. We'll probably throw about 50 per cent of the time and run 50 per cent of the time."

Lutheran having problems

ture, Miller feels that the inbalance this season is caused by two factors. "Big Bear and Notre Dame are super teams while Orange and my squad have no seniors and very little depth. The competition factor is missing on teams where the squad is only 15 or 20 guys. They KNOW they will be playing no matter how well or poorly they perform."

Miller is definitely not dispairing of the future grid fortunes at La Verne. "I feel that in a couple years we will be ready for any team in our league. As our school grows the football program will also grow."

Miller also reported that standout fullback and linebacker Ted Trahms will be back in action Friday night after missing the Big Bear debacle with a head injury. With Trahms, halfback Don Liles and quarterback Steve Yager, the Trojans do have scoring punch. Just how much punch should be answered Friday.

In the other Arrowhead League contest of local interest, Webb School meets toughie Notre Dame Friday afternoon at Webb.

The Gauls are trying to rebound from their 44-0 setback at Aquinas last week, but they will have to play 100 per cent better to best the Riverside school.

The Montview League picture sees Rowland seeking to protect its share of the loop lead at Baldwin Park. The Raiders aren't looking past anyone at this point and expect a rugged game against the Braves.

Rowland will also be hoping that Charter Oak lends a helping hand. The Lancers entertain co-leader Workman in what figures to be a bruising defensive struggle.

Bakersfield

Protests minorities report

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — The city of Bakersfield issued a stinging indictment against the California Fair Employment Practices Commission today, charging it with issuing a "misleading and incorrect report" against the city.

The city rejected the commission's contention that Bakersfield was not hiring enough minority employes in its police and fire departments and charged the commission with failing to conduct a fair and impartial investigation.

The commission made its investigation last summer and issued its report July 11, saying the city of Bakersfield should establish a written affirmative action program to solve its problems.

In the letter to the commission, city officials said they conducted their own investigation over the past three months and that it indicated results opposite of the commission findings.

The reply said the city probe showed a generally higher percentage of minorities in the city police department than in other employment areas in the greater Bakersfield area. And it said minority officers advanced faster than non minority officers in the police department.

The city also pointed to its program to recruit and train minority members as city firemen.

The city officials rejected the commission's findings and the recommendation for a written affirmative action program.

"There is no need for such a written program," the reply said, "as long as the city of Bakersfield continues its current policies and programs concerning minority employment."

Public workers

No right to strike, Reagan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Public employes do not have the right to strike because a "strike against government is a strike against the people," Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday.

Reagan, at a news conference prior to a speech to the League of California Cities, said, "The time is now for every level of government to make it clear that public employes do not have the right to strike."

Reagan said he favors organized labor and collective bargaining for private employes not for public employes.

He said the breakdown of negotiations in the private sector is an economic test of who would survive —the worker on the picket line or the company that may have to shut down and possibly lose customers to competitors.

"Government cannot shut down the assembly line," he said. "Government pledges to provide certain services and protection to people.

"There is no way government can say to the people, 'We'll let your house burn down,' or 'Sorry about your robbery last night, we're having a labor dispute.'"

He emphasized that, "All of our power as elected representatives comes from the people, and a strike against the government is a strike against the people."

Binding or compulsory aribtration isn't the answer, he said, because, "I, an elected official, cannot designate someone and give him authority to make an agreement that might possibly impose a tax increase on the people."

Concert city

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — This city plans to provide more than 140 musical performances during the summer of 1975, beginnirg June 26 with the Arcade Concerts at City Hall.

State destroys records of straightened-out offenders

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — More than 240,000 criminal records were toted to a recycling plant today as the state began a program to destroy old files.

Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said the purge program "is to protect the privacy and reputation of persons who are no longer even remotely involved in criminal activity."

Standing on the loading dock of the Department of Justice warehouse, Younger said, "We're after the serious criminal, the professional criminal. He said the records were "ancient history that's not very significant."

Younger said the state has about 5.2 million criminal records on file and that about 2.1 million would be destroyed.

"Improper use of the records by unscrupulous and unauthorized persons" will be prevented by the program, he added.

Under a program announced in March, the state set up a new record retention program, including these features:

—Records of drunk in public arrests, violations of local ordinances, and minor traffic offenses will not be kept.

—Files of misdemeanor arrests not resulting in conviction and arrests defined as "detention only" will be kept five years.

—Records of misdemeanor convictions will be kept seven years. Arrests for offenses for which a prior conviction would be a felony, possible felonies and felonies will be kept seven years.

Younger said local law enforcement agencies would be expected to destroy their corresponding record. He said the first part of the program would be completed in late 1976.

Attorney General race

Norris hammering; Younger dawdling

By GEORGE FRANK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican Attorney General Evelle J. Younger is the only incumbent on the Nov. 5 California general election ballot seeking re-election. He has hardly campaigned.

In a race that seems to typify the voters' interest in things other than politics, Younger is challenged by Democrat William A. Norris, an attorney and former chairman of the Los Angeles Police Commission.

The pre-election public opinion polls give Younger, who has strong support from labor, a commanding lead over Norris in the rach which Norris, 47, a soff-spoken political ally of Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, characterizes himself as "just like the kid on the block taking on the entrenched incumbent."

He has sought to link Younger, a former FBI agent, superior court judge and Los Angeles district attorney, with the GeoTek oil drilling controversy, accused him of being a "do-nothing" prosecutor and "holing up in his office during the campaign."

Younger, who helped lead the drive for restoring the death penalty in California, in turn, accuses Norris of making "irresponsible attacks on me" and of "taking the low road and trying to buy the election."

Both candidates disclosed receiving more than $200,000 in general election campaign contributions —$247,533 for Younger and $206,622 for Norris.

Younger, seeking his second four-year term in a post-Watergate year when many politicians foresee a Democratic landslide, has done virtually no full-blown campaigning, except for visits with editors and broadcasters, appearances at Republican gatherings and an occasional speech to factory workers.

Norris, meantime, has hammered away at what he says is Younger's failure to seek a California indictment of former President Richard M. Nixon and charged the attorney general was wrong when he ruled that Ed Reinecke could remain in office as lieutenant governor after he was convicted of perjury.

During the final weeks before election day, Norris chopped away at Younger on the GeoTek case in which allegedly fraudulent stock was sold to investors. Younger was an investor and received a $16,500 "risk free" loan from jack burke, former president of the company who was indicted.

Younger replies that he was part of no wrongdoing and had disclosed everything to federal authorities. He insists the "loan is due and payable with interest in 1978."

Younger says he is "proud" of his record in the fields of environmental and consumer protection and asserts the campaign must be based on such issues as those and the crime rate.

Last week, he added inflation as his "No. 1 priority" for attack and said he will re-examine state fair trade laws and those regulating milk and liquor prices.

Put one end in the full glass on a table and the other end in the empty glass at a lower level. Release both ends of the tube. The water seems to defy gravity as it flows uphill out of the high glass on its way to the low one.

How does it work?

The siphon depends on atmospheric pressure and gravity. As the heavier column of water in the longer arm of the bent tube falls down it causes a suction that pulls on the lighter column of water in the shorter arm.

The water in the short arm then sucks up water from the glass.

The pressure of the air pushing down upon the water in the higher glass helps the process. The water continues to flow till the high glass is empty or till the water levels are equal.

A radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Denver on TV

Singer John Denver will have a one-hour musical variety special on ABC-TV Dec.1

The performance is part of a multi-program development deal that now includes another musical special and a feature television film.

Rod Johnson of Claremont won first place in banjo picking, intermediate division, at the third annual Old Time Fiddle & Banjo Contest at UC Santa Barbara Sunday.

Johnson's rendition of "The Bells of St. Mary" took first over 110 contestants.

Johnson is road manager for the Occurrence at Owl Creek, Claremont bluegrass quartet. He is a student of Dave Brock. Brock and Jim Cope, both members of the group, backed Johnson in the contest.

Occurrence at Owl Creek will perform at the Penny University in San Bernardino Friday and Saturday and the following weekend, and at Antelope Valley next month.

CONFERENCE — Cindy Smith and John Trueblood star in Ibsen's "Ghosts," being presented by the La Verne College Theater Arts Department in the new Dailey Theater at 8 p.m. Saturday and Nov. 1 and 16. Reservations can be made by calling the theater, 593-7247.

Laguna artist demonstrates portrait work

Watson Cross Jr., Laguna Beach artist, will give a demonstration of protrait painting at a meeting of the Chino Art Association at the Chino Community Building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Cross graduated from the Chouinard Art Institute and taught there for 28 years. A member and past president of the California National Watercolor Society, he is represented in "Who's Who in American Art." His work has been exhibited at the Los Angeles County, Santa Barbara and San Francisco art museums, the American Watercolor Society, the National Academy Galleries and Riverside Museum in New York City, Pasadena Art Institute and other places.

He was commissioned by the U.S. Air Force to make paintings of various installations in Alaska in 1963 and participated in Princeton University's creativity testing program in 1965. A man of wide interests, he made an extensive study of pop music and its analogy to the graphic arts of youth.

Cross is currently teaching at the Laguna Beach School of Art.

Berry Farm plans Halloween shows

Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park will celebrate Halloween with the second annual Halloween Haunt Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Eerie lighting, sounds and figures add to the drama of Knott's Ghost Town during Halloween Haunt. A witch will greet guests to begin the six-hours of activity.

Major attractions include the Devil's Log Ride and the Calico Phantom's Mine Ride, along with a horror show at the John Wayne Theater which features Seymour and Moona Lisa.

The log ride and mine ride, two of Knott's most popular attractions, will take on a new appearance during the haunt, as they each will be filled with crashing barrels, special displays and scenes, along with many pop-out monsters. Knott's Haunted Shack will also have a new look and sound during the three-day Halloween program.

Seymour, who first gained television fame from his three-year hosting of horror films on Channel 9, is now seen on Channel 5. Moona Lisa has also gained fame from her Channel 9 television show.

Additional Halloween Haunt attractions include Hello People, Tommy Tombstone and the Grave Diggers, Spooktacular Fireworks, Vampire Dance School, Gruesome Twosome, Dr. Frankenstein's Operating Room, Dracula's Hands, Spider Woman Show, Headless Lady Show and Monster Massacre.

Halloween Haunt tickets, the only tickets accepted for admission, are available at Knott's ticket booths, Wallich's Music stores and Liberty ticket offices. An advance ticket sale price of $4.50 ends Thursday at 9 p.m. after which time the tickets will be available only at the regular price of $5.25. Ticket books for Halloween Haunt include unlimited use of all Knott's rides and attractions.

New process

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A new "hydrostatic extrusion process" that may permit shaping very hard, brittle materials is the subject of a three year, $250,000 research program by Stanford University.

The new process squeezes the material being shaped with fluid pressure on all sides so that a heavy copper rod, for example, can be drawn down to a thin wire in just one step rather than the multiple steps of the conventional process.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
File No. 12232
Loan No. 280-4183-8080010

On Monday, November 4, 1974, at 11:00 A.M., REALTY INCORPORATED as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded May 24, 1973, as instr. No. 1001, in book T8239, page 200, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell at public auction to highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the public sidewalk in front of the entrance to the building at 3223 West Sixth Street, Los Angeles, California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 1, Tract 18151, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 476, Pages 26 and 27 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1871 Glenpark, Pomona, California.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $16,694.11, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.
